"PEEPER" CHASED BY NORTH END MAN

Country Girl on Visit Here Has An Experience With Street Prowler; Comes Out Winner

A few nights ago an individual was seen doing a "peeping act" into the house of a well known citizen of Metcalf street. The man of the house gave chase in his stocking feet, without hat or coat, but failed to land his quarry. The fugitive was described as having been rather slight and not very tall.

On Tuesday night last the individual again appeared, and disappeared. A country girl was too quick for him and he made him a coward. In a north end store yesterday, she told the story of the meeting. She was coming from Main street on to Victoria, she said, and was half way along Durham street, when she was surprised by the sudden appearance of a man clad in a long, light-colored raincoat. She said that she readily and easily did he approach, that he must have had rubber heels to his shoes. She did not say how she got clear of him, but she is an athletic girl, and the inference is that he retired rather sorry for the encounter. The young woman had just come from a supper district to spend a day or two before the season closed, and was returning to relatives when she had the encounter.

Capt. Harry T. Boyd Promoted to Command of Ten Thousand Passenger Steamer

The many St. John friends of Captain Harry T. Boyd, a former north end resident, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the command of one of the finest passenger steamers on the Atlantic coast, the new steamer Antilles, of the Southern Pacific S. S. Co's fleet, which ply between New York and New Orleans. The new steamer is 500 feet long and 10,000 tons register.

Captain Boyd left St. John about four years ago. He is a son of a former well known baker in the North End, and his wife was Miss Colwell of the west end.

For a number of years he sailed out of St. John as first officer in sailing vessels of the Thomson fleet, and on going to New York took a position as second mate in the Southern Pacific Company's service. He was promoted to mate and then to master of the passenger steamer Chulmette remaining in command of her for about three years. About a fortnight ago he was placed in charge of the big new steamer Antilles, which is said to be the finest passenger steamer on the Atlantic coast.

ONE COMPANY TO CONTROL ALL BATTLE LINERS

The Yarmouth Herald says that at the meeting of the shareholders of the steamers forming the Battle Line, held here on Friday evening, as announced in the Herald, a resolution was passed to form a new company combining all the steamers. Official appraisers will value each steamer in England, and the gross amount will form the amount of capital of the new company. The insurance will be largely reduced, as should a loss occur the amount will be scattered among all the shareholders, which will be as much advantage as the respective amounts are at present.

It is also understood that the steamers are to be placed in commission as soon as possible; two of them—the Eretria and Himeria—already being chartered and nearly ready for sea.
