—A great many men, whatever may have been their experience in life, are accustomed to complain of the usage they have received in the world. They fill the ears of those who have the misfortune to be their friends with lamentations respecting their own troubles. But there is no man who is not born into a world of trouble; and no man has ever attained to anything like the full stature of manhood, who has not been ground, as it were, to powder, by the hardships which he has encountered in life. This is a world in which men were made, not by velvet, but by stone and iron handling. Therefore, do not grumble, but conquer your troubles.

—He is a learned man who understands one subject, a very learned man who understands two.

—Civility costs nothing, but smooths everybody's path.
