Bishop Tells Why Grouse Are Scarce

A Shediac correspondent to the Telegraph-Journal writes: Partridges have been scarce in Westmorland and Kent counties this fall, due mainly, it is said, to automobile parties shooting the birds in and out of season when they emerge from the woods to the main highways and by-roads early in the morning and at sunset.

Some hunters predict that the motor car means the extermination of the partridge in the Maritime Provinces, except in sections where vast wilderness exists. Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, who was here recently expressed the opinion that illegal shooting rather than disease was the real cause of the scarcity of partridges.

Indians Fishing On Their Reserves

That the Department of Indian Affairs has exclusive right to regulate or control fishing in streams flowing through Indian reserves was laid down in a decision by Magistrate A. Phillip, of North Vancouver District in acquitting Dominic Charles, Indian, on a charge of "gaffin" fish in the Capilano River, on the Squamish Reserve.

Notice of appeal was served by the Fisheries Department, which initiated the prosecution.

In commenting on the case Magistrate Phillip said he based his decision on the fact that from the findings the Fisheries Department had no jurisdiction whatever over Indians fishing on their reserves.

CANADA RUM'S DRIFT TO THE U. S. GAINS IN FORCE

The thirsty of the United States are consuming more Canadian hard liquor and beer than ever, despite the much heralded Canada-United States pact which has as its aim the halting of rum-running between these neighboring nations.

Canadian government figures just issued showed that the "wet goods" which passed out of Canada for illicit entry into the United States was valued at $5,996,318 for the first six months of the government fiscal year just ended. In 1924 the value of beer and liquor which passed through the Canadian Customs offices for entry into the United States was valued at $4,314,325. To date this year more "wet goods" has left Canada for the United States than at any time since war-time prohibition laws were passed on both sides of the international boundary line.

With the report that "big business and foremost politicians of the Dominion have been involved in international rum running and that startling developments are in the offing government figures reveal the fact that ale, beer and porter valued at $2,370,106 crossed the border through legal clearances, while hard liquor valued at $3,626,212 left this Dominion for the other side of the international boundary line.

The Canadian government admits that rum runners are credited with running a like amount of "wet goods" over the border. The government trade figures show that in six months 219,296 gallons of hard liquor and 1,659,802 gallons of ale, beer and porter legally left Canada for the United States.

That much of this liquor and beer fell into the hands of the United States prohibition authorities is a credited fact, but, according to officials on this side of the border, more "wet goods" than ever is crossing the international boundary line.

Rum runners admit that they are making titanic efforts to see that this Yuletide season will not be a dry one for those in the United States who would celebrate it as they did in the good old days. Much liquor and beer now are being placed at points of vantage on the St. Lawrence, Niagara, Detroit and St. Clair rivers, as well as along the Quebec and Maine frontier and on the western Canada boundary line, to be run into the United States at opportune times. The rum-runners openly assert that when the international waterways freeze up they expect to ship more of their "stuff" across the border on sleds than they have been doing on open water.

PROVINCIAL DISMISSALS GAZETTED

The regular issue of the Royal Gazette contains further indication of the change in government which took place as the result of the general election of August last. A list of dismissals for cause which includes eleven offices, is prominent. These offices are distributed throughout the Province. Some of the dismissals were announced at the time of the government meeting last week.

The Gazette also is of interest as containing a list of appointments to vendorships. A list is published which covers Saint John City and eight counties. This however is evidently only a partial list as the Gazette also contains numerous notices of appointment and six counties are not mentioned. The sections to which vendors are appointed are Saint John City, Restigouche, Madawaska, York, Kent, Westmorland, Albert, Gloucester and Carleton.

In York three vendors are named, all in Fredericton. They are Hunt & MacDonald, C. A. Burchill and C. H. Forbes.

Among the appointments is that of Abram Sherwood as stipendiary and police magistrate for Hillsborough. Mr. Sherwood is a former resident of Fredericton having been manager of the Fredericton & Grand Lake Railway and also manager of the local branch of the Dominion Express Co. and C. P. R. Telegraph Co.

Harry Crocker of Moncton has resigned as superintendent of the Employment Office in Moncton.

YOUR HEALTH

A few weeks ago a New England reader asked me to write about senile dementia. She told me of an unusual circumstance. In that one family the three cases of this disturbance, each patient being above 74 years of age.

My correspondent wants to know the cause and whether there is any help for this condition. She says there has been no apparent improvement from the treatment already given and wonders why.

There is an old saying that a man is no older than his arteries. There is a lot of truth in it.

Some persons grow old easily and sweetly. Others have hardening of the blood vessels, so bad sometimes as to make them brittle pipe-stems blow. If the break occurs in the brain the mind may be disturbed.

Even though the blood vessels remain elastic and fairly normal, there may be in the tissues of the brain other changes which are capable of disturbing the mind. With increasing age the brain substance may waste away and thus impair the normal action of that organ.

With the withering of the brain comes loss of memory, failure of emotional control and gradual weakening of the mind. The old-time alertness and quickness of thought disappear. Eventually the mind is like that of a little child.

As the condition progresses any peculiarities possessed by the victim become more marked. If he was quick tempered, he gets worse. If he was noisy, he becomes thunderous.

He cries and laughs, he becomes self-centered and terribly egotistical. He becomes suspicious of his family and nearest friends. Sometimes the most saintly of men may become profane and immodest. The best of husbands and fathers becomes a brute.

Not long ago an old friend of mine who has lost his mind from senile dementia sent word to me he was giving me a million dollars. Only a demented person gives me a million!

It is not surprising that several members of the same family, all well past forty, should have the same trouble. If they are closely related they are probably much alike in cell and fibre, in blood vessel equipment and in general habits. While it is an usual circumstance, I can see how it might readily happen because families.

"Big Game Hunter Lauds Canadian Rockies"

Col. Philip Moore, Princeton Graduate, big game hunter, war veteran, and mountain climber, is so well known in the Canadian Pacific Rockies that, as one guide put it, "he haunts a grizzly when it passes him and asks after its misdeeds and the cause."

Ever since Col. Moore first visited the mountainous regions of Alberta and British Columbia, he has managed to spend part of each year hunting, camping, and climbing mountains. He returned recently from a summer employed in Yoho Valley, where he added a few more miles to his 2,500 mile record on horseback as a member of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies.

The building of good roads through the mountains and the resultant growth in automobile traffic is a new feature which adds greatly to the interest in tourists. The opening of the Banff-Windermere road, and the road from Lake Louise to Wapta, thus making a splendid highway all the way from Calgary through the Rockies.

Horse pass and the valley of the Yoho, has given tourists glimpses of wonderful precipitous canyons topped by some of the most majestic ice-capped peaks in the Rockies.

Then, too, the growth of the bungalow camp idea has been phenomenal this season. Those whom the palatial summer hotels do not attract yield to the lure of log cabins, perched on the shore of a crystal lake, and shaded by overhanging mountain peaks. With a haversack on one's back, one may hike from camp to camp, or, if one does not carry the saddle, ride a pony along the leafy trails.

All these pleasures Col. Moore has proved, and intends to lecture this winter, as he has been doing for a number of years, about the marvellous beauty of his beloved mountains. He is not selfish. He wishes others to share the joys of the "hons trail" which has lured him into mountain fastnesses ever since he forsook the academic halls of Princeton.
