THE CATHOLIC RECORD.

NOVEMBER 26, 1852.

He started, and opened his eyes

Their pace was slackening, the great black figure in its fiery atmostphere was in some spasm of motion, and walls

The cars stopped at the foot of an immense flight of stairs that stretched upward indefinitely, a dingy Jacob's ladder without the angels. Mr.

Schoninger slowly ascended them, heavy-hearted again, and therefore heavy-footed; and, not far behind, a man with a skulking step and mean face followed after. There was nothing very mysterious in this walk. It led street, by the shortest route, to a respectable hotel. Mr. Schoninger called for a room, and went to it immediately; the little man lingered in the office, and hung about the desk.

"That gentleman comes down here

The man nodded, without looking

ap. "Does he always record his name when he comes?" pursued the ques-

"Can't say," was the short answer, still without looking up.

night, I suppose ?" remarked the

The clerk suddenly thrust his face past the corner of the desk behind here, sir, what name shall I put down

The man drew back a little, and

The clerk came down promptly from

And when he had locked the door and pulled down the curtains, with a snap that threatened to break their fastenings, he put his hands in his pockets, and made a short and emphatic address to an imaginary audi

"I don't believe there is any redemption for spies," he said ; " and I would rather have a thief in my house than a sneak. You sometimes hear of a criminal who repents; but nobody ever yet heard of one of your prying,

"If I had my will,"

There being no other person present, beak, and how many men be incapacitated for taking he pursued.

turned away. "I'm not sure of book-his perch. "Then it's time to lock up, which his catechiser stood.

or you?" he asked sharply ing myself here," he replied.

"Comes down every Wednesday pretty often in the night, doesn't he?"

he asked of the clerk.

through a deserted business of brick and stone were shutting the manner

the

This

awake

He

per merely tioner.

stranger.

he said.

WHY LAUD MARTIN

NOVEMBER 26, 18

Rather Brand Him With Ignominy.

Chicago New Worl The secular papers for past have been indulging laudations of Martin Lut Post and Herald of this specially signalized they their silly bombast. Th amen of history, says the the amen which Luther t his denunciation of Ron refusal to recant his er Diet of Worms. Luther, ion of the Post, was of and Rome wrong ; ther and honor to Luther for and truth, however, declar was right and Luther wi be Luther branded and ignominy. He rebe legitimate authority for n to set up an opposing aut That rebellion, own. pride and nutured by lust he pushed on to what th call success, but it was of evil and error. In triumph he was still the and ruinous rebel. His like that of Satan when man to misery and sin.

He achieved nothing work was a work of des greatness displays itself rather than tearing dow ignorant of men could earth the basilica of St. Pe could never build such a this respect how differ apostate monk is the gre whose grand discovery the now celebrating. He of world to mankind, and prompting him to it was light of truth. Luther le revolt against the truth spiring motive was to ag; lf, to feed his pride a lusts. Luther is credite the moving spirit of the tion of the sixteenth headed the revolt and sion of it, but was by author of it. Were he that fearful upheaval, w in sweeping whole nati fold of the Church, he m great, though not in an e but even that greatness the forces which brought trophe about were in ope e he came upon the so

WHY LAND LUTH

ON THIS POINT DR. BRO "Luther found he did introduce Protestantism. Reformation was not so away from the Church were really Catholics, a forth from her communic had previously been in ing of it." The condition that time was as a pow into which Luther mere To do that required no tion of character or force

It is said that the mon reform, and that it against the abuses in Nothing is more false were abuses in the Chu no one will deny, but t may these abuses be t Papal misgovernment manly efforts on the pa to maintain discipline, croachments of the secu the spiritual. Throug of princes unworthy m into ecclesiastical positio most lamentable.

resisted this usurpatio thority, but with littl consequence the efforts at reform were to a lar;

The power to correct a taken from her and wa corrupt her. Now the tended to perpetuate this tyranny of princ league with the temp

OUS INFLUI

them tipsy. I gave you a good reason at first, Lawrence, and I have a better. My father died of liquor, and my GRAPES AND THORNS. OldChum

he went to

But

CHAPTER V.-CONTINUED. The singing was at an end, and the (CUT PLUG.) singers left their seats and wandered about the house and garden. Only Mr. Schoninger lingered by the piano, and, seeing him still there, no one went far away, those outside leaning in at the window. OLD CHUM

He seated himself presently, and played a Polonaise. He sat far back, (PLUG.) ost at arm's length from the keys, and, as he touched it, the instrument seemed to possess an immortal soul. One knew not which most to admire, No other brand of Tobacco has ever en= the power that made a single piano sound like an orchestra, or the deli joyed such an immense cacy that produced strains fine and clear like horns of fairyland. sale and popularity in When he had finished, the same period as this ask Mrs. Gerald how the singing had brand of Cut Plug and Oldest Cut Tobacco manufac-word in return.

great an effort.

fered.

in the tormentor's power.

last half-hour beside Mrs. Ferrier, and the time had been penitential, as all Ritchierlos ndelicate complaints and insinuations as Mrs. Ferrier was constantly adiressing to her when they were to-

MONTREAL. Cut Plug, 10c. 1 15 Plug, 10c. 1 15 Plug, 20c.

turers in Canada.

Plug Tobacco.

2

×

RECOGNISED STANDARD BRANDS "Mungo" "Kicker" "Cable."

Universally acknowledged to be superior in every respect to any other brands in the market. Always reliable, as has been fully demonstrated by the millions that are sold annually and the increasing demand for them, notwith standing an increased com petition of over One Hundred and Twenty - five Factories. This fact speaks volumes. We are not cheap Cigar manufacturers.

Largest and Highest Grade Cigar Manufa turers in Canada.

BY M. A. T., AUTHOR OF "THE HOUSE OF YORK," "A WINGED WORD," ETC. My father died of liquor, an brother is becoming a slave to will help to make no drunkards." "Well," the young man brother is becoming a slave to it. "Well," the young man sighed resignedly, "you mean well; but I can't help thinking you a little quixotic "The Ferriers are giving us eau sucree instead of wine to-night,' sneered one of the company to Mr. Schoninger, a while after. They show good taste in doing so," he replied coldly. "There are always bar-rooms and drinkingsaloons enough for those who are ad-

I never wish to take dicted to drink. wine from the hand of a lady, nor to drink in her presence. The night was brilliantly full-moon lighted, and so warm that they had lit as little gas as possible. A soft glow from the upper floor, and the bright doors of the drawing-room, made the hall chandelier useless. Miss Ferrier's new organ there was flooded with a silvery radiance that poured through a window. Mr. Schoninger came out and seated himself before it.

"Shall I play a fugue of Bach's?" he asked of Miss Pembroke, who was standing in the open door leading to the garden.

She took a step toward him, into the shadow between moonlight of window and door, and the light seemed to fol-low her, lingering in her fair face and her white dress. Even the waxen jas mine blossoms in her hair appeared to be luminous.

gether without uttering any sharp "Yes," she said, "if you are to play To be reminded that only once more ; but, if more than once, Lawrence was making a very advanlet that be last. I never lose the sound tageous marriage without retorting and motion of one of Bach's fugues till that she would be far more happy to I have slept; and I like to keep the murmur it leaves, as if my ears were broke, required an effort ; and to resea-shells. strain the quick flash, or the angry tears in her fiery Celtic heart when She went back to stand in the door but, after a few minutes, stepped softly and slowly further away, and passed by the drawing-room doors, through she had conquered herself for God's which she saw Annette talking with animation and many gestures, while little for pride's sake, had given the her two critics listened and nodded occasional acquiescence, and Lawrence mained silent when speech seemed too withdrawn to a window-seat with Mis Carthusen, and Mrs. Ferrier the centre of a group of young people, wh listened to her with ill-con ealed smiles taking equality before the law for of amusement. At length she found personal equality, are at any time sufficiently offensive ; how much more the place she wanted, an arm-chain under the front portico, and, seated so when the victim is in some measure there, gathered up that strong, wilful rush of harmony as a whole. It did not seem to have ceased when Mr. It did Mrs. Gerald's face showed how severe the trial had been. Her blue Schoninger joined her. She was so eyes had the unsteady lustre of a dew full of the echoes of his music that for moment she looked at him standing that dared not gather into tears, a painful smile trembled on her lips, and her cheeks were scarlet. Had she beside her as if it had been his wraith He pointed silently and smiling to the corner of the veranda visible from where they sat. It was on the shady side of the house, and still further screened by vines, and the half-drawn curtains of the window and looking into it allowed but a single beam of gaslight to escape. In that nock were gathered half a dozen children, peeping into the drawing-room. were as silent as the shadows in which they lurked, and their bare feet had given no notice of their coming. Their bodies were almost invisible, but their eager little faces shone in the red light and now and then a small hand was lifted into sight.

to you for giving us what we can understand. The composition you have just played delighted me, too. "It reminds me," he said, "of a though it is probable that I do not a passage in the Koran, where Mahomet all appreciate its beauties. It made me think of fairies dancing in a ring." declares that it had been revealed to him that a company of genii had "It was a dance-tune," Mr. Schon-inger said, pleased that she had perlistened while he was reading a chapter, and that one of them had received the thought; for it required a marked: 'Verily, we have heard fine and sympathetic ear to discern the a most admirable discourse.' That That amused me; and I fancied that an "If that man were not a Jew, I should row pond, with a few acres of smooth

"So you have a school?" Mr. Scho- of a scrupulous gentleman, and he had, even among gentlemen, the charming ninger asked, as they went round distinction of always keeping his fee through the garden. They came out into the moonlight, on the floor. This man's were, therefore, in more than one way and approached the rear of the house, where a number of the company were offensive, and his salutation received gathered, standing among the flowers. no more encouraging reply than a "Yes, I have fifty, or more, of these stare, and a scarcely perceptible in-little ones, and I find it interesting. clination of the head. They were in danger of growing up in the street, and I had nothing else to Mr. Schoninger seemed, indeed, t regret even this slight concession, for do-that is nothing that seemed so he rose immediately with an air of de-plain a duty. So I took the largest cision, and walked forward to the first room in an old house of mine just verg-seat. The door of the car was open seat. The door of the car was open ing on the region where these children there as they rushed on through darkness, and, looking forward, it was like beholding the half-veiled entrance live, and have them come there every day." "You must find teaching laborious, of a cavern of fire. A cloud of illuthe gentleman said. minated smoke and steam swept about "Oh! no. I am strong and and enveloped the engine with a healthy, and I do not fatigue myself bright atmosphere impenetrable to the sight, and through this loomed the nor them. The whole is free to them, gigantic shadow of a man. This shadow sometimes disappeared for a of course, and I am responsible to no one, therefore can instruct or amuse them in my own way. As far as pos-sible, I wish to supply the incompetency moment only to appear again, and seemed to make threatening gestures, of their mothers. If I give the little and to catch and press down into the ones a happy hour, during which they flames some unseen adversary. behave properly, and teach them one Schoninger's fancy was wide thing, I am satisfied. One of the branches I try to instruct them in its though his eves were half asleep, and this strange object became to him an neatness. No soiled face is allowed to object of terror. Painful and anxious speak to me, nor soiled hands to touch thoughts, which he had resolutely put me. Then they sing and read, and away left yet a dim and mysterious learn prayers and a little doctrine, and background, on which this grotesque I tell them stories. When the Chris-tian Brothers and the Sisters of Notre was thrown in strong relief. figure, gigantic and wrapped in fire, Dame come, my occupation will of imagined it an impending doom, course be gone. which might at any moment fall upon

'I wish I might some time be him. allowed to visit this school of yours," Mr. Schoninger said hesitatingly. "I Finding these fancies intolerable at length, he shook himself wide awake, rose, and walked unsteadily up and could give them a singing-lesson, and tell them a story. Little Rose Tracy down the car. In doing 'so, he ceived that his fellow-passenger had likes my stories.

Miss Pembroke was thoughtful retreated to the last seat, and was, moment, then consented. She had witnessed with approval, Mr. Schoninger's treatment of Miss Carthusen that evening, and respected him for "The day after to-morrow, in the afternoon, would be a good time,' 'she "It is to be a sort of holiday. said. on account of the firemen's procession. procession passes the school-room and I have promised the children that hey shall watch it." They went in to take leave, for the garden-seat, and forgotten.

countenance changed slightly as he The eyelids drooped, and his the outer darkness. spoke.

whole air expressed reserve. "The next morning !" she repeated o herself, but said nothing.

Lawrence went off with Miss Carthusen ; and as Mrs. Gerald and Honora went out at the same time with Mr. Schoninger, he asked permission to accompany them. "How lovely the night is !" Mrs

Gerald murmured, as they walked quietly along under the trees of the avenue, and saw all the beautiful city bathed in moonlight, and ringed about with mountains like a wall. can scarcely have a greater physical beauty then earth has sometimes." "I do not think," the gentleman said, "that heaven will be so much more beautiful than earth, but our eves will be open to see the beauties that exists.

Gerald asked, rather abruptly,

Catholic who did not practise his re-

He spoke very quietly, with an air of weariness or depression ; and, when they reached home, bowed his goodnight without speaking. The two ladies stood a moment in the door, looking out over the town. rods from the track, was a long, nar apparently sleeping, his cap drawn low over his forehead. But Mr. Schoninger's glance detected a slight change in the position of the head as he commenced his promenade, and he could not divest himself of the belief that, from under the low hat-brim, a glance as sharp as his own was follow ing his every movement. In an ordinary and healthy mood of mind he would have cared little for such espionage; but he was not in such a mood. Circumstances had of company was breaking up. "Oh ! by the way, Mr. Schoninger," Annette said, recollecting, "did you Annette said, recollecting, "did you all his power of self-control to main-the second self-control to the second second peeping, tattling sort reforming. get the shawl you left here at the last tain a composed exterior. Did this rehearsal? It was thrown cn a man suspect his trouble, and search no one contradicted him, a circumtance which seemed to increase the man suspect his trouble, and search strength of his convictions. He paced for, or, perhaps, divine, or, possibly "Yes, I stepped in early the next know the cause of it? He would morning, and took it," he said. His gladly have caught the fellow in his the room two or three times, then returned to his first stand, removing his hands from his pockets to class arms, and thrown him headlong into them behind his back, as being a more

He returned to his place, and, leandignified attitude for a speaker. ing close to the window, looked out into the night. If he had hoped to 'every nose that poked itself into other people's affairs would be cut off. quiet himself by the sight of a familiar nature, he was disappointed, for the Bravo ! Mr. Clerk. You have sense But if you had also that sanguinary scene had a weird, though occasionally wish of yours, what a number of mutil beautiful aspect, very unlike reality The moon had set, leaving that dark ated visages would be going about the world ! How many feminine faces ness which follows a bright moonlight would be shorn of their retrouse, or or precedes the dawn of day, when the long, rooting feature, or clawing, stars seem to be confounded by the near yet invisible radiance of their parrot would conqueror, and dare not shine with their own full lustre. Only this locosnuff comotive, dashing through the heart Having delivered himself of his of the night, rendered visible a flying rather extreme opinion, this excellent man shut up the house and retired. panorama. Groves of trees twirled Mr. Schoninger looked forward with round, surprised in some mystic dance nterest to his promised visit to Miss streams flashed out in all their wind Pembroke's school, and was so anxious ings, red and serpent-like, and hid themselves as suddenly ; wide plains that she should not by any forgetfulness or change of plan deprive him of it, that he reminded her as they came swam past, all a blur, with hills and mountains stumbling against the horizon. Only one spot had even a out of the hall, after their concert, of hint of familiarity. the permission she had given him for Framed round by a great semi-circle of woods, not many the next afternoon. "Certainly !" she replied smiling. 'But how can you think of such a

"I observed that you listened," he remarked, being within Dr. Porson's hearing. Mrs. Gerald had been sitting for the her intercourse with Annette's mother was. It was hard for a fond mother and a sensitive lady to listen to such see him the husband of Honora almost more than she could do.

she heard him undervalued, was sake and for her son's sake, perhaps a soft answer when she could, and re

That coarse insolence of mere noney to refined poverty, and the mis-been at liberty, this lady could perfectly well have known how to ignore or reprove impertinence without ruffling her smooth brow or losing her tranquil manner ; but she was not free, and the restraint was agitating. This rude woman's rudest insinuation was mother-like, she never thought of re proaching her son for what she suf

"I never heard music I liked so well," she said to Mr. Schoninger's question. "We are under obligation but truth, and she must bear it.

ANTIBILIOUS PILLS.

A sovereign remedy for Bilious Aflec-tions : Torpidity of the liver, Excess of bile and other indispositions arising om it : Constipation, Loss of appetite from it : Consuparion, Headache, Etc. Dr. D. Marsolais, a renowned physi-Dr. D. Marsolais, a renowned physifollows: I have been using DR. NEY'S ANTIBILIOUS PILLS for several years past and I am quite satis-fied with their use. I cannot do otherwise than praise the composition of these pills which you have made known to me-Containing no mercury, they can be taken without danger in many causes where mercurial pills would be quite dangerous. Not only do I make considerable use of these pills in my practice, but I have used them n any times for myself with the mest grautying testils. It is therefore a pleasure for nue to recommend DL. Nav's ANTIBILOUS PILLS to these which require a MILD, EFFECTIVE AND HARMLESS purgative. Lavalite Mas Let SC. D. D. MARGIN 178 her.

Lavaltrie May let 1887. Dr. D. MARSOLAIS. For sale everywhere at 25 cts. per box.

TT PREE EY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF PRICE.

SOLE PROPRIETOR

L. ROBITAILLE, Chemist

step in that capricious movement of hopin's. effective picture might be made of it : The fact that he was a Jew had pre he prophet reading at night by the vented her looking on this man with any interest, or feeling it possible that ight of an antique lamp that shone purely on his solemn face and beard, any friendship could exist between them; but the thought passed her mind, as he spoke, that Mr. Schoninand his green robe, with, perhaps, the pet cat curled round on the sleeve The casement should be open wide and crowded with a multitude of yearnger might be a very amiable person if

Yet.

ing, exquisite faces, the lips parted with the intensity of their listening. he chose. There was a delicate and reserved sweetness in that faint smile of his which reminded her of some ex-As I came along the hall just now, pression she had seen on Honora's face saw one of those children through the when she was conversing with a gentle window, and in that light it looked man who had the good fortune to pleas

"I fancy they are some of my chil-drent" Miss Pembroke said, and rose. "Let us see. They ought not to be Meantime, Lawrence had been hav ving a little dispute with Annette What's this about the wine?" he hispered to her. "John says there out so late, nor to intrude

"Oh ! spare the poor little wretches," Mr. Schoninger said laughingly as she took his arm. "We find this com whispered to her. " isn't any to be had." He looked astonished, and with reason, for the fault of the Ferrier monplace enough, but to them it is wonderful. I think we might be tempted to trespass a little if we could entertainments had always been their profusion.

get a peep into veritable fairyland. This is to them fairyland." " I meant to have told you that I had concluded not to have wine," she said. "Two gentlemen present are intem-perate men, who make their families "That anything is a strong tempta tion is no excuse for yielding," the lady said in a playful tone that took very unhappy, and when they begin to drink they do not know where to stop. The last time Mr. Lane was away any appearance of reproof from her words. "We do not go into battle here he became really quite unsteady in order to surrender before he went away." "But the others!" Lawrence ex claimed. "What will they think?" struggle, nor to surrender at all, but "They may understand just why it is," she replied ; "and they may not think anything about it. I should not imagine that they need occupy their minds very long with the subject." "Why, you must know, Annette, that some of them come here for noth edly.

cation.

ing but the supper, and chiefly the but reverent love. These children were of a class wine," the young man urged unguard-

She drew up slightly. "So I have heard, Lawrence; and I wish to disaccustomed to a word and a blow, and their instinctive motion was to shrink courage such visitors' coming. People who are in the devouring mood should back into a corner, and hide their faces. not go visiting ; they are disagreeable

"I am sorry to see you here, my dears," she said. "Plea now, like good children." I have never seen in company that liveliness which comes after supper "Please go home without a feeling of disgust. It may That was her way of reproving. not go beyond proper bounds, but still She stood aside, and the little vagait is a greater or less degree of intoxi bonds shied out past her, each one try-I have provided everything I ing to hide his face, and scampering could think of for their refreshment off on soundless feet and cheering, but nothing to make reached the ground. off on soundless feet as soon as he had find him agreeable," Mrs Gerald said, green beyond it, and a white cottage trifle after the grand success of this close to its farthest shore. This little evening ?" "As it is, it seems odd that we should see so much of him."

For their concert had been a perfect scene was as perfectly secluded, ap 'I am inclined to believe," Honora success, and Mr. Schoninger himself parently, as if it had been in the mids of a continent otherwise uninhabited. No road nor neighboring house was said slowly, "that it is not right for had been applauded with such enthuus to refuse a friendly intercourse with siasm as had pleased even him. If suitable associates on account of any visible from the railroad. The dwell was the first time he had played in difference of religion, unless they iners in that cottage seemed to be soli public in Crichton, and, respectable trude on us a belief or disbelief which tary and remote, knowing nothing of as he held their musical taste to be, he we hold to be sacrilegious." the wide, busy world save what they had not been prepared to see so ready an appreciation of the higher order of

'Could you love a Jew ?" Mrs. saw from their vine draped windows when the long, noisy train, crowded instrumental music.

Honora considered the matter a little with strangers, hurried past them while. "Our Lord loved them, even those who crucified Him. I could love never stopping. What web that clat tering shuttle wove they might won them. Besides, I do not believe that der, but could not know, could scarcely care as the dreamed their lives away the Jews of to day would practise vioence any more than Christians would. lotos-eating. For the lotos was not We are friendly with Unitarians, yet wanting. Mr. Schoninger recollected his first hey are not very different from some Jews. I think we should love every glimpse of that place as he had whirled body but the eternally lost. I could past one summer morning, and swiftly more easily become attached to an up now he caugh: the scene between hi country." right and conscientious Jew, than to a eyelids, and closed them on it, and dreamed over it. He saw the varied green of the forest, and the velve green of the banks, and the blue and

Mr. Schoninger, as soon as he had left the ladics, mended his pace, and strode off rapidly down the hill. In a prooding sky. Like a sylvan nymph In a the cottage stood in its draping vines, few minutes he had reached a lighted and tried to catch glimpses of itself in the glassy waters at its feet, half smoothered in drifting fragant snow railroad station, where people were of water lilies

"Just in time !" he muttered, and ran to catch a train that was begin-What sort of being should come forth from that dwelling of peace? Schoninger asked himself. Whe should stretch out hands to him, and draw him out of his troubled life. approaching now a climax he shrank from? His heart rose and beat quickly. The door under the vines On the whole, she was radiant with delight. wung slowly back, and a woman "Do not expect too much of my ttle ones," Miss Pembroke said, little ones," floated out over the green, as silent recurring to the proposed visit. "Recollect they are all poor, and they and as gracious as a cloud over the In selecting this car he had hoped blue above. The drapery fluttered back from her advancing foot till it to be alone ; but he had hardly taken have had but little instruction. his seat when he heard a step followreached the first shining ripple of the TO BE CONTINUED.

ing him, and another man appeared pond, and then she paused-a presence and went into the seat in front of him so warm and living that it quickened his breathing. She stretched her strong white arms out toward him over - an insignificant - looking person, with a mean face. He turned about, put his feet on the seat, stretched his the lilies she would not cross, and the arm along the back, and, assuming face was Honora Pembroke's. an insinuating smile, bade Mr. Schoninger good evening. He had, appar-ently, settled himself for a long centhat saved from coldness, the full humanity steeped through and shone through by spiritual loveliness-they were all here

found its support in the "I never saw a more appreciative of being a reaction ag audience," he said. "They applauded at the right places, and it was a well cal corruption, it was THE FINAL TRIUMPH bred applause. How delicate was that little whisper of a clapping during the prelude! It was like the faint out of which the cor Far from a Reformatio rustling of leaves in a summer wind, break against right and so soft that not a note was lost. was the culmination o bellion which had b I have never seen so nearly perfect an audience in any other city in this Europe for centuries. be credited, then, wit "Do not we always tell you that reform. His course w Crichton is the most charming city in the world ?" laughed Annette Ferrier, of vice, rather than ag and sensuality were who had caught his last remark. growth of the new t

She was passing him, accompanied by Lawrence Gerald. Her face was city of Wittenberg, t Reformation, this per bright with excitement, and the glisnowhere more visibl tening of her ornaments and her plained in one of his gauzy robe through the black lace enormous increase o mantle that covered her from head to city. A similar stat foot gave her the look of a butterfly vailed wherever the caught in a web. She had sung brilliantly, dividing the honors of the She had sung tended. The announ teaching was a signal evening with Mr. Schoninger; and Lawrence, finding her admired by What did Luther to others, was gallant to her himself he taught was the de judgment. For that glorified. It was an admirers, to intel Rome enslaved the Luther set it free ! this theory of priva not originate with L formers of the sixte is as old as Christia in the bosom of all germ of all errors. PROTESTANTISM IS Luther and his f a weapon against they preached it and own case as a God very inconsistently it to others. The reformers were arro cal in their teaching no opposition. A

The large, calm look, the earnest glow

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents.

The Plain Truth

Is good enough for Hood's Sarsaparilla-there is no need of embellishment or sensa-tionalism. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. If you have never realized its benefits a single bottle will convince you it is a good medi-cine.

versation.

Mr. Schoninger's habits were those become heroes. I must teach my ning to slip over the track. Grasping little ones to have heroic thoughts. The children, engrossed in the the hand-rail, he drew himself on to bright scene within, did not perceive any approach from without till all rethe step of the last car, then walked through the other cars, and, finally, treat was cut off for them, and they took his seat in that next the engine. turned, with startled faces, to find Once a week he gave lessons in a town themselves confronted by a tall gentle fifteen miles from Crichton, and he man, on whose arm leaned a lady usually found it more agreeable to take whom they looked up to with a tender the night train down than to go in the morning.

without a igion.'

going to and fro.