Member of St. John Family That is Playing Full Part A SPARTAN MOTHER Word Came Today From Ottawa to Spar Cove Road Home—Mother Has 22 Relatives in Uniform

"My boy is dead, but he died the death of a hero," said Mrs. Glass, wife of James J. Glass, 108 Spar Cove road this morning when she received from Ottawa news telling of the death of her son, Private Walter H. Glass, 26th battalion, killed in action on October 27. "I would sooner have one dead hero in my family," she continued, "than a dozen cowards."

The telegram from Ottawa was signed by the adjutant general and conveyed the official reports of the death of the son of the late Mr. Glass. He was 18 years of age, born in Manchester, Eng., and before enlisting had been employed by the St. John family. He was the only son of the late Mr. Glass, who was a veteran of the Crimean war.

The question is to come up through a motion to be introduced by the Milwaukee, Wis., delegates of brewers workers to oust from the floor of future conventions, fraternal delegates of religious organizations, including the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, who were seated at the opening session yesterday, by unanimous approval of the report of the committee on credentials.

MILITARY CROSS LIKELY FOR CAMPBELLTON OFFICER

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The third artillery brigade in command of Lt. Col. J. H. Mitchell of Toronto, and composed mainly of Toronto and New Brunswick men, took part in the "big drive" on the western front on Sept. 25 and succeeding days. An account of the fighting by the Canadians has been brought here by Lt. H. M. E. Darling of Montreal, who was a passenger on the steamer Mississauga. He said the third brigade was stationed at the extreme left of the allied line near Neuve Eglise and poured a steady stream of shells into the German first, second and third line trenches. Lt. Darling described how Lt. O. A. Mowat of Campbellton, N. B., took his gun to the first line trenches and held his position through a perfect rain of shells which demolished his shelter. It is probable he will get the military cross. [Mention of Lt. Mowat's exploit was made in the Times the other day.]

NEW LORD MAYOR TAKES OFFICE TODAY

London Procession Chiefly Military—Canadians Have Part in It

London, Nov. 9.—Notwithstanding wet weather, immense crowds gathered today to witness the procession in connection with the inauguration of Sir Charles C. Wakefield as Lord Mayor of London. The procession was longer than in times of peace, although it lacked the usual pageantry. It was mainly of carriages and other military character. The occasion was utilized for recruiting, and meetings were held along the route. Four captured German guns and the anti-aircraft corps of London with its guns, were a conspicuous feature. Twenty-five hundred soldiers, representing all contingents of troops now in England, were in line. The Canadians had represented the parade in the person of Premier Asquith and other members of the cabinet.

ST. PETER'S HIGH TEA WELL OPENED IN HALL LAST NIGHT

The large number of people present last evening at the opening of St. Peter's annual high tea in St. Peter's hall, Elm street, augurs well for its success. Among those present were His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, and Rev. William Dicks of the Cathedral. The hall was artistically decorated and presented a very pretty appearance. The two tables were green—with their beautiful trimmings called forth many favorable comments.

During the evening St. Peter's Y. M. C. A. orchestra furnished a pleasing programme. Among the selections were "The Light Cavalry," "Pet and Peasant," "Joys of Summer," waltzes and several popular marches. The orchestra will be present every evening.

WILL SET ST. JOHN A TALKING TOMORROW

"The Isle of Regeneration," which is to be the big feature for tomorrow and Thursday at the Imperial is another of those stupendous Vitaphones in which "A Million Bids," "My Official Wife," and "The Juggermatt are classed. It is certainly a picture of superlative merit with Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno the leading players. The picture commences one hour and a half in the showings and with Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady's unique story of two castaways on an uninhabited island in the Southern Pacific. One castaway was the baby boy of a rich Virginian family touring the world and the other a society belle of intellect who escaped from the yacht of a man whom she discovered to be false. Her twenty years elapsed between the manning of the shipwrecked vessel and the escape of the young woman. There follow under these peculiar circumstances a marvelous story, the society girl's fantastic ideas of love, truthfulness and Christianity, undergo a wonderful change. It is a marvelous story, something that will excite the widest and most interested comment.
