Read the Words of Sir William Mackenzie Concerning—

NEW YARDS FOR THE CANADIAN NORTHERN

Sir William Mackenzie Fells of Plans at Port Mann and

Toronto, June 18 .- Sir William Mackenzie on his return from a tour from the West announced important extensions. The president of the Canadian Northern stated that improvements to be made in the vicinity of Toronto will amount to many millions of dollars. They will include new yards and shops at Leaside Junction, near Toronto, and a new office building in Toronto where the head office of the company will be situated that will be one of the handsomest buildings in Toron-

Besides these extensions, the com-pany will also have large yards and shops, at Port Mann, B. C., smaller shops on the Rideau river, near Ottawa, with yards and a new policy of road extension throughout the prairie provinces that will also necessitate an expenditure of many millions of dol-lars. Referring to the proposed im-provement at Leaside Junction, Sir William stated that the chief shops of the new transcontinental line would be at that place and Port Mann. The shops, he said, on the Rideau River would also be important, but they would only supply the divisional point in which they were situated and would not be nearly as large as the other two. He said that the Port Mann shops would be the most important in Canada.

The president announced that the new yards and shops would be com-menced during this summer. Both in Port Mann and on the Rideau, earth will be broken almost immediately, while extensive work at Leaside wil be started a short time later.
