Address to Rev. J. K. Curtis, B.A.

At Wesley Church last night Rev. Mr. Curtis, the pastor, was agreeably surprised when the members of his Theological Class presented him with two sets of splendidly bound books and the accompanying address. The presentation was made by Mr. W Vey, and Mr. Curtis responded thanking them for the gift, but assured them that he had found sufficient reward in the consciousness of being able to help them. He gave them some really helpful advice about the work which they planned to do. He said that he would always follow with interest the future of each member.

ADDRESS. To Rev. J. K. Curtis, B.A. Dear Mr. Curtis The members of our Theological Class beg your acceptance of the accompanying gift as a slight token of their appreciation of your kind sinterest and gratitude for the benefit they have derived from compromising manner. At the presdeeply regret your departure; but hope that the same success which has, ing to undermine society. The inso marked your work among us may be characteristic of your work in the with which the marriage tie was cut future. We shall most earnestly pray that God's blessing may rest upon of States and Churches, except to the you and your work, and we feel sure that our prayers will be answered Signed for the eight members of the verses. The Pharisees who were always trying to entrap our Divine Saviour with their questions, asked Him if it was lawful for a man to put way his wife for any cause. The answer given by Our Saviour, summed up in a few words for all time to come the law of the church relating to marriage: "What, therefore, God hath joined together let no man put asunder." · His Grace explained at great length that the Catholic Church had always regarded Matrimony as a great Sacrament and had set her face against divorce in an unyour work among us as a class. We ent time, especially in the United States, the evil of divorce was threatcrease in divorce cases and the ease Catholic Church which had always een the bulwark of defence in regard to marriage. The sovereigns. princes and rulers of the world were now looking to the Catholic Church to save society from the on-rushing tide of divorce. They realize this to b the only hope. It was in pursuance o Sacrament of Marriage. It taught no new doctrine but rather confirmed amplified and extended the teaching of the Council of Trent on Matrimony This letter of His Holiness is known by the first two words contained in i iz., "Ne Temere." The papers and nagazines of America and England have abounded with articles on the 'Ne Temere" the past six months Most of the writers knew not what they were talking about. However being against the Pope and affording chance to have a fling at Rome, it was regarded by the enemies of the Church who control newspapers as "good copy." In the North of Ireland it was used as a timely weapon to kill Iome Rule sentiment, but when specific case was brought before the House of Commons and all the evidence heard it came to nothing. The next storm against the "Ne Temere" arose in Canada where a number of writers and declaimers set themselves up to denounce the "Roman Tyranny." His Holiness in the "Ne Temere" is simply confirming rules and regulations for the members of the Catholic Church in regard to the Sacrament of Marriage, viz., that unless the marriage is solemnized by a priest of the church it is no marriage but is nell and void in the eyes of the church. Quebec has the exercises of her religion, the conduct of her etc., fully guaranteed by the North American Act as well as by the terms of surrender when the French people British Rule. The Catholic Religion is the State religion of Quebec and no power can interefere with the exercise of the rights and privileges
