His Amendment Defeated by 13-A Bi -Mow the House Gets Ahead of Time. Among the first readings in the local legislature yesterday were bills by Mr. Ferris to limit the amount of costs of election trials, by Treasurer Ross to amend the act respecting the agricultural college so as to allow the government to fix the endorsement. Several private bills were read a third time and passed. reading. The commissioner explained that under a recent decision of the supreme court the inland fisheries hitherto supposed to be under the control of the dominion were under the jurisdiction of the province. The bill empowered the commission crown lands to take control of the leasing ferred to, but the unequal distribution of the unique of inland fisheries. It pro-

Mr. Fraser urged that irrespective of any revenue considerations the duty of regulating the fisheries devolved upon the government under the supreme court doci-sion, and could not be ignored. Messrs. Creighton and Merrick opposed the bill mainly on the ground that it would entail a loss of revenue. The latter thought taken to prevent the province sustaining any loss. On a division being taken the bill was read a second time by a vote of 41

It was then proposed to go into committee of supply, but Mr. Meredith asked for delay-until after recess and suggested that they should "make it 6 o'clock." The hands of the time piece pointed to 5 25, but by one of those constitutional fictions characteristic of parliamentary institutions it was unanimously voted "6 o'clock" and able extravagance.

Hon. A. M. Ross replied, defending the government's position on the ground that special favors were given to other prov-inces year after year without any equiva-lent being given to Ontario. The oppo-sition leader, he said, was the advocate of direct taxation. He reviewed the financial situation and the frequent additional subidies and grants made in answer to the importunity of the other members of the dominion, and urged that Ontario should rress for a readjustment of the financial

A Jaunt for a Jury. The case of Baldwin v. Diggon occupied the attention of Chief Justice Cameron and a jury all of yesterday at the civil assize court. The executors of the late John Baldwin claim $2000 from the defendant John Diggon for the value of some trees which the plaintiffs claim were cut down on their property which was leased by defendant. They also ask for an annulment of the lease. After hearing the evidence and addresses of counce, the chief justice con-cluded the jury should visit the place before they could form an intelligent opinion, from the conflicting evidence given, as to the actual value of the trees cut down on the premises. Accordingly the jury, a tended by their satellites the tipstaffs, will enjoy a ride to the property, which is situated north of the Davenport road, this Compensation for Removing Tollgates The joint committees appointed by the city and county councils met in county clerk Eakin's office yesterday to decide as to what compensation the county is entitled to for the probable loss of tolls by the removal of the tollgates in St. Paul's and St. Matthew's wards. The tollgate in the former was removed from the railway crossing to the northern city limits, and in the latter from the Kingston road railway crossing to Donaidson's corners. The arbitrators, after a discussion which lasted nearly all day, decided that the city should pay the county $3000 as compensation.

Charlie Wallace of Michipicoten Fame Released From the Central. When Stipendiary magistrate Frank Moberley of Michipicoten sentenced Char lie Wallace, the notorious whisky pedlar and general tough, to the central prison for 18 months recently, he thought he had earned the thanks of the sterile region there and thereabouts. So indeed he would, had he conducted the case against Wallace properly. But justice in that region is not always what it might be, and yesterday Warden Massis had to reluctantly unlock Wallace's cell door and give him liberty. Wallace seemed all along to be aware that he was irregularly committed, and boasted on the way down from Michipicoten that he would soon be at large again. He evi-dently knows a proper commitment when dently knows a proper commitment when he sees it, and no sooner did he reach To ronto than he engaged the services of N. G. Bigelow, who brought the matter before Judge Rose at Osgoode hall.
