

Science Apparatus and the European War

As all Science Teachers are aware, Germany has for years been the largest manufacturer of Science Apparatus, particularly Glassware and Chemicals. The War in Europe has thus entirely cut off the chief source of supply for such materials, causing a temporary shortage.

While it will be some time before everything can be satisfactorily replaced—in fact, some articles may never be—you will be pleased to know that we are manufacturing a considerable number of lines right in Toronto, and have located firms in other countries who can supply Apparatus of a quality suitable for use in Canadian Educational Institutions.

We are, therefore, in a position to take care of your requirements, and shall be glad to receive your orders or to furnish quotations. You are assured of prompt and careful attention to your orders, and the utmost consideration in regard to prices.

Make up a list of the equipment you wish to obtain, and give us an opportunity of proving our service. If you have not yet obtained our 1914 Catalogue of Physical, Chemical and Biological Apparatus, write for a copy at once.
