

Safety—Comfort—Durability—Good Appearance

Note the

ASBESTOSLATE ROOF

It combines all those good qualities and, furthermore, is remarkably easy to put on. Asbestoslate Shingles are cement and asbestos permanently combined into a tile which hardens and improves with age.

Public Buildings, all over Canada, have been roofed with Asbestoslate. Montreal West, the garden suburb of Canada's metropolis, is almost entirely roofed with Asbestoslate—in every case the roof has given that entire satisfaction which should lead you to use it for your own building.

These fire proof, weather proof shingles may be had in Scotch Grey, Indian Red or Blue Black to suit the building and surroundings. If you are in the market for roofing, send at once for further information—our booklet "The Town of Asbestoslate" gives full particulars and illustrates the class of building owned by the man who endorses the Asbestoslate roof. Write for it to Dept. C.C.

His Noble Aim.—The Young Man—"I understand your father speaks very highly of me."

The Young Lady—"Yes; but he only does that for fun."

The Young Man—"Are you sure?"

The Young Lady—"Positive. He just does it to torment mother."—Lippincott's.

Identifying Himself.—One of the guests at a wedding, seeing a dismal-looking young man who appeared to be on terms of familiarity with the principals, asked:

"Are you related to the bride or to the bridegroom-elect?"

"No," was the gloomy reply.

"Then," said the guest, "what interest have you in the ceremony?"

"Well," replied the young man, "I'm the defeated candidate."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Improving.—"My daughter Susie is getting quite an excellent Latin scholar," said the proud father to a visitor. "Here is one of her exercise books, and you can look for yourself."

Susie blushed scarlet, and made a wild grab at the book. She was too late, and the delighted visitor read aloud to the company:

"Boyibus kissibus

Sweet girlorium;

Girlibus likibus,

Wanti somorum."

—Tit-Bits.

Suspicious of the Name.—The London Daily Mail publishes the following anecdote as throwing a little light on the feelings of the Irish people at the present crisis:

There was a horse and cart standing in the street, and a policeman thought, maybe, the man's name would not be on it. Anyway, it was worth trying, so he walks round and, sure enough there's no name on it at all. So says he to the man that was driving it, "How is it," says he, "that there's no name on it?" And the man says it is his cart, and everyone knows it is his cart, so what would he be wanting his name on it for? Anyway, when he comes home he will paint the name on to-morrow.

"I would advise you to do that," says the policeman, "but in the meantime," says he, "I will be summoning you," he says, "for not having the name legibly displayed this afternoon. But for your future guidance," says he, "I will acquaint you with the law relating to carts, which requires that your name shall be painted either upon the body of the cart or upon a board thereto affixed, and that the said name shall be legibly painted in Roman letters."

"Roman letters, is it?" says the Ulsterman, "and me, the president of an Orange lodge, to have Roman letters on a Presbyterian cart," says he. "Law or no law," says he, "I'll be shot before I do it."

Too Speedy for Him.—A German farmer was in search of a driving horse.

"I've got just the horse for you," said the liveryman. "He's five years old, sound as a dollar, and goes ten miles without stopping."

The German threw his head skyward.

"Not for me," he said, "not for me I live eight miles from town, and mit dot horse I haf to walk back two miles."—National Monthly.

A Sad Awakening.—A foreman on one of the large lines of railway has a keen Gaelic wit. One warm afternoon, while walking along the line, he found one of his men placidly sleeping on the embankment. The "boss" looked disgustedly at the delinquent for a full minute and then remarked:

"Slape on, ye lazy spalpeen, slape on, fur as long as you slape you've got a job, but whin you wake up you ain't got none."

Paring a corn brings only brief relief. And there is danger in it.

The way to end corns is with Blue-jay. It stops the pain instantly. Then it loosens the corn, and in 48 hours the entire corn comes out.

Blue-jay is applied in a moment. From that time on you will not feel the corn.

Leave it on for two days, until it gently undermines the corn. Then lift the corn out. There will be no pain or soreness.

Blue-jay has ended sixty million corns. Nearly half the corns in the country now are ended in this way.

There is nothing else like it. And no man who knows will even suggest any other way for dealing with corns.
