

An Ideal Husband.

104. An Ideal Husband is not the man who worships women, or calls her angel, neither is it he who thinks woman was made for his especial benefit to satisfy his wants, needs and appetites, nor he who thinks she was not created his equal in rights and brains. But rather he who cherishes with holy reverence the woman who went down to the gates of death that he might have life, who judges other women as he would have all men judge her. Worthy respect, the highest honor, the profoundest love. A man strong in this characteristic constitutes an Ideal Husband.

105. The kind of a man I think will make an Ideal Husband, is a man that provides good for his family, has good judgment and spends part of his leisure time at home and not deceive his wife in any way, or get intoxicated. He should appreciate the kindness and help of his wife, he should be polite and use good language; he should reason with his wife when he is angry, and he should be ever ready to forgive, and kind-hearted, loving and true.

106. My Ideal Husband must be a Christian, must be pure in word and deed, and must possess a refinement and culture equal to my own. In the family he must be loving, patient, considerate, generous, and just. He must allow me to control household expenses, giving me such knowledge of his business as will enable me to keep within proper limits. In society, he must be genial and helpful, striving to lift himself and others to a higher plane. In business he must be strictly upright, deserving success even though he may not win it, and commanding respect always.

ST. VITUS' DANCE.—Brockville, May 11, '92. The Dr. Howard Med. Co., Brockville: I wish to testify to the action of your Blood Builder Pills in the case of my little girl, Alice. She had St. Vitus' Dance, following on an attack of scarlet fever. Having heard your Pills favorably spoken of in such cases. I procured a supply, and gave them to my little girl. The result was prompt and gratifying. She was relieved almost immediately, and was entirely cured before she had finished two boxes. I can recommend them as a genuine remedy. Yours truly, MRS. W. OSLER.
