

SUGAR...

That there is a great difference in the quality of sugar will be readily admitted. Those who have had the misfortune to get European granulated sugar instead of Canadian granulated, will not soon forget it.

Besides the fact that the imported sugars are not so nice to use on account of appearances and cleanliness, there is also more sweetening power in the "extra Standard" quality Canadian made. What is true of granulated, is true also of yellow sugars. Some are much better than others—better flavor, better quality, more sweetness.

Finest Yellow Sugar, 22 pounds for $1.00.

SUGGESTION

"Now that the Grand Trunk is going to move its freight sheds, it would be a good idea for the city to take action," suggests R. S. Dunlop. "Rat-eigh street should be put right through across the G. T. R. track. The moving of the freight sheds affords a very good opportunity, and the Council should take advantage of it. By cutting the street right through to Park avenue two very long and inconvenient blocks will be cut into decent size. The cost will not be in comparison to the good done."

PICNIC PARTLY POSTPONED

The rain stopped the out-door part of McKeough school picnic, and the games and band concert were in consequence postponed till a more favorable date. The guests within was in marked contrast to the dull day without. The scholars all had a splendid lunch in their several rooms, and although part of their fun was cut off, still they enjoyed to the full that part of the picnic which even the weather man could not spoil.

Dog Figures in Arson Case.

Toronto, June 23.—A dog figure, as one of the important witnesses in the case of a man named Miles, arrested last week by Provincial Detective Murray on the charge of setting fire to Tait & Turnbull's timber limits near Huntsville. Miles was in a blacksmith shop near the camp just before the fire, and a few hours afterwards a dog, with its hair slightly singed, turned up at the shop and whined considerably, as though for its lost master. It was surmised that perhaps the dog had become separated from its master in the smoke and dust of the fire, and had returned to the last place in which they had been together. The dog was turned loose in the court room where Miles was being examined. The prisoner was scented, and despite the prisoner's denial of acquaintanceship, the dog's demonstrations of joy were too evident to be mistaken. Miles was committed for trial.
