SPORTOGRAPHY

WATCH YOUR GRIP.
(By "Chick" Evans.) It is very important for the prospective golfer to learn the proper way to grip his club. It might be supposed that knowing the use to which the club is to be put, one would know instinctively the right way to grip it, but experience shows that almost every one grasps the club the wrong way—that is in the palms of the hands. Perhaps we do this because most Canadians before beginning golf, have played baseball, and in consequence, they grab a golf club as if it were a baseball bat. This is absolutely wrong and the sooner the beginning golfer forgets his baseball grip, the better for his game. It is true that the object of both ball players and golfers is to hit a ball with a club, and the best batters have something of a golfer's swing, but the ball in one case is stationary and in the other, moving. The greatest difference in the two strokes, however, lies in the fact that in the baseball stroke force is dominant, and in the golfing stroke the leading idea is control and placement, and this control is best acquired by the delicate sense of touch in the fingers. This finger grip is sometimes called the double V grip, because when properly done the forefinger and thumb of each hand form a sort of V on the shaft of the club.

In the finger grip the club is grasped firmly with the thumb and the small joint of the forefinger of the left hand, the other three fingers, finding a natural position about the shaft, the thumb is at the left side of it. The right hand grasps the club below the left hand also with the fingers, the thumb and first finger forming a V. If the grip is overlapping, the tip of the little finger of the right hand is placed on the knuckle of the forefinger of the left hand, and the ball of the right thumb is placed over the left thumb. This is the Vardon grip and he considers it superior to all others. The theory is that thus fastened together, the two hands work as one. There is always the chance that the two hands may work against each other, and it is easily seen that the farther the hands are apart the more easily it is to do so.

The interlocking grip is another device to make the hands work together. The grip is the same except that the forefinger of the left hand is interlocked with the little finger of the right hand. The interlocking and the overlapping grips are merely variations of the finger grip, and are a matter of individual preference.

In my own game my hands are placed firmly and closely together, but I neither overlap or interlock. I have sometimes considered adopting the Vardon grip, but I am satisfied with my present grip and do not like to change. I believe that all golfers should have the same general methods of play, but details should be adapted to the individual.

LEAFS BROKE EVEN WITH THE HUSTLERSToronto Lost Opening Game
But Landed the Second Encounter

Toronto, May 28.—The Leafs and Hustlers broke even in their double-header on Saturday, the visitors winning the first by the score of 2 to 1, with Bob Fisher, the former Leaf, driving in both their runs, but in the second, with Zabel pitching, the Hustlers were shut out by the score of 4 to 0.

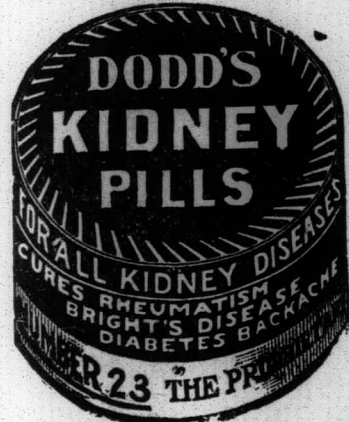

Pitcher Lohman, who opposed Thompson in the contest, was gifted with the "breaks," and with any luck the locals would have tied the score in the ninth inning. The feature of the game was a bare-handed stop and throw by Jimmy Smith, when he robbed Lohman of a hit.

After getting away with the first game, Manager Mike Doolan sent Lohman right back at the Leafs in the second, but he proved no puzzle to the locals, while Zabel, although helped out by two double plays, had the visitors eating off his hand, and only two of the visitors reached second base. FANS HAD RIOT
AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., May 26.—The baseball game between the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox was stopped in the second inning because of a riot among the crowd that filled the bleachers.

The fans from the right field bleachers broke down the gate and swarmed on the field to take part in a dispute between Fielder Jones, manager of the St. Louis team, and Umpire Owens. Boston players advanced with bats to drive the fans off the field, but the police were ahead of them and cleared the ground. No blows were struck.

St. Louis, May 27.—Boston and St. Louis battled eleven innings to a 1 to 1 tie to-day, darkness preventing further play. Boston got its run in the sixth, when Janvin singled, stole second, and scored on Grainer's double. St. Louis' run came in the third, on Johnson's double and Plank's single. Boston won four of the five game series here.

St. Louis . . . 00100000000—1 7 2

At Chicago.
Cicotte had the better of a pitching duel with Walter Johnson to-day, and the Chicago Americans took the final game of the series by 4 to 1, making four in a row from Washington. Cicotte was effective at all stages, the only Washington run being the result of a triple by Foster and a long fly by Milan. The score:

Washington . . . 000001000—1 5 2
Chicago . . . 010000020—4 6 1
Batteries—Johnson and Almsmith; Cicotte and Schalk.

At Cleveland.
Cleveland made it three out of four from New York to-day, winning 7 to 3. The Indians knocked Caldwell and Russell from the box, but could do nothing with Love. New York drove Lambeth from the box, but was stopped by Bagby who allowed but two hits in six innings. Two home runs were made over the right field wall by Pipp and Speaker. Speaker's circuit drive was the first he ever made on the Cleveland grounds. The score:

ITALIAN TROOPS
NEARING TRIESTE

Cadorna's Right Wing Passes Mouth of the Timavo River

AUSTRIANS CAPTURED
Additional Prisoners to Number of Five Thousand and Taken

London, May 27.—The Italian army has been victorious again in its big offensive toward Trieste. Unwearied by previous efforts, Gen. Cadorna's infantry Friday stormed large sections of the Austrian second line of defence on the rocky hills of the Carso plateau and to the north held firmly against most violent counter-attacks all the captured ground on the Isonzo.

In this day of tremendous fighting the Italians took 3,500 fresh prisoners.

Following up their successes Friday, the Italians on Saturday smashed through the Austro-Hungarian positions between Jamiano and the Gulf of Trieste, passing the Montalcone-Duino railway north-east of San Giovanni, and establishing themselves within a few hundred yards of the village of Medeazza. North of Trieste, passing the Montalcone-Duino railway north-east of San Giovanni, and establishing themselves within a few hundred yards of the village of Medeazza. North of Trieste, passing the Montalcone-Duino railway north-east of San Giovanni, and establishing themselves within a few hundred yards of the village of Medeazza.

At the southern end of this front the Italians swept on to the plateau north of Duino, driving the Austrians from all the heights between the village of Flongar and Medeazza, which is straight north of Duino. This single success would be a splendid day's work for the terrain is of tremendous difficulty.

At the same time storming columns north and south of the plateau had also advanced, fighting through the trench systems at the mouth of the Timavo River, near Lokavac and San Giovanni, and also the Brestovca road, near Komarje.

Austro-Hungarians were taken prisoner.

The surest testimony to the strength of the Italian offensive is that since the first attack on the Isonzo on May 14 these troops have captured 24,619 Austrians, of whom 487 are officers. This is a total of prisoners equal to that taken by either the British or French in their offensives in a considerably longer space of time.

The Austrian general staff, too, bears witness to what a powerful machine the Italian army has now become, and what terrific blows it can deal. "Never in the two years of fighting just completed," says the Austrian official announcement, "has the heroic Isonzo army had to face greater efforts of the enemy."

ADVANCE A MILE.
On a six-mile front on the southern Carso, from the Gulf of Trieste to Castagnavizza, the Italian infantry renewed their attack yesterday afternoon and pushed forward everywhere. At some points the advance attained a depth of a mile, and this on a front of solid rock, honeycombed with caverns, studded with steel and concrete fortresses and bristling with cannon and machine guns.

At the southern end of this front the Italians swept on to the plateau north of Duino, driving the Austrians from all the heights between the village of Flongar and Medeazza, which is straight north of Duino. This single success would be a splendid day's work for the terrain is of tremendous difficulty.

At the same time storming columns north and south of the plateau had also advanced, fighting through the trench systems at the mouth of the Timavo River, near Lokavac and San Giovanni, and also the Brestovca road, near Komarje.

Still further to the north, on the main mass of the Carso plateau, Italian stubbornness in attack won a notable victory. The Austrian trench labyrinth east of Poscomalo, or Hudi Log, as terrible a position to assault as any German field fortress on the western front, was riddled by the Italian infantry with their bombs and bayonets. This enabled a column advancing from Versic to clamber to the summit of Hill 220, beside the Castagnavizza road and south-east of Boscomalo. Trenches near Castagnavizza also were taken.
