MURDER ALLEGED

Slaying and Seizure on Another Vessel in Retaliation for Cutting of Prices.

(Canadian Press.) Halifax, N. S., July 12.—Conflicting reports continue to surround the alleged piratical attack on the French steamer Mulhouse, which put into port on last Tuesday, reporting the loss of from half a million to a million dollars worth of liquor and cash in Rum Row, late last month.

An investigation was opened yesterday under the direction of Emile Gaboury, French consul general, but was adjourned and no statement was given out, although it was intimated by those in authority, that the facts would be much more astounding than the reports already circulated.

The most sensational report that leaked out yesterday was that three officers of the Mulhouse were so affected by their experiences at the hands of the pirates, that they lost their reason, and were taken by a French cruiser to St. Pierre for medical attention.

Representatives of owners of both vessel and cargo declined to make any statement relative to the reported story but admitted that the liquor had disappeared under unusual circumstances.

Mrs. Pierson declared that the estate consists entirely of personal property, and that the only heirs-at-law are King and a brother, Henry S. Ayrer. Mr. Ayrer was born in Lowell, Mass., Sept. 12, 1851, and died in Boston, June 10 last.

Woodworth Arouses Ire of Maritime Members by His Pessimistic Strain

(By Canadian Press.) Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—Premier King informed the House of Commons last night that the admission of Japanese "wives" to Canada was being taken up with the Japanese Government.

The Canadian Government was not admitting Japanese contract laborers, and did not intend to, but he pointed out that the feeling between the United States and Japan at the present moment was "somewhat tense," and that Canada ought to take account of that circumstance.

"I believe at the moment the Japanese are very friendly toward us," Mr. King said, "and that if our commercial agencies will take advantage of the psychology of the situation there is a chance for Canada to develop immensely the trade between Canada and Japan."

"We are endeavoring to secure, by diplomatic methods, what perhaps our friends to the south of us have despaired of obtaining in that way."

The Premier admitted that the immigration Department seemed not to have very accurate statistics as to the annual increase of the Japanese population. He promised to see to it that these figures were obtained in a more thorough manner, and should they disclose conditions such as Mr. Neil suggested, to take into consideration legislation to do away with the gentlemen's agreement at present in force.
