The points in order westward from Macquereau point, and between it and the river, are Red point, Pillar point, and White point, which will all be easily recognized; the first and last by their colour, and the other by a remarkable rock close off its extremity. The ground is not good outside the line joining Pillar and West points. The best anchorage in Port Daniel is in 6 or 7 fathoms, mud or clay bottom, in the line between White and West points, with the entrance of the river N. ½ W., and Red point and Macquereau point in one bearing E. ¾ S. The shelter will then be from East, round north and west, to S.S.W., and in winds from between these points this bay affords safe and convenient anchorage. Strong south-east winds roll in a heavy swell, but there is no difficulty in getting out on their approach, for the points are all bold, and in standing out or in vessels may safely pass West point at the distance of 2 cables.

NOUVELLE RIVER, 9 miles westward of Port Daniel, has only 2 feet over its bar at low water, and will be known by the fish stores and stages on the sandy beach on the east side of its entrance. The western side is formed by Nouvelle point, which is a high cliff of red sandstone.

PASPEBIAC BAY.—Paspebiac, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles westward of the Nouvelle river, and $21\frac{3}{4}$ miles W. by S. from Macquereau point, has an excellent roadstead, and is the principal fishing establishment in Chaleur bay. A triangular point of sand and shingle beach, inclosing a lagoon, extends out from the mainland to the distance of a mile, and has on its west side the extensive white buildings of the establishment of Messrs. Robin and Co., of Jersey, together with numerous huts belonging to the fishermen. On the west side of the sandy point, and close to the cliffs, the lagoon has an outlet, which has a rough bridge across it, and will admit boats at high water. In rear of this, the mainland rises gently from the edge of dark red sandstone cliffs, displaying fields of the richest green, and buildings, which, although straggling along the coast, are yet so numerous as to deserve the name of a town. There are two churches; both are small, and of wood.

Carlisle, or Nev Carlisle, the county town, is $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the westward of Paspebiac, and its jail and court-house, standing on the ridge in rear of Carlisle point, are seen from the anchorage. Carlisle point, which is wooded, and consists of sand, bears W. by N., $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the sandy point of Paspebiac, and the roadstead is between them, but much nearer the latter. In this excellent and convenient anchorage vessels are sheltered from West, round north and east, to S.E.; and although it is completely open to the south-west winds, which send in a very considerable swell, yet the ground is so good that the Jersey vessels ride here moored all through the season without accident. The best anchorage is in 6 fathoms, clay bottom, with Robin's flag-staff and Single Tree point (the
