BRITISH STRENGTH

ay and various are the explan which have been given why itain is the most successful color ing power in the world. Perhaps the true explanation lies nearer the than most political student ose. It is perhaps indicated by altney Bigelow, the American travler and author, in a recently publishd article on Belgian atrocities, in the Congo Free State. Says Mr. Bige-

"I venture to think that if to-day ever Great Britain should find it within her sphere, she might rest as ed that every black chief from Tabe mountain to the desert of Sahara would range himself under that flag at the first sight of a British standthe proposition that cannot be put the scales and weighed, nor can I e it on a statistical foot-note. But have sampled this sentiment at points in Africa, north and wherever I have done so have found that among the black name of Great Britain was the se as justice and homesty . .

has no such hold upon he Uncle Sam has no such hold n his brown-yellow fellow-citizens Luzon. France needs two army ns to keep peace in Algeria alone, and as for the Congo, it is only ugh terrorism that the king of Belgians can keep his position .

This article is not written for Belor German journalists, for it ets little to address arguments to who are writing to order. But it may reach the eyes of the people have been suckled and reared or hatred of Great Britain, and it may make such people pause and revise their opinions."

THE LIQUOR LAW,

Says the Hamilton Spectator: If D. R. Ross, of Embro, is correct ly reported in the Toronto World, in was much more love of Ross than love of prohibition that induced him to remain out of the North Oxford contest, that Mr. Munro's election might be made more certain. Here is the interview as printed in the World: D. R. Ross, of Embro, whose opinion is entitled to respect inasmuch as he withdrew from the North Oxford election contest on receiving "assurances from a responsible party. that a measure satisfactory to the prohibitionists would be introduced at this session of the Legislature, the city on Saturday and told the World that he did not look for anything like a prohibitory mea-"But if we don't get what we voted for the Government will not receive the support of temperance cople," he remarked. This was the feeling of prohibitionists generally, he added. Half measures and jollies would not do. The Embro man asserted that he d not heard a word from anyone in the confidence of the Premier concerning the outlines of the proposed bill. He declined to say how he believed the Government would go, but his expectations were not very high. In fact, Mr. Ross is looking for another cold hand out. "Do you think Premier Ross can pass a bill that will meet the wants of the temperance people."

"No, I don't. I don't believe there are many temperance men in the House on either side. When it was proposed to change the conditions of the referendum there were only four men, and they were Conservatives

"Would you be satisfied with the abolition of the bar, and the licensing of the buffet with tables for the drinking people?"

"Certainly not; that will be no-thing. It will, in fact, be worse than no change. We don't want the drinking places to be made any more alluring by putting in tables around which drinkers sit. They might better stand before a bar and lleave when they have finished their drink ing. I would say such a change would be quite satisfactory to the

There was nothing in Mr. Ross nion that would lessen the evils of erance short of the prohibition of the traffic, and it will be a sore sappointment to thousands if the bar is not abolished by the Legislation the Government intends to bring down this session. We gather from that conversation test because he and the prohibitionists were promised something which he did not expect to get, and which he

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous. The thing to do is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Which thoroughly cleanse the blood, expelling all humors and building up the whole system. They cure. "I was greatly troubled with small belis, caused by working among the oil at the refinery. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me as the best blood medicine obtainable. I began taking it, and though many other remedies had failed to benefit me, three bottles of Hood's fully and permanently cured me." Amous Fisher, Emeric St., Sarnia, Oht.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

does not now expect to get. Which was very good of Mr. Ross, and we suppose that Premier Ross is profoundly grateful for the favor received. It is evident, however, from what Mir. Ross says, that the abolition of the bar and the substitution of the buffet was not what was promised. As he says, that would be adding com fort to the business of getting drink and would please neither the liquor sellers nor the prohibitionists because the bars can be abolished-a plan that was discussed years ago, and found great favor among those who deplor-ed the evils of intoxication, whether they were prohib tionists or not. That plan is to prohibit the selling of intoxicating drink, retail, for con tion on the premises; to have sold at shops and taken home—or away from the sellers' premises—just as groceries are sold and carried off. That would abolish the bar; and while it would be in no sense a prohibitory measure it would be approved by the prohibi-tion sts, for it would abolish the namely bar and its temptation and do away entirely with the treating habit. It may that that is what Premier Ross promised to do for Mr. Ross, and which Mr. Ross does not think Premier Ross would do, and does not think Premier Ross will do.

But it is more likely that Premier Ross will content himself with giving the regulation screws another turn, and making it more difficult for the retail dealer in liquor to make a decent living.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

Bishop DuMoulin's annual Lenten nessage to his flock contains a terrible arraignment of present-day o cial conditions, written with all his lordship's command of impressive eloquence, points out the Hamilton Herald. According to the good bishop the ostentatious extravagance and follies of the rich "recall Rome's worst days." The strife between la-it would not lessen drinking, and it | bor and capital is begetting passion would not please the liquor sellers which threaten the very structure of because it would vastly increase their running expenses; it would make many barrooms in houses which have now but one each.

But there is another plan by which

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. If she would be all that she may, she must guard well against the signs of ill health. Mrs. Brown all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MES. PINKHAM: — Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worm will make every motter wen, actually nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was; and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time, I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that, and built up my entire system. Ill I was indeed like a new woman.—Sincerely yours, Mrs. Cras. F. society. Professing Christians "spend days and nights, Sunday included, in gambling, with all its base accompanimenta" "Intemperance and impur ity abound." "Murder and suicide were never so prevalent." "Rever-ence is a vanished quality - neither age nor office commands it."

These gloomy, almost despairing remarks cannot be meant to apply to Canadian social conditions. They evidently refer more to conditions in the neighboring republic than to those upon the digestive organs—not upon their contents. Medicine should not do the stomach's work, but should make the stomach to the work nature intended it should do. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this as noother medicine can. They tone up the stomach, restore the weakened digestive organs and promote natural digestion. There is no doubt about this — it has been proved in thousands of cases that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion when all other medicines fail. Mr. Elelear Robidoux, St. Jerome, Que., offers his testimony to substantiate this. He says:—"For some gears, I was a great sufferer from indigestion. My appetite became irregular, and everything I ate felt like a weight on my stomach. I suffered much from pains in the stomach and was frequently seized with dizziness and severe head-aches. Nothing I tried did me a particle of good until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these, after taking them for about two months, completely cured me. It is nearly two years since I discontinued the use of the pills, and I have not since had the slightest return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure not only indigestion, but every trouble due to poor blood and shattered nerves. They will not fail if the treatment is given a fair trial. Don't take any pink colored substitute—don't take any pink colored substitute—don't take any pink colored substitute—in the full name printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. existing in Canada. For the terrible state of things which he describes, the bishop places large share of the blame upon the public school system. "Are not such terrors as we have mentioned," he asks, "largely the results of two generations of national education apart from mortality and religion? The Herald does not think so. They may be largely the results of a weakening of moral and religious restraints, but they cannot be the results of secular education, whether accompanied or unaccompanied with religious instruction. If the children of the last two generations have not received adequate religious instruction, whose is the fault? Not the fault of the secular authorities, surely, for it is not tells her story for the benefit of the duty of the secular authorities to provide religious instruction. That duty rests with the church (or the churches); and it seems to us that the oft-repeated complaint about the "godliness" of the public schools is an evidence and a virtual admission of weakness on the part of the churches. Why should the Christian shepherds look to the school boards to obey the divine command, "Feed my lambs"? That command was not given to school boards.

But the important point at pres is this: Is Bishop DuMoulin's picture of social conditions truthful? No doubt there is justification in fact for every separate statement that he makes; but there has never been a year since the world began that simlar statements could not be justly ap-

The social phenomena which he describes are the results of social development following the course of natural law. At no time in the history of the world has the rapid accumulation and concentration of wealth failed to be accompanied by social injustice, ferment, crime and misery such as the bishop has so eloquently pictured. In every age there have been good men who with prophetic tongue denounced the corruption and decadence of the times and predicted so-

Christian era-been followed by periods of moral regeneration and uplift, which left the race a little better,

upon the whole, than it was before

We do not believe there is any cause for alarm over present social conditions. What looks like the ebbing of the moral tide is merely the receding of a wave; the tide is coming in.

The history of morals goes to show that there is truth as well as poetry
