BOOKS.

Never, under any circumstances, read a bad book; and never spend a serious hour in reading a second rate book. No words can overstate the mischief of bad reading.

A bad book will often haunt a man his whole life long. It is often remembered when much that is better is forgotten; it intrudes itself at the most solemn moments, and contaminates the best feelings and emotions. Reading trashy, second rate books is a grievous waste of time, also.

In the first place, there are a great many more first-rate books than ever you can master; and, in the second place, you cannot read an inferior book without giving up an opportunity of reading a good one.

Books, remember, are friends; books affect character; and you can as little neglect your duty in respect of this as you can safely neglect any other moral duty that is cast upon you.—Coleridge.

FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS.

A young Greek in a Mission Sunday-school in Washington, D. C., the son of a priest in Sparta, was visited at his place of business by his teacher, who inquired kindly after his welfare. The young man was surprised, and said: "You come out in hot day to teach me; I think you care some for me. But here you come way down in dirty street to find me, now I know you care for me." Tears were in his eyes as he continued: "I do no more business to-night—I go home; I write my father letter—I say, now I know my teacher care for me. I say to my father he shall go in church and make prayer for you."—World Wide Missions.

Amanda Smith says there are just two things in the Bible; they are, "It shall come to pass" and "It came to pass."
