

Lost Suburbia

by Aaron Berg

The city can find you and the city can lose you and with a little luck the city can save you.
Once you slip out of your shell and realize that there is more to life than just you and your problems
then you can really start living.
By looking out at all those densely packed dreams
You discover something;
You have it worse than anyone
and better than everyone.

Reality

by Graves 93

I have seen angels in your eyes.
I have seen pieces of you as delicate as
whispers,
I imagine your voice like gossamer and your words like prayers;
Powerful and true.
I have watched you sleep, covered in the moon's silk.
I have sat, wanting to learn you and perhaps even hide in your shadows from the beasts that torment me.
But I am wrapped in my own shroud,
my own darkness
and I am afraid to ever reach to you.
For I have seen angels in your eyes
and I know they could never forgive,
never forget,
never embrace,
the demons inside me.

Because of My Baby

by The Danster

I'm so very happy!
And even if the sun was not shining,
I'd be happy,
Because I have my Baby and he's smiling!

I'm content!
And even if the sky was not blue and bright,
I'd be content,
Because I see my Baby and I enjoy the sight!

I'm secure!
And even if a brighter tomorrow never came,
I'd be secure,
Because I know my Baby and he'll love me just the same!
