justments require to be made in the system, but no doubt these themselves in due course.

One of the chief drawbacks at present appears to be the delay laide Street in discharging pas- maining tickets. sengers, a matter which to a great extent can be overcome Rotarians Entertaining by the public themselves. It would considerably facilitate the service if passengers before boarding a car made certain that they had the proper fare or it is, very often a passenger length of time exposed to the elements. A little consideration would overcome this difficulty. Another way in which passenenter. Not only would this relieve the motorman of the trouble of giving directions to that effect, but it would prevent unnecessary obstruction of the aisle. A few individuals prefer to sit with their feet in the passage instead of under the seats, to the great inconvenience of those who have to step over such obstacles.

We received a complaint recently of a motorman who appears to have been more forcible than polite in directing the passengers boarding or alighting. In view of the fact that Runaway Auto the motormen have been themselves learning the ways of these cars, due allowance, we think, may be made for an action that was probably due to nervousness on his part rather than to a desire to be offensive, for it will be tion of Carter's Hill.
