Clydesdales! Clydesdales! Spring Hill Top Notchers

Gentlemen, we wish to remind you that owing to our late importations we won't be showing at any of the fall exhibitions. Our lot comprises fillies and mares, stallions, 3 and 4 years old. They are the ripe cherries every one of them, and must be sold at the lowest possible price to make room for this fall importation. There's no man who ever buys a stallion or mare but who comes back again; why, because we have the goods and back up what we say. We wish to thank every one for their kind patronage in the past. Yours truly,

J. & J. SEMPLE, Milverton, Ont., and La Verne, Minn., U. S. A.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Mare has pimples the size of pin-heads all over her body, and the hair is falling off.
2. Mare is lame. The pastern joint is swollen and sore.
3. Give treatment for colic.

G. McK.

Ans.—1. Purge her with 8 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger. Feed on bran only for 24 hours. Follow up with 1½ ounces Fowler's Solution of Arsenic twice daily for a week. Rub the body twice daily with a solution of corrosive sublimate 15 grains to a pint of water.

2. Bathe the joint well three times daily with hot water, and after bathing rub well with a liniment made of 2 ounces tincture of arnica, 1 ounce oil of turpentine, 1 dram iodine, and alcohol to make 8 ounces, then bandage. Give rest until lameness disappears.

3. Give 1½ ounces each of tincture of opium, tincture of belladonna and spirits of nitrous ether in a pint of cold water as a drench.

INJURY TO HOCK.

In June, one of my horses had his hock bruised, the joint swelled, and he went lame. I have bathed with both hot and cold water and rubbed with liniment, but the lameness continues. This week it broke, and is discharging a yellowish matter.

H. L. N.

Ans.—Injuries to the hock that cause the formation of abscesses are very hard and often tedious to treat. If this horse refuses to put any weight upon the injured leg, it will be wise to put him in slings. Apply heat to the joint by poulticing with hot linseed meal, or by long-continued and frequent bathing with hot water. Flush the pus cavity out three times daily with 1 part carbolic acid and 30 parts water. If any fresh abscesses form, open carefully and treat as above. Give him internally 4 drams of hyposulphite of soda three times daily. Feed liberally on hay, bran and oat chop. It is not possible to say what the result will be, and it would be wise to have him visited occasionally by a veterinarian, as lancing abscesses, etc., in the neighborhood of a joint should be done very carefully. If the abscesses heal, and the lameness disappears, the enlargement can be reduced by repeated blisterings.

HYDRAULIC RAM.

I have an excellent never-failing spring about 450 feet from my house. I wish to bring the water from spring to buildings. For 300 feet of the way I have a fall of about 1 foot to the 100 feet. The remaining 150 feet is rising ground, and I would have to raise it 12 to 15 feet to bring it into my house. I was thinking of using 1-inch galvanized pipe and hydraulic ram. Is there any better and cheaper plan? By digging a well, I could probably obtain water at 20 to 25 feet.

D. C.

Ans.—To install a ram suitable for your purpose would cost probably in the neighborhood of $30. This is figured on a No. 4 ram, the drive-pipe of which would be 1½ inches, and the supply pipe ½ inch. Your best plan would be to make the total fall of 3 feet in the first 50 feet from the spring. This could be done by putting the ram down in the ground 3 feet or so, and from the ram you would require a drain to carry away the waste water. Thus, you see, the drive pipe should be about 50 feet long. With 3 feet of fall in the drive pipe and a No. 4 ram, you would have delivered at the barn about 1 gallon a minute, or about a barrel and a half an hour, making 36 barrels in the day. A No. 3 ram would deliver 18 barrels, and a No. 5 about 63 barrels. I should judge that the installation of the ram, together with the price of it, would cost much less than to dig a well.
