Yours, very truly truly truly W. A. LOOKHART. BUADAR CUTHRIE & HEVENOR, To the Electors of the City of Saint John. FANCY 20 TUES Cake & Pastry Bakers Choice Dairy Butter CAPTAIN JAMES HOBBS 64 Charlotte Street, OF CALIFORNIA, ST. JOHN, N. B withat, a very agreeable presence, and qualities of oratory and business shifty which have rendered him a valuable colleague. Mr. Fortescue was Irish Secretary when the schemes for disestablishing the Irish Church and reforming the Irish land were carried through Parliament; to him it was especially committed to pilet them in the lower House; and he certainly acquitted himself of the task well. He displayed great legislative skill and resource, refused to lose his temper, and may justly be regarded as the special representative of Irish conciliation in the Cabinet and the House. And yet, at the first opportunity, his old constituency of Louth not only turns him out into the cold, but elects two flaring Home Rulers over his head and even places his Liberal ally above him on the poll! Such, the Gladstone Liberals are indignantly exclaiming, is Irish gratifude; an Irish berough rejects the impersonation of the English desire to conciliate Irishand. So Mr. Fortescue, whom every one likes personally, is to be consoled with a persue, and will transfer his decidedly ornamental person and agreeable presence to the screne sphere of the hereditary chamber; and so, probably, his political career ands, with the grateful acceptance of a coronet.

A QUERN OF SOURTY.

Happily the most interesting circumstance attending Mr. Fortescue's public life will remain. However useful he may have been as a Minister, his utility in that capacity has not been comparable to that arising from the fact that he is the limitand of Frances Counters Watdegrave. Palmerston in London drawing-rooms and political connects. Had it not been for her it is quite probable that Mr. Chichester Fortescue, despite his undoubted talents, would not have risen above an Under Secretary-ship or a Commissionership of Works. OLARET WINE, mar H ... HILYARD & RUDDOCK. at the Election in April hext, and respond to the solicit your votes. (Nearly opposite Trinity Church), ble that Mr. Chichester Fortesche, destinate his undoubted talents, would not have risen above an Under Secretary ship or a Commissionership of Works. She has used the powers conferred by social supremacy to actively advance; the party interests of the Liberals, and especially to keep Mr. Chichester Fortesche prominently on the cards for promotion. It is hinted that she has completely the ear of Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Candwell, Lord Granville and the Duke of fargyll, and rumor has it that she has always had not a little to say regarding the selection of the noble ladies who have official stations and duties in Her Majesty's household. However all this may be, it is certain that Frances Countess Waldegrave is admitted on all hands to be a fascinating and charming woman. To receive an invitation to one of her "at-homes" is to receive a diploma of social merit, a certificate of fitness to be seen in the choicest social circles. London mammas—of good family and position, too—pull all sorts of wires for months for an invitation to Carlton Garden; a young lady, just "out," is made happy for a twelvementh by being asked to be of "a small party" at Strawberry Hill. Lady Waldegrave's dinners are quoted as the highest gastronomic outhority. I imagine that Lady Waldegrave might make an engravers fortune by getting up an odd style of invitation card. If you wish, therefore, to see what even ducal and baronial England regards as an example of real English bon ton by all means make an effort to see lady Waldegrave "at home," in the lovely saloons of Strawberry Hill, surrounded by her court of admirers, and dispensing her nectar and ambrosia to her Olympus of lesser gods. 2. BEST SYDNEY COAL

Mr. Chichester Fortescue is not Lady Waldegrave's first husband; indeed, he is not her second; nay, he is not even her third. She has been led to the altant—always by a person of excellent lineage—four times. Thrice a widow, four times a wife, she is still blooming, a belle, and, and killed him instantly.
