

September 6th, 1927.

President Frank L. McVey,
Central University of Kentucky,
Danville, Kentucky.

My dear President McVey:-

Thank you very much for your note of August 29th, which I found on my desk when I returned to the office this morning. I am extremely sorry that I was not here a week ago to welcome you to McGill.

I appreciate greatly your kind remarks about our University and for the improvements you were good enough to notice. While I would like very much to go to Kentucky some time it is impossible for me to give any indication as to when that pleasure will be mine.

With all kind wishes,
I am,

Yours faithfully,