TUESDAY EVENING, AUG. 5, 1873.

Lord Gordon's Kidnappers.

Much sympathy is felt in the States for the Minnesota parties who have been committed to jail to await trial for the attempt to kidnap Gordon in Minnesota. Since the ravings of the Governor of Minnesota and Consul Taylor were quietly smothered down by the Manitoba authorities the question has been persistently urged at Washington. The Washington authorities do not appear to have taken a lively interest in the matter, or have failed to see the way clear for interference, the report sometimes telegraphed to us that they had made a formal demand for the surrender of the prisoners, being incorrect. If the prisoners were captured on United States soil, we should suppose that they could not be held, and that the Washington authorities would lose no time in demanding their release. The Ontario authorities have been washing special to the Boston Post shows how the case now stands at the deserted capital:

Senator Ramsey and Gov. Austin had a consultation with Acting Secretary of State Bancroft yesterday. The latter will have another interview for the purpose of endeavoring to induce the Ontario Department to consent to friendly interference in behalf of the release of the citizens of Minnesota. It is believed, however, that the Ontario authorities are not inclined to attempt to kidnap Lord Gordon. There seems to be no doubt of the guilt of the prisoners, and in fact the Senator and Governor appear to have little hope of success in the effort now being made. About the only show of succeeding in the endeavor to have the Canadian authorities interfere against the release of the prisoners, is the fact that the Ontario authorities are not inclined to attempt to kidnap Lord Gordon. There seems to be no doubt of the guilt of the prisoners, and in fact the Senator and Governor appear to have little hope of success in the effort now being made. S. Locke, the defendant, on behalf of the Bank, made a claim against the plaintiff of some $4000 or $5000, of which the defendant knew nothing. Berriman it appears was also a partner of Robinson, the gentleman who ran Charlotte Co. against Brown, and was defeated. The evidence is that Berriman drew money from the Bank, expecting that Robinson would win and things would be all right. The contrary was the case and the Bank accounts was transferred to the firm of Berriman & Curry. Upon the Bank through Locke demanding the firm should go into bankruptcy, Curry, who seemed to be doing all the business of the firm, successfully resisted the demand, but in consequence was eventually obliged to do so, which caused the damages for which he brings his suit. Today, before dinner, Mr. Duff closed the case for the plaintiff, and Mr. Thomson argued for a nonsuit. After dinner his Honor, in consequence of the death of H. Wedon, Esq., half brother of one of the Counsel for the defendant and partner of Mr. McLeod, attorney for the plaintiff, adjourned the court until Monday the 29th of September. What the defence stands for is not known, as it has not yet been opened.
