

FOR THE WELL-BEING OF THE COUNTRY

MAIN DEFECTS FOUND IN OUR DAIRY BUTTER

Bad Flavor, Staleness, Uneven Color, and Poor Packing.

CREAMERY METHODS MORE SCIENTIFIC

Items in Practice That Dairy
Buttermakers Might Adopt
With Profit.

"Dairy" buttermaking, or the making of butter on the farm is practiced here and there by a few dairymen, but it is not a general practice in this country as it is in some of the other countries of the world. The butter made in this country is not so much a thing of the past as it is in some of the other countries of the world. The butter made in this country is not so much a thing of the past as it is in some of the other countries of the world.

The main defects in dairy butter as compared with creamery butter are: (1) Bad flavor, (2) Staleness, (3) Uneven color, and (4) Poor packing. These defects are caused by various factors, including the quality of the milk, the method of creaming, and the method of packing.

How many live stock producers know that out of every 500 meat animals sold on the public stock yards, about 254 are bought by packing firms? This is a general way, of course, they are not all bought by packing firms, but it is a general way.

Packing Firms Chief Live Stock Buyers

Over Fifty Per Cent. Are Purchased by the Big Packing Concerns.
