Weird stories of ghostlike figures

Weird stories of ghostlike figures seen at the entrance of the mine shafts and takes of groans and moan-ing sounds being heard from the bot-tom of the chafts are related by mining men who have just returned from the property of the Big Kana-wha Mining Company at Creede. These takes, which rival these of "Babette," of whom Frank Daniels sang, are sail to have become so im-propried in the big Kanawha Company"s ployed in the big Kanawha Company's sought places in other mines where the unnatural sights and sounds

Again he received no reply and this time McQueg determined to find out who Moduler determined to find out who the man was. He approached to where the figure had been, and as he neared the spot the man disap-peared. No trace of the man could be found. McQuog swears that he saw the man, but the moment that approached to where the figure d been it vanished as if by magic. Not even the slightest trace of a man could be found, and none of the men working around the mine at the time saw anything of a stranger, nor were any of them near the place where McQueg had seen the figure at about the time that the engineer saw the vision. Shortiy after this three distinct for Pains. Hot fomentations prove an accept-able "cure for aches and pains" dur-ing the cold winter days, when the very mention of warmth seems soothing to sensitive nerves, and it is surprising to what an extent this antidote for pain is now prescribed. When a fomentation is called for by a physician, or when it shall seem to be the proper thing in the emerg-ency of extreme internal pains, a flannel cloth may be folded, wrung out of hot water, and applied direct-ly to the skin. Nevertheless, it is better after wringing cut the cloth as dry as desired to fold it in a dry Ilannel cloth of one or two thicknesses before applying it to the patient. "When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to

A little time is required for the A little time is required for the heat of the fomentation to penetrate the dry flannel, and thus the skin is allowed an opportunity to acquire tolerance of the heat, and a greater degree of temperature can be borne than if the moist cloth is brought directly in contact with the surface. The outer fold of dry flannel will also serve to keep the cloth warm by preventing evaporation. A fomentation is sometimes needed when no hot water is at hand. Soak the flagnel in cold water, ringing as dry as desired, fold in a news-paper and lay upon the stove or wrap it about the stovepipe. In a few minutes it will be as warm as the patient can bear. The paper keeps the pipe from being molstened by the wet flannel, and at the same time prevents the flan-

Fomentations thor-oughly applied will relieve most of the local pains for which liniments, before and positions are concerning lotions and poultices are generally applied, and are greatly to be pre-ferred to these remedies, since they are cleaner and aid nature more effectually in restoring the parts to a sound condition.

Free-Gratis-For Nothing GLASGOW HOARY WITH AGE YOU CANNOT LONG FOOL & WOMAN. Metropolis Was Founded When the white man wants 1.800 Years Ago.

1,800 Years Ago. We hear a great deal in these days in praise of Giasgow as a truly model city and of its municipalising in the interest of the citizens nearly every public franchise. That is all true and Giasgow highly merits all praise bestowed upon it. At present, however, we would briefly remind our readers of Giasgow in the olden time—hundreds of years before it ob-tained its present state of perfec-tion—and of which we now varely hear a word.

When the white man wants the black man's laud he approaches the innocent black with "presents" of beads, colored cloths, ribbons, and other useless trinkets that catch the eye of the poor black—but that are no earthly use to him. These are all "gifts—free—gratis—for noth-ing! ! !" We all know who soon owns the black man's land." Yet this system of conciliating the innocent is not practiced alone on the negro. How many women read that they can get a certain "present" with a certain purchase and forthwith they make the pur-chase to get the "present"—free— gratis—for nothing !!! The pres-ent may or may not be useful—but in this itwentieth century are there those who believe they have not in the purchase paid for and often dearly paid for the "present"? When you want a horse you can-not buy his teeth at ten cents a tooth, and get the horse thrown into the bargain. When you by a frees you do not buy the buttons, and have the dress thrown in. And no more than you can thus hear a word. It is about 1,800 years since Glas It is about 1.800 years since Glas-gow was founded by Kentigern or St. Mungo, but the city did not am-ount to much until after the act of union between Scotland and England about 200 years ago. It was that act which enabled the merchant ad-venturers of Glasgow to send out their ships to Virginia and Mary-land here for cargoes of tobacco leaf. AN ANCIENT CREMATORIUM. Relics of Pre-Roman Days Unearthed at Reading, England. What the absent-minded old lady called a creamery has just been discovered near Reading, says the Westminster Gazette. Twenty urns, containing calcined human bones, have been uncarthed at Sunningdale near Camerley. A mound was being removed in the construction of golf links, when three urns were discovered. Under the direction of Mr. A. C. Shrubsole, F. G. S., curator of the Geolocical and Anthropological Department of the Reading Museum, a further search was made, and seventeen more were brought to light. It is believed by competent authorities that the mound was the site of ar ancient crematoriam—probably a battleground—in pre-Roman days. Some of the urns are one foot four Some of the urns are one foot four inches in diameter. They are of an-clent British make, and may safely be asoribed to the time before Bri-tain came under the Roman influ-ence. It is estimated that the burials must have taken place be-tween 2.000 and 6000 years ago. Some of the urns have been sent to the British Museum, the Reading Museum, to Oxford and to the Louvre, Parks.
