He was in the front room when he got the money and handed it to his elder wife Di See to put away for him, as he was unable to do so himself. He saw her conceal it beneath the blanket on a couch in the corner of the room. Besides this sum he had $30 in the pocket of his coat, which he hung up on the wall near the foot of his bed when he retired. He first knew the money was missing between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning he was attacked. He had an insurance policy in the New York Life Insurance Company. It was for $1,000, and in favor of his younger wife, Jung See, He had known the accused for about two years, but never had any trouble with him.
