PARTNERSHIP OF 60 YEARS ENDED TODAY BY DEATH

Wm. H. Colwell Passes Away
in 84th Year Within a Few Days of 61st Wedding Anniversary.

Many friends of William H. Colwell will regret to learn of his death, which occurred at 6:20 a.m. this morning at his residence, 144 Douglas Avenue, following an illness of only eleven days. Mr. Colwell, who was eighty-three years of age, moved to this city thirty years ago from Carleton where he was born on January 16, 1838. He retired from business at Pleasant Point, N. B., four years ago. He is survived by his wife, one brother, Levi, of Carleton, one son, R. B., a prominent business man of Halifax; and six daughters, Mrs. W. C. Vincent and Mrs. P. C. Reed, of Regina, Miss Annie E. Colwell of Newton, Mass., and Miss Nettie G. and Miss Edna L. Colwell at home. Mr. Colwell was for several years a highly respected deacon of the German street Baptist Church. Previous to that he had been a deacon of the Ludlow street Baptist Church and superintendent of the Sunday school there for many years. In politics he was a staunch Conservative, serving his party well and faithfully always. He had a keen interest in the welfare of his city and country. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. for the purpose, said he was within four days of celebrating their sixty-first wedding anniversary.

CASE ABOUT WAGES OF COOK ON STEAMSHIP

In Admiralty, before Chief Justice Sir Douglas Haig this morning, the case of Albert Kouane vs the steamer Maple-court was heard, a claim for wages amounting to about $275 brought by the plaintiff, a native of the West Indies, who claims as cook for work done. Kouane is French and the services of an interpreter were required. A. Richard acting in this capacity.

The plaintiff says that after shipping at Newport News, he went to England on the vessel and that there the captain, after releasing him, undertook to hire him again, but before he could sign articles as being re-engaged as cook the British Board of Trade officials at Liverpool stepped in to prevent it, saying that Kouane had not the necessary license for the purpose. He said he sought the French consul and was told that the captain of the steamer would have to take him back as passenger. He said he went on in this capacity but soon after leaving port was again engaged as cook. His claim for wages is based upon the original scale while the defence is willing to pay under the scale which would have prevailed from Liverpool.

F. R. Taylor, K. C., appears for the steamer and J. F. Ford for the plaintiff. The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

MAKE EFFORT TO AVERT HANGING OF CHINESE SLAYER

DEFENCE IS BEGUN; PARIS ON STAND

Paris said he was brought before Hattie Levine three or four times. The first time was when he was arrested on the Westfield road. He heard her say, "No." When brought back from Truro he was again brought before her, but did not hear her say anything.

The witness said he never had a khaki shirt since he had been in St. John, nor had he ever owned a pair of khaki riding breeches. He identified a pair of khaki trousers produced in court as his. He said he did not wear them in Truro, but wore a blue suit.

Cross-Examination.

Cross-examined by Attorney-General Byrne, Paris said he was called "Jack the Witch" as a nickname. He said he got this name from the fact that when a youngster he used to follow a chap around who was called "Jack the Witch."

He said he told the same story at this trial, but he told more on the first trial. He said he didn't have a chance, to tell all he told on the first trial.

"You will have an opportunity to tell it," said the attorney-general.

Paris said he remembered telling Mr. Vernon at the last trial that he had not asked Humphrey to help him bury a girl. He said he did not buy a ticket for Truro on July 23, but he paid his way to the conductor. He paid it to the conductor who was named Glassy or Gillespie. He gave a $10 bill and got back $4.80 or $4.90. He said he had no idea where the conductor lived. He did not know that he lived in Truro.

To Mr. Byrne, Paris said he was in Truro on August 5. He corrected him by saying he was in West St. John on August 5 and August 6, at his home, and hauling ashes for people on De Monts street, the minister at Queen Square, and a man on the Sand Cove road—about eleven people altogether.

He said he could not give the names of the people he hauled ashes for on August 6. He said he had eleven names, but could not give all their names. He remembered hauling from a Mr. Mitchell's house, from a bakery, from a house in Ludlow street. He hauled the ashes to the mill pond. He said he wore khaki pants and a military tunic, and light soft hat similar to that produced in court.

On August 7, he said, he was in West St. John, and was in the city or Carleton on August 8. He thought he went fire-fighting on August 8.

He said he remembered the day Sadie McAuley's body was found. He said that at the last trial he swore that Williamson roved him across the river on the night of August 9 or 10. He said that he had sworn that Williamson took him over on the fourth. Asked to explain, he said he must have got things mixed up. He said it was after the finding of Sadie McAuley's body that he went to the Westfield fire. He said that he was not sure that it was on the 19th he returned with the detectives. He said he ducked his head when the police approached, as there was something wrong with the truck on which he was riding.

Paris said it was on the day he was brought back that Hattie Levine saw him and said "No." When he was brought back to St. John in September he saw Hattie Levine again, but did not hear her say anything. Paris said he then had a mustache.

Paris said he was at the Truro railway station on Wednesday, July 27, but said he did not see Archie Paris there on that date. He said it was not true that he had and McDonald for $2 on August 1, telling him that he had just come back from Truro. He said he was not at the railway station on the night of Sunday, July 31. He said he left "the town" for his home on "the island" on August 2.

He said he remembered August 2 very well. He said he knew it was on that day that Sadie McNeely was murdered, and he had no doubts according to the evidence, that she was outraged before he was killed.

He said he had no doubt that Hattie Levine was the girl who was with Sadie McAuley when she was murdered in the park. He did not know Hattie Levine until after she had seen Paris; a policeman told him in the jail who she was.

Paris said he was not picking berries on August 2. He was picking berries in July, he said.

He said that Mrs. Craft, Mr. and Mrs. Rivers and Mrs. Gerow said that they were in West St. John on the evening of August 2, but he said it was on the afternoon of that day he sold gaso- line in Truro. He said that he was to Spencer's garage on August 2, but was not in the garage. He was arrested on the theft of this gas later, and had a preliminary hearing in Truro. Louis Bayard was the man who went to the garage with him.

Asked if Bayard gave evidence that he (Bayard) was at Spencer's garage on July 29, and saw Paris and Bayard there, Paris said he did not remember. The court adjourned until 2:30.

CHARGE AGAINST AN INSPECTOR

Montreal, Nov. 24.—A serious charge was laid yesterday against Inspector Eli Girard, employed by the Quebec Liquor commission at Longue Pointe, by Rene Chervet, K. C. Just after his client Abraham Winters, had been sentenced by Chief Justice Desautel to pay a $1,000 fine for illegally transporting liquor. The arrest of Winters had been made by Inspector Girard at Longue Pointe, on October 4. Mr. Chervet contended that the inspector, while apprehending Winters on charge of transporting liquor, had allowed another alcoholic consignment valued at $2,000 to pass unmo- lested. The lawyer said he in- tended to lay the matter before the commission.

A LITTLE CARE WILL PREVENT MUCH TROUBLE

The secretary of the Board of Trade has received from the traffic manager of the Dominion Express Company a letter stating that an analysis of unde- livered shipments showed that in thir- teen Canadian cities during August, 1070 shipments were undelivered when received by the express agents because of the lack of street addresses of consignees or because of improper addresses. He adds that most of the packages were eventually delivered but with great de- lay. He stresses the point that business houses and others shipping to the larger cities should take care to have the cor- rect address of consignees plainly marked on the packages.
