PLANETS IN JUNE.—Uranus is stationary on the 5th, and reaches quadrature (90° from the Sun) on the 19th. Venus and Saturn are near each other on the 7th, the latter arriving at conjunction with the Sun on the 18th, when he becomes a "Morning Star" until Dec. 26th. The old Moon is near Mars on the morning of the 11th, and after becoming "New," passes Venus on the evening of the 13th. Luna overtakes Jupiter on the 17th. The Sun enters the tropical sign Cancer on the 21st. Mercury and Venus are in perihelion towards the close of the month, and the former is at "superior conjunction" on the 27th.
