If you ask any expert at any fuel-libricant facility in air service, which manner of fuel delivery is the best, the answer you will undoubtedly receive is "a pipe." It reduces waste, saves fuel, is less labour and resources-intensive. It is unfortunate that 'pipes' do not exist everywhere, and not every site is at present suitable for them, but this way of transporting fuel for aircraft is definitely the way of the future.

Vozdushnyi Transport
7 June 1988
Page 1 (abridged)

speak, 'nourishment system' for a long-reimdenomeana bus fuel pipeline is one of the most important steps in the reconstructed bedden hereimbourdentop ent to ent
the reconstructed bedden hereimbourdentop ent to ent

More than a quarter of the fuel for all civic transportation of the country today is delivered of the gastnappelines stemmentaled in and oil giology beservations stemmentaled in and oil giology beservation and the country today is the Vorkuta higher feel pipeline built takeographical to
the vorkuta higher feel pipeline built takeographical to railroad bisport is on a more modest scale its
railroad bisport is on a more modest scale its
railroad bisport is on a more modest scale its railroad bisport in the feel with the steel and anathrable and materials, and olyes a high firence on a more modest country on the country of the feel with the steel and the same and the scale of the country of the feel with the steel and the same and the steel and the same that a study in the pensa and syntywhar although the feel and syntywhar although the country in the pensa and syntywhar although the country of t