A Scanty Meal

In a certain hospital the patients were very badly fed, and looking forward to an inspection, when they could lodge a complaint.

When one day the inspecting officer came round, one Tommy was determined not to miss this opportunity. "What's your complaint?" asked the officer.

"French fever." "Oh! And what is the diet?" continued the officer solicitously. "Two sucks at the thermometer daily!" was the answer.

FOR THE AIR SERVICE OF THE ALLIED ARMIES

A Sitka (silver) spruce log cut on the Queen Charlotte Islands off the coast of British Columbia for the Imperial Munitions Board.

Aeronautical Department of the Imperial Munitions Board. Hundreds of camps, scores of tug-boats, thousands of men are at work on the forests, while scores of mills cut the logs. Canadian Pacific Railway Company tugs haul great rafts across the waters of the Pacific Coast and discharge the cargo at the mills and terminals. Hundreds and hundreds of Canadian Pacific Railway cars roll eastward monthly loaded with prime aeroplane lumber, bound for the aeroplane factories in the east. The wants of France and England, Canada and Italy are filled by the loggers of British Columbia, and the industry will grow even beyond its present tremendous volume.—L. V. K.

THE SIMPLE AFRICAN—How the Sights and Customs of Civilization Affect Him.

It is an amusing speculation to picture one of our remote ancestors suddenly transported through time from the homely days, say of the seventeenth century, to the bustling, bustling days of the present. "How his eyes would open at our marvellous inventions!" we say. The nearest we can come to bringing that to pass is to bring out suddenly to civilization some of the tribesmen who have never before left their jungle homes and who have never heard of engines or telephones or motion pictures. We imagine our remote ancestor as standing in awe before our wonderful devices. Perhaps we would laugh at them, too, as some of the West African tribes did on their way to the front in German East Africa. A writer in Blackwood's tells about them.

The wildest excitement prevailed on board, he says. Many of these natives had never seen the sea, and very few had ever sailed upon it. They believed most things their officers told them, but it was of no use to tell them that men built this great floating town. No, Allah must have made it! Pointing to the two steam tugs lying side by side in the harbor, they asked how soon it would take these lesser craft to grow to the size of the transport, which must be their mother. The tables and benches on the troop deck of the ship were an unnecessary encumbrance to the black men, who knew not whether to sit on the tables and rest their feet on the benches, or to sit on the benches, using the tables as a support for their backs. When the officers began to issue the usual hammocks there was the wild excitement of children with a new and wonderful toy. Climbing in at one side the black men fell out at the other, and thought it all the greatest fun in the world.

The navigation of the ship was a mystery to the Africans. The popular theory was that we were pulled along by a wire under the sea. Many attached considerable importance to the log line on the stern of the ship, supposing that it somehow enabled the skipper to find his way across the ocean, while a few maintained that it was a means of catching fish. Our many endeavors to convince the Africans that the earth is round were invariably met with ribald laughter. In vain did we expound the principles of wireless. They thought it all capital sport, and roared with laughter at these jokes of their officers.

When we reached Durban the people invited the Africans to a moving-picture show. The two hours we spent in that theatre are beyond my description. From beginning to end, no matter whether the screen was blank or displayed the most stirring scenes, the men gave themselves up to one frenzied tumult of laughter. The dignified inspection of a wrecked Zeppelin by Mr. Balfour and Mr. Lloyd George provoked as great an outburst of mirth as the most extravagant Charlie Chaplin farce. The blank that follows the completion of a film was regarded as one of the best practical jokes in the world.

The rest of our voyage was uneventful, but the Africans will ever remember our arrival at Dar es Salaam, for there they saw their first airplane. It appeared high overhead above our head in a coconut plantation. It circled and came lower, and the Africans could see the two men and a machine gun that they had refused to believe were carried in the aeroplane. "But how on earth," they asked "do those men get any food?" "O fool!" came the answer. "Of course they catch birds!"

SEVEN BROTHERS KILLED

An Amazing Tale of the War Regarding An Australian Soldier.

The Agent-General for New South Wales issues the following remarkable statement regarding an Australian soldier's military career. Staff Sergeant W. F. Payne, Australian Imperial Force, to whom a cottage at Darlington, N.S.W., has recently been erected by voluntary labor, and who has a wife and three children, has had an amazingly romantic career in the military service.

Five of his brothers were killed at Mons, one at Bullecourt, another elsewhere in France, and two in the Boer war, while his only living brother lost a leg at Mons. The father of this family of eleven fighters, now 78, is a Lieut.-Colonel in charge of Bisle rifle range.

Sergeant Payne enlisted in Sydney in August, 1914, the day after war was declared. He took part in the famous landing at Gallipoli, and was wounded. Later he was blown up by a shell, and was rendered blind for nine weeks, deaf for ten weeks, and dumb for four and a half months. He regained his speech in a Sydney theatre by the startling effect of a stage episode.

PAIN? NOT A BIT! LIFT YOUR CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

No humbug! Apply few drops then just lift them away with fingers.

This new drug is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. It is called freezone, and can now be obtained in tiny bottles as here shown at very little cost from any drug store. Just ask for freezone. Apply a drop or two directly upon a tender corn or callus and instantly the soreness disappears. Shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off, root and all, with the fingers.

Not a twinge of pain, soreness or irritation; not even the slightest smarting, either when applying freezone or afterwards.

This drug doesn't eat up the corn or callus, but shrivels them so they loosen and come right out. It is no humbug! It works like a charm. For a few cents you can get rid of every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of your feet. It never disappoints and never burns, bites or inflames. If your druggist hasn't any freezone yet, tell him to get a little bottle for you from his wholesale house.

The City of Great Spires.

He wrote, brave boy, from out of France somewhere, That "I can see a city of great spires, And in between flash paths of deadly fires."

But still, please God, to-morrow we'll be there."

To-morrow came. He climbed the cumbered stair Of duty, and through danger's tangled wires,

Flung all his fighting, like an incensed prayer, Upon the smoke of war's grim funeral pyres.

Not this life's crowded splendors to withhold From furnace-trial; not content with less Than self sublimed to noble nothingness, He gained the City of the Spires of Gold.

Close to our hearts his memory lingereth, A Cross of Victory pinned by the hand of Death.

Two for a Nickel.

The quick wit of a traveling salesman, who has since become a well-known proprietor, was severely tested one day. He sent in his card by the office boy to the manager of a large concern, whose inner office was separated from the waiting room by a ground glass partition.

When the boy handed his card to the manager the salesman saw him impatiently tear it in half and throw it in the waste basket; the boy came out and told the caller that he could not see the chief.

The salesman told the boy to go back and get him his card; the boy brought out a nickel with the message that his card was torn up. Then the salesman took out another card and sent the boy back, saying, "Tell your boss I sell two cards for a nickel."

He got his interview and sold a large amount of goods.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc. Very Convenient.

Geraldine was staying with her aunt. One day, as they were visiting the town's poorer districts, Geraldine noticed three rather untidy children playing in front of a house and remarked about it.

"There are ten children living in that house and only one mother to care for all of them, so she cannot always keep them as clean as mothers who have only one or two to take care of," said her aunt.

"Ten?" asked Geraldine. "Ten? Why, they can have a party without inviting anyone!"

Bereaved.
Let me come in where you sit weeping; ay,
Let me, who have not any child to die,
Weep with you for the little one whose love
I have known nothing of.

The little arms that slowly, slowly loosed
Their pressure round your neck; the hands you used
To kiss—such arms, such hands I never knew
May I not weep with you?

Fain would I be of service, say something,
Between the tears, that would be comforting.
But ah! so sadder than yourselves am I,
Who have no child to die.

—James Whitcomb Riley.
LEMON JUICE IS FRECKLE REMOVER

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Newfoundland to Develop Resources.
The Reid Newfoundland Railway Co. has established a natural resources department under J. McNeil Forbes, to explore, inventory and develop the important mineral, timber, agricultural and water-power resources on the lands owned by the company. It is hoped to create a flourishing farming district on the western side of the island. A large staff of technical men will be employed on the work during the next four years.

The Soldiers' Chances.
The actuaries have got the soldiers' war risks figured out to the decimal point. Based on the mortality statistics of the Allied armies as follows: 29 chances of coming home to 1 of being killed; 49 chances of recovering from wounds to 1 chance of dying from them; 1 chance in 500 of losing a limb. And the soldier's life even makes for longevity. It is estimated that the average Tommy who survives the risk of battle adds five years to his life because of physical training, and is freer from disease than he would have been in civil life.

Domestic Dynamo.
A lady, who had a very slow servant girl, noticed that it took the girl almost half the day to scrub the kitchen, a piece of work that should have been accomplished in an hour. The servant always accompanied her scrubbing with a song, and one day the mistress was alarmed at the slow progress she made.

"Mid pleasures" (scrub) "an' palaces" (scrub) "tho' we may" (scrub) "roam—"

"Jane!" called the mistress, sternly. "I am tired of hearing 'Home, Sweet Home.' Sing 'The Campbells are Coming.'"

Nothing loath, Jane did so, and fell into the trap so cleverly laid for her. Her scrubbing brush flew over the boards with lightning rapidity.

The poetry of motion had made swift work.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

The answer to the question, "Why should we save wool" is that a fully equipped soldier uses 13 times as much wool as does a civilian. Also that there are not enough sheep raised to meet the needed wool supply.
