A good step to take at the opening of the year is to mark all bags, blankets, robes, etc., that are now unmarked, with a plain stencil plate. Tools, implements, double-trees, neck-yokes, etc., should also be designated by the owner's name and this may be put on with a metal brand. Getting a Few Turns Ahead.—During the comparative leisure of winter there are many little jobs that can be done, with a view to saving precious moments in the busy springtime to come. Every imple-ment and appliance that will come into service in the work season, should be overhauled, the working parts of machin-ery be cleaned, and woodwork be painted ; plows and other tools that have duplicate parts, should be gone over and the parts that have worn weak be replaced by new ones, while sets of these should be provided against future breakage. A supply of extra harrow teeth, whifle trees, linch-pins, bolts and nuts, may be gotten around for

There is an enduring tenderness in the love of a mother to her son that transcends all other affections of the heart. It is neither to be chilled by selfishness, nor daunted by danger, nor weakened by worthlessness, nor stifled by ingratitude. She will sacrifice her comfort to his convenience; she will surrender every pleasure to his an other to he will share to his to he will surrender every pleasure to his to he will share to his the source of the same to he will share to he boits and nuts, may be gotten around for use in emergencies. Sheep in Winter.—Cold weather is not unfavorable to sheep if they are profusely fed and cared for. Hence sheep are in-clined in such weather to remain closely indoors, even when the ground is bare of snow, a habit which should be broken up. It is now generally believed that close confinement and want of eversive are will surrender every pleasure to his enjoyment; she will glory in his fame, enjoyment; she will glory in his name, and exult in his prosperity; and if adver-sity overtake him he will be dearer to her by misfortune; and if disgrace settle upon his name she will still love It is now generally believed that close confinement and want of exercise, are leading causes of feeble, and girtered lambs. As the ewes advance in pregnancy towards spring, inactivity tends to produce fatness, and with it evil consequences such as are named. In all but severe weather the flock should be turned out daily between feedings all through the winter. Heifers with their First Calves.—They should come in at two years old or earlier. should come in at two years old or earlier. For some months previous to calving if the udders are frequently manipu-lated, the process will cause a ten-dency of blending the parts and larg-er development. A heifer should be in good condition with her first calf. After calving she should be milked three times a day, as near eight hours apart as possible, so long as her udder fills; after that twice a day. She should be milked close up to her second calving, which should take place at the end of a year. With these points all observed there will be a tendency to the largest possible milk production. Wholesome food and warm stables are important factors of course. miums given by the Agricultural Fairs, lies in the fact, that the judges in these cases are regular farmers, who know what their needs are and what will supply them. Wells, Richardson & Co.'s im-proved Butter Color, which has taken first premium at all fairs where exhibited, is put up in a vegetable oil so prepared that it cannot become rancid, a most important property, the lack of which is fatal to so many of the Butter Colors offered for sale. It does not color the butter-milk; it imparts a bright natural color, which is unattained by many others; and being the strongest is the cheapest Color in the market.

Until about April the cellar is the place the new roots start. Until about April the cellar is the place for the chrysanthemums that have lately flowered. Keep them rather dry at the roots. The tops should be cut away to the ground. A Method for Extending the Flowering Season.—We refer to extending the season of bloom of hardy plants, shrubs, etc., next spring. Where there are ample sized patches of hardy garden pinks, white lillies, Dutch bulbs, etc., or a number of any one kind of flowering shrubs, by ap-plying a mulch to a part of these in the winter when the ground is deeply frozen, for the purpose of causing it to thaw out slowly in places next spring, a difference of more than a week in favor of lateness may be had in the flowering of the plants in such mulched parts. By this means instead of having the flowers of any one kind all at once, they come over a consid-erably extended season.

No harm can come from using Hag-yard's Pectoral Balsam; as a remedy for throat, bronchial and lung complaints it is always reliable and positively safe.

A Golden Opinion. Mrs. Wm. Allan, of Acton, declares that Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best household remedy in the world for colds, croup, sore throat, burns, scalds and other painful complaints. Her opinion is well founded.

I freely confess to you that I would rather, when I am laid down in the grave, some one in his manhood stand over me and say—"There lies one who was a real friend to me, and privately warned me of the dangers of the young; no one knew it, but he aided me in the time of need. I owe what I am to him." Or would rather have some widow, with choking utterance, telling her children "There is your friend and mine. He visited me in my affliction, and found you, my son, an employer, and you, my daughter, a happy home in a virtuous family." I say I would rather that such person would stand at my grave than to have erected over it the most beautiful sculptured monument of Parian or Italian founded. Mullein As a Cure for Consumption

EDITOR CATHOLIC RECORD.—SIR,—In your issue of Nov. 29th appeared an article on mullein leaves to relieve the cough of consumption, to which I wish to add the following simple remedy, which I will warrant to cure any case of consumption if taken in its first or consumption if taken in its first or consumption if taken in its first or second stages:—Pull mullein leaves when green; let them dry in the shade, boil the mullein, sweeten well with coffee sugar, and drink from one to two cupfuls warm before each meal, and before going to bed. The medicine must be continued from three to six months, according to the nature of the disease. It is very good for the blood vessels also. It strengthens and builds up the system. It makes good blood up the system. It makes good blood up the system. It makes good blood and takes inflammation away from the lungs. I got this receipt in the True Witness, of Montreal, some five or six years ago and I believe it has since saved my life. By publishing it you will oblige yours truly, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 20th, 1884.
