THE AFGHANISTAN BOUNDARY.

It has been some years felt by the Governments of Russia and the United Kingdom respectively that it would be conducive to the tranquillity of Central Asia if the two Governments should arrive at an identity of views regarding the line which dearnst the date of the Geneva Board? These were the most important questions. They involved the highest interests, and the honor of England. He did not question the Crown's prerogative to negotiate treaties, but he objected to a treaty which compelled the alteration of our municipal law. Mr. Disraeli next turned his attention to the paragraph in the Queen's speech concerning the negotiations with Russia for the preservation of peace in Central Asia. He hoped the papers on this subject, which the Government had promised to lay before the House, would be full and satisfactory. Should Russia attempt to seize Constantinople and conquer India, she would and must be resisted. He hoped that diplomacy would settle the question, but war
