ACCIDENT INSURANCE

By HOWARD L. RANN

ACCIDENT insurance is a form of protection which enables a policy holder to trade off a cold in the head for a weekly indemnity. If the cold develops into pneumonia, the owner can cash it in for enough to pay the doctor's bill and buy a second-hand touring car.

Most people never take out any accident insurance until they have been kicked off the rear platform of a freight caboose by an enthusiastic coupling and had several of their ribs unspined. They are then insured at a price and go through life without anything that looks like an accident except a lucid interval.

Accident insurance can be made a highly profitable form of investment by constructing a stomach ache as total disability. Some men who appear to be in a robust state of health become unwell after receiving a thirty-minute massage and are unable to perform any kind of manual labor except playing a quiet game of cards.

Others manage to sprain an ankle about once every four weeks, pay a high price for a cast, and then travel with great rapidity. Traveling men carry accident insurance so that they can leave something besides their grip and their name. Once in a while a traveling man will be fortunate enough to fall out of an upper berth and carry home a set of dark blue contusions and a free-will offering of $25 per week, which makes him the envy of every drummer on the road.

operate it is to employ a fearless man who lost both arms in the corn shredder shred more operators than it did corn, and this caused accident insurance companies to spring up and provide metal tickets for people who leaned on the machine while it was consuming its fuel.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a messy, tedious task it well repays those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to repeat the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody chooses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it had been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. It certainly helps folks look five years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known down town druggist.

Military News

The regiment will parade in full force to-night in command of Lt.-Col. Howard and Majors Genet and Ashton. In the Drill Hall the regiment will practice squad and company drill, also firing and battalion drill, following which the regiment will march out, weather permitting, through the principal streets headed by the two bands, which are in excellent shape. The regimental parades are starting three weeks earlier this year in order to get through with the drills that much earlier.

The B. C. I. Cadets will start their Bisley practice to-morrow at the school at 8 o'clock. All Cadets under sixteen who wish to try for a place must be on hand to-morrow. There is only to be one team this year to go to Bisley and it will be a junior. This eliminates some of the cadet's best shots.

The prize winners for the four gallery matches were Cadet J. A. Pearce 351 out of 400, winning a silver cup; Capt. Genet 344 out of 400 and Corp. Smith 344 out of 400—the second cup.

The best junior shot in the series was Cadet Foster, 321.

In the miniature matches Lieut. Burt was on top with 384 out of 400, losing only 16 points out of 400, which is certainly splendid shooting, and would without doubt assure him a place on the Bisley team where he has not over age.

Cadet Neill came second winning the Lt.-Governor's medal—372 out of 400; Capt. Genet 363.

The Pearce medal for the best junior shot was won by Cadet Foster, 321.

LOVE MUST GO TO THE GALLOWES

Sentenced to be Hanged on Tuesday May 27 for Murder of Wife.

QWEN SOUND, March 24—Judge Lennox Saturday morning passed the sentence of death on Charles Henry Love for the murder of his wife on Tuesday, May 27.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Love was brought from his cell to the prisoners' dock. He was haggard and worn, and deep lines had appeared over night on his face, but his bearing was cool and collected. Only the involuntary twitching of the hand that rested on the rail of the dock when he stood up indicated the breaking down of the nerve that he had displayed throughout the case.

"Have you anything to say to the sentence of the court passed upon you for the crime of which you stand convicted?" asked the court.

The prisoner looked at the floor and remained silent. He looked up and started the judge in the eye quite steadily, and Judge Lennox continued: "I am pleased in the way that you have decided not to say anything now. It would probably come better after you have had time to think over and realize the position in which you are placed."

"The sentence of this court is that you will be taken back from here to the common jail of the County of Grey, there to remain until the 27th day of May next, and you will then be hanged by the neck until you are dead. God have mercy on your soul!"

The prisoner then passed out in charge of two guards. With him went Rev. H. S. Mallowney, the Baptist minister, who has been a frequent visitor to Love.

Love passed a very restless night. He lay down on his cot repeatedly and arose and strode around his cell, talking to the guards almost continually.

The railway authorities at present operating on the Ontario, a Brantford afternoon, whilst boarding car on the 4.40 train from had his pocketbook and attracted from his two hip pockets in a most expert manner beneath his heavy overcoat. Fortunately the book only railway tickets and private notices his loss immediately reported the theft to Detective G.T.K. Half an hour after his missing property was returned to him on the train.

The thieves, finding no papers of value, most common had stuffed both books behind the front of the train. Travellers would be well advised to keep a sharp lookout on the train. The gang is certainly expert one.

LITTLE GIRL ALMOST

Very Gallant Rescue Effected by Austin Doherty, Yesterday

A little Hebrew girl, Rebecca Jander, had a terrible experience yesterday on the river. Had it not been for a prompt rescue effected by a man, named Austin Doherty, child surely would have been away by the torrential current river. In company with a number of other little ones, the girl was playing along the river on a street near Jarvis, and it was in the spirit of play a little boy had her into the river. She waded several feet down stream, fortunately a tree lay in the way, and she was able to grasp it. The little one was grappled with and held with great bravery and in the interval Doherty was attracted by the screams of the children. He secured a pike pole after a gallant effort effected rescue.

The little one was in an almost haunted state and was removed to 47 Jarvis street. The fire boat was summoned was told later not to make the as the little one had been secured. Doctor was summoned and the reported alright to-day.
