The residence of the late Thos. Saunders, as will be seen by our advertisement, is to be sold by auction on Thursday, Oct. 30, when some of the furniture will also be disposed of.

Y. M. C. A.—The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the rooms to-night, beginning at 8 p.m. Business of great importance to be brought before the meeting. Members please attend.

PRIZE BUGGY.—Mr. Thomas Stovel, has purchased from Mr. Armstrong, of Guelph, a buggy made at the Guelph carriage works, which took the first prize at the Provincial Exhibition at London, and also at the Central Fair Guelph.

Mount Forest had the first storm of the season on Monday, in the shape of a fall of rain and snow, which lay upon the ground to the depth of two inches. The Confederates noticed one horse and enter on the streets, but did not anticipate it was very good sleighing.

PROMOTION.—Mr. Hamilton, Manager of the Ontario Bank at Mount Forest, has received the appointment of Deputy-Manager of the branch in Toronto. A number of business men of the village tender Mr. Hamilton a farewell dinner at Coyne's Hotel, on Friday evening, on the eve of his departure from Mount Forest.

SPLENDID SUCCESS.—Mr. A. O. Buchanan informs us that the Great sale of Dress Goods at the Fashionable West End is attracting an immense crowd of purchasers, and goods are moving off rapidly. Yesterday the Dress Department, as well as the Millinery and Mantle Showrooms were fairly besieged with customers. Our lady friends are asked not allow this sale to pass without having a look at the cheap goods offered.

BENJAMIN McCANSE, of Wingham, was brutally assaulted last week, whilst going to Turberville. A drunken man named Thos. Richardson challenged McCANSE to fight him. McCANSE refused, whereupon Richardson struck at him with a stick and tried to get the wagon to pull him out. McCANSE resisted, and with a pitchfork scratched Richardson on the shoulder. Richardson then picked up a stone and threw it at him, hitting him on the head just behind the ear and knocking him senseless. He then got into the wagon and beat him with a stick, and then made his escape. McCANSE is in a precarious condition. Richardson's whereabouts have not been discovered.

Affairs in Ottawa on Wednesday.
(Correspondence of the Globe.)
OTTAWA, Oct. 22.

Messrs. Dewdney and Thomson arrived this evening in the remarkably short time, from British Columbia, of ten days. They would have been here several hours sooner but for an accidental delay on the Michigan Central Railway.

There is still a good deal of talk and a lively interest maintained as to the whereabouts of Riel. A large number of persons, together with the Chief of the Dominion Police and several of his assistants, awaited the arrival of the afternoon train from Prescott, expecting that he would be a passenger.

The members from the east have now nearly all arrived. The arrivals from the west by the morning train will about complete the quota. It is believed there will be few absentees than usual, when the Speaker takes the chair.

(Correspondence of the Hamilton Times.)
OTTAWA, Oct. 22.

The Privy Council is in session all day. The Royal Commission report is finished, and has been forwarded to the Governor-General, the Senate, Commons and Secretary of State.

It is expected that Lord Dufferin will be named to the new bridge over the Rideau Canal to-morrow.

The Times of to-day continues to advocate the formation of a Province of Ottawa, to comprise the frontier counties on both sides of the river.

A caucus of independent members of Parliament will be held to-morrow morning, when action will be taken as to the proper course to be pursued by them in the present crisis. The third party will, if it acts together, be able to decide the fate of the Government.

It is stated on the street that Riel is in town, and will be present at the opening of the House.

Riel is actually in Ottawa, though his whereabouts are not known.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick members had a caucus this morning. My informant says that of the whole there is a majority of six going with the Opposition.

It is very generally believed that the Government will be defeated on the constitutional question.

Our Councillors and the Billiard

To the Editor of the Mercury.
Sir,—The Young Men's Christian Association acted wisely and well in preparing, getting signed, and sending in to the Town Council, on Monday evening, an influential petition against the requested extension of hours of billiard rooms being allowed to be kept open.

But for this action, it is to be feared, the evil designs of the billiard room party would have been accomplished, and our sons be still more exposed to the demoralizing influences of these gambling saloons.

But the Association must bear in mind that the snake is only "scotched"—not killed. The gamblers' patrons in the Council will "try! try again!"

Billiard rooms coin money for those who keep them, and enable the owners of houses used for such purposes to realize a larger rental, from those pockets, does it come? and there being an intimate relationship between such places and liquor shops, it is not to be wondered at that men financially interested, and those who have a fellow-feeling with them, but are reckless of the ruin of the young men of Guelph, and the misery that would be brought into the families of its citizens, should vote for an extension of hours.

This, however, must not be. The division list of Monday evening does one good; it tells us who, on this question, are our friends, and who our foes. Let every one who desires the well-being of the town take note of the names of the gamblers' patrons in the Council, and let the next election of councillors show them, by the votes cast, that they are not wanted. If the ratepayers of the wards these parties represent cannot bring forward, and elect as their representatives, in the council chamber, men who will, by their official acts, do the townspeople, those who send them, and the town, honor, they are in a pitiable plight indeed. Everyone must keep an eye on these men; we must not be caught napping. Perpetual vigilance is the price of liberty.

A PARENT.

Several witnesses in the Stokes case have testified that Fisk had threatened to kill Stokes.

Presentation.

The following report was sent us by a correspondent in Puelinich, and only reached us this (Thursday) morning, although the presentation took place six days since. Our friends who favour us with these communications should be more prompt, as we prefer to publish news before it gets stale. Our correspondent says:—

The young of both sexes of Section No. 10, Puelinich, to the number of from thirty to forty, took it in their heads to surprise Mr. McLaren at his castle of Balquhader on the evening of Friday last, and being successful in effecting an entrance, kept possession for some time. An address was read by Miss McFarlane from the youth of this school-section who attend the Sabbath-school under Mr. McLaren's charge. It expressed their sincere thanks for his unwearied attention and diligence in conducting the Sabbath-school for so many years of his own free will, which, considering also the long distance he had to travel, showed the deep interest he took in the welfare of his pupils. The Sabbath-school, said the speaker, is the pulpit's most important auxiliary, and can do service beyond the reach of the pulpit's influence. After expressing warm wishes for the welfare of Mr. McLaren and his family, the address concluded with desiring Mr. McLaren's acceptance of a bible, album, and purse as a small acknowledgment of the services he had rendered.

Mr. McLaren replied promptly, being taken completely by surprise, and at some length. When he came to the section fourteen years ago, he considered it was his duty to do something for the young in the way of religious instruction, as they were such a distance from the church which most of them attended that they could not take advantage of their pastor's bible classes. And he was glad to understand that his efforts had not been unsuccessful. Mr. G. McLoebie, student in divinity, who happened to be present, addressed his school-mates in a feeling manner. Ample justice was then done to loaded baskets, and a few hours spent very agreeably with music and social chat.

How to Pick out a Good Horse.

BY JOSE BILLINGS.

1. Lay the color be a sorrel, a roan, a red, a gray, a white, a black, a blue, a chestnut, a brown, a dapple, a spotted, a cream, a buckskin, or sum other good color.

2. Examine his ears; see that he has got few ears, and pound a tin pan close to him, to find out whether his hearing is good. All horses are dumb, but a deaf and dumb horse is not desirable.

3. Look well to his eyes; see that he has got a pupil in his eyes, and not too large a one neither; horses with too large pupils in their eyes are near-sighted, and kang see oats, and have to wear green goggles, and green goggles make a horse look to much like a tract pedlar.

4. Feel or hit neck with the inside of your right hand; see that the spinal column is well fattened, and runs the whole length of him from fore to aft—a horse without a good path spinal column from fore to aft, and with a weak (openish cudden)—ain't worth a well defined oss.

5. Put yure hand on his breast (this is allowable in the case of a quadruped); see if his harte can beat 70, squeeze his fore legs to see if he is well muscled; lift up his harte before feet, and see if there is any frog in them; frogs keep a horse's feet cool and sweet, just as they do a well or a spring or water.

6. Look well to his shoes; see what number he wears—number 8 is about right.

7. Run yure hand along the dividing ridge of his body, from the top of his withers to the commencement of his tail (or dorsum vertebra), and pinch him as you go along, to see if he knows how to kick.

8. Look on his hind legs for sum spavins, kurbs, windgalls, ringbones, scratches, quitters, thrush, grease-holes, through pins, springs, half-quarter cracks; see if he has got a whirl-bone; look for sum pin-hips; hunt for strains in the back tendons, let-downs and capped hocks.

9. Investigate his teeth; see if he aint 14 years old last May, with teeth filed down, and a six-year old black mark but into the top of them with a hot iron.

10. Smell of his breath, to see if he aint got sum glanders; look just back of his ears for signs of pole evil; pinch him on the top of his withers for a listula, and look sharp at both shoulders for a weeny.

11. Hook him to a wagon that rattles, drive him up to an Irishman and his wheel-barrow, meet a rag merchant with cow bells strung across the top of his cart, let an express train pass him at 45 miles to the hour, when he is sweaty heave a buffalo robe over him to keep off the cold, ride him with a umbril, highested, and learn his opinyun of these things.

12. Prospekt his wind, sarch diligintly for the heaves, ask if he is a roarer, and don't be afraid to find out if he is a whistler.

13. Be sure that he aint a krib biter, aint balky, aint a weaver, and don't pull at the halter.

These are a few simple things to be looked at in buying a good family horse; there is a grate menny other things to be looked at (at yure leisure) after you have bought him.

Good horses are skarse, and good men that deal in enny kind of horses are skarser.

Ask a man all about his wife, and he will tell you; examine him close for a Sunday-school teacher, and you will find him all on the square; send him to the Ottawa Legislature, and rejoice that money won't buy him; lend him seven hundred dollars in the highway, without witness or note; even swop dogs with him with perfect impunity; but when you buy a good family horse of him, young, sound and trew, watch the man close, and make up yure mind besides that that you will have to ask the Lord in forgive him.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God;" this famous saying was written in great english of heart, by the late Alexander Pope, just after buying a good family horse.

Bound yearly volumes of the Sunday Magazine, from 1864 to 1872, uniform in binding, in sets or separate volumes, at half the usual price, viz, $1 a volume, at Day's Book Store. The Sunday Magazine contains 800 pages large—bound in green and gold gret, &c.

Dominion Parliament.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.
Parliament met at three o'clock, when the following speech from the Throne was delivered:—
Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate and Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

In accordance with the intimation given by me at the close of last Session I have caused Parliament to be summoned at the earliest moment after the reception of the report of the Commissioners appointed by me to enquire into certain matters connected with the Canadian Pacific.

The evidence obtained under the Commission deserves careful consideration. The report will be laid before Parliament, and it will be for you then to determine whether it can be of any assistance to you.

A Bill for the consolidation and amendment of the laws in force in the several provinces relating to the representation of the people in Parliament will again be submitted to you. By the postponement of this measure from last Session you will have the advantage of including in its provision the Province of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia united to Canada, The Canadian Pacific Railway Company to whom a Royal Charter was granted have I regret to say been unable to make the financial arrangements necessary for the construction of that great undertaking, they have therefore executed a surrender of their charter, which I have accepted. You will, I trust, feel yourselves called upon to take steps to secure the early commencement and vigorous prosecution of the construction of that Railway, and thus to carry out in good faith the arrangement made with the Province of British Columbia. A measure for this purpose will be submitted for your consideration.

The extension of the bounds of the Dominion has caused a corresponding increase in the work of administration, and seems to call for additional assistance in Parliament as well as in the Executive Government. A bill on this subject will be laid before you.

Your attention will be invited to the consideration of a bill for the establishment of a General Court of Appeals. Measures relating to our navigable waters and to the inspection laws will be laid before you, as also a bill for the establishment of a dominion board of agriculture.

The subject of the law relating to Insolvency will necessarily engage your attention.

The efforts made by the several Provinces, as well as by the Dominion, to encourage emigration, have met with much success, and a large number of valuable settlers have been added to our population. I do not doubt that you will continue your liberal aid to this important object.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I have directed that the accounts of the past financial year shall be laid before you. The prosperous condition of our finances continues, and the revenue has been sufficient to meet all charges upon it.

The estimates for the ensuing year will be laid before you. They have been prepared with due regard to economy as well as to the efficiency of the public service; and I trust that the supplies which are necessary will be granted without inconvenience to the people.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate; Gentlemen of the House of Commons: Your best attention will, I don't not, be devoted to the important interests committed to your charge, and I am confident that your deliberations will redound to the advantage and prosperity of the country.

Our readers will remember that at the time of the Abyssinian war there was great comfort and encouragement taken over the fact that the throne of King Theodore, vacated by English bullets, was to be filled by the young and devout Prince Kassa. We do not think any one will be pleased to hear of his latest performance. He captured Abba Kassa, a rival Prince, some time ago, stuffed his ears with gun-cotton, and blew his head into atoms. This was not precisely what we might look for from even a private Christian gentleman, much less from an anointed monarch.

An old printer thus sums up his experience of the printing business:—"Working for forty editors and scores of authors, every one of whom is so sensitive as a sore thumb, and as lively and interesting as a hornet, no wonder that printers die young, and only pachydermatous, grizzly, mulish specimens get their share of life."

The Memphis mortuary reports show about one death per hour from yellow fever.

The Committee of Seventy have disbanded, notwithstanding Mayor Havemeyer's remonstrance.
