QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

CHRONIC INDIGESTION.

For two weeks my horse has had semi-diarrhoea, is dumpy, and occasionally suffers pain.

J. McK.

Ans.—There is probably some irritant in the bowels which is causing the trouble. It is dangerous to allow such cases to go without treatment, as the condition is liable to assume the form of acute indigestion at any time, and probably cause death. It is always better to have a veterinarian give personal attention to such cases. If you decide to treat yourself, give him 1½ pts. raw linseed oil, and after he ceases purging, give 1 dram each of gentian, nux vomica, and sulphate of iron three times daily in ½ pint cold water as a drench. Feed on well-saved timothy hay and whole oats. Do not give any bran, boiled food or roots until he recovers his normal condition.

ECZEMA.

Mare breaks out in little pimples every spring. They discharge a little and then dry up. When the cold weather comes she gets all right. I worked another horse in her harness, and he appears to be getting it.

C. M. V.

Ans.—This is eczema, and is not considered contagious, but if some of the effusion came in contact with a raw surface on another horse it would probably produce a local irritation. Give the mare a purgative, of 8 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger. Follow up with 1 oz. Fowler's solution of arsenic three times daily, every alternate week. Wash the surface of the body once weekly with strong, warm, soft-soap suds, applied with a scrubbing brush, and then rub until dry. Dress the affected parts twice daily with corrosive sublimate, 20 grains to a quart of water.

RINGBONE.

I have a colt 8½ months old. About three months ago a growth appeared on both hind pasterns, just above the hoofs. My veterinarian said they were ring bones, and he fired and blistered them, but they are still growing, and the colt is lame and thin, although it eats well. Do you think they are ringbones? Do such appear on colts of that age, and what is the best treatment?

W. A. W.

Ans.—No doubt they are ringbones. In some cases the lameness cannot be cured by ordinary means. Firing and blistering is the proper treatment. I would advise you to have them fired and blistered again, and if the lameness does not disappear in the course of six to eight months, all that can be done is to perform an operation called neurotomy, which consists in removing a section of each nerve supplying the foot. This does not cure the disease, but removes sensation, and as a consequence lameness ceases. We do not recommend the operation, except in cases where other means fail.

A gem in its line is the catalogue of Jersey cattle included in the annual sale from the Linden Grove Herd of T. S. Cooper & Sons, Coopersburg, Pa., to be held this year, as usual, on Decoration Day, May 30th. The catalogue contains extended, tabulated pedigrees of 107 animals, nearly, if not quite, all imported direct from the Island of Jersey, or the produce of imported sire and dam, and brimful of the blood of prizewinners and heavy producing stock.

Bog Spavin

Lameness resembles bone spavin, but the bunch is in front of the true hock joint, a little to the inner side, and is soft and yielding, hardening sometimes as the case grows old.

Fleming's Spavin Cure (Liquid) is a special remedy for the soft and semi-solid bunches that make horses lame—Bog Spavin, Thoroughpin, Splint, Curb, Capped Hock, etc. It isn't a liniment to bathe the part, nor is it a simple blister. It is a remedy unlike any other—doesn't irritate and can't be limited. Easy to use, only a little required, cures the lameness, takes the bunch, leaves no scar. Money back if it ever fails. Write for Free Horse Book before ordering. It tells all about this remedy, and tells what to do for blemishes of the hard and bony kind.
