

Here and Away.

H. R. FRASER goes to British Columbia, A. J. McLeod to Banff, and J. J. Elliott to Spanish River Mills, Algoma, under the Home Mission Committee.

JUST as this number goes to press the announcement is made of a bequest to Knox College of a block of city property from the estate of the late Mr. Samuel Bowman, Toronto. The value of the property is not known definitely as yet, but is at least $10,000, and may be twice that sum.

REV. R. Y. THOMSON will leave for Vancouver, B.C., in a few weeks, where he intends remaining until College reopens in October. The students all hope that his lectures may extend throughout the entire session next year. No lectures are more popular and few could be more helpful than those on Old Testament Introduction.

PRESS of matter this month necessitates the holding over of interesting articles already in type. May number will contain several important articles, among others one by Rev. Dr. Kellogg on ministerial education, which should be studied by every student, present and prospective, and every minister responsible for the examination and recommendation of students.

THE Annual Supper was "a brilliant success" again this year. Everything was of the best. The students were present nearly to a man; and the favored graduates were representative. A full report is crowded out, but if old students will read the reports of other years, changing the names of speakers, and adding a little to the good-fellowship, they will have a faithful account of this year's Supper.

THE closing of Presbyterian College, Montreal, for session 1887-88, took place on the 4th inst. The graduating class numbers twelve, probably the largest yet. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred, by examination, on Rev. G. E. Ackerman, B.D., Buffalo, N.Y., and causa honoris on Rev. James Robertson, Superintendent of North-West Missions; Rev. R. H. Warden, Montreal, and Rev. James Watson, M.A., Huntingdon, P.Q.

THE Bloor St. congregation, after worshipping for nearly a year in Convocation Hall, have taken possession of their new church. The farewell meeting was held in the College last week. A. J. McLeod, who has had charge of the Bible Class, was presented by the members of the class with a set of Alford's Greek Testament. The new congregation starts out with every prospect of success. Knox College has been graduating a large class of ministers every year for forty-three years; this is the first time she has graduated a full-fledged congregation.
