

IN DEEP DESPAIR.

A Montrealer Relates His Wonderful Experience.

He Had Tried Foreign and Local Physicians and was Operated Upon Without Success—By Wm. Frank, Pink Pills Cured Him—When All Other Medicines Failed.

Instances of marvellous cures by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are numerous, but the one related below is of special interest, owing to the peculiarity of the illness, and also to the fact that in the present instance the gentleman is well known in Montreal.

Mr. Charles Frank, inspector of the mechanical department of the Bell Telephone Co., at 371 Argyle street, and who resides at 54 Argyle Avenue, in an interview with a Herald reporter, related the following wonderful cure by the use of Pink Pills. Mr. Frank, who is 25 years of age, is a Rumanian by birth, exceedingly intelligent, speaks several languages fluently, and is now apparently in good health. "My illness came about in a peculiar way," said Mr. Frank. "Up to three years ago I was in the best of health. About that time while in Glasgow, Scotland, where I was employed as a clerk in a hotel, and while sealing on the Clyde, a storm came up, and I lost a pretty rough time of it for a while. I evidently must have injured myself internally, although I felt nothing wrong at the time. On my way home, however, I fell helpless on the street, and had to be conveyed home in a cab, as my legs were utterly unable to hold me up. I was confined to bed for several days in the same helpless condition, when I rallied, but found that my urine was of a strange reddish color. I called Caught in a Storm on the Clyde. In a physician, who prescribed, but did me no good. I then called on Sir George McLeod, M. D., who also prescribed and advised me to go to the hospital. I was averse to doing this, and he advised me then to try a change of climate, telling me that my bladder was affected. I acted on his suggestion as to change and came to Montreal. I did not do anything for about a year, as I wished to get cured. All this time my urine was tainted with blood, although I was suffering no pain, but this abnormal condition was a source of continual anxiety. I finally went to the General Hospital, where the physician in charge advised me to stay, which I did. After remaining there for five weeks with no benefit, a consultation of physicians was held and an operation was decided on. After the operation was performed I was no better, my condition remaining absolutely unchanged. From this point I was continually trying medicines and physicians, but derived no benefit from anything or anyone. I was in despair, as the physicians who had operated on me could not decide as to my trouble. I visited the hospital once more, and they said they would operate again; but I did not care to undergo a second and perhaps equally unsuccessful operation. Some physicians thought my trouble was consumption of the bladder, others that it was Bright's disease, but could not cure that strange bloody condition of my urine. "Finally I went to work for the Bell Telephone Co., some two years ago, where I worked myself up to my present position. But I was in a state of constant anxiety, as I felt myself getting weaker all the time, and was listless and sleepy and weak in the legs. I was also pale and ill-looking, no doubt owing to loss of blood. From a naturally cheerful man I became morose, and gave up all hopes of ultimate recovery. One Saturday, some months ago, while walking along Bleury street, having seen the advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the Montreal Herald, I stopped at John T. Lyons' drug store, and bought a box. I had tried so many medicines that I said to myself, 'If they don't cure me I can't be worse off than before.' After taking the first box I felt stronger and more cheerful, although there was no change in the bloody condition of my urine. But I felt encouraged and got three more boxes, determined to make a thorough trial of Pink Pills. After I had finished the second box I found my urine was getting clearer, so I continued the use of the Pills, taking two after each meal. When I had finished the third box my urine was quite clear, for the first time in three years. I was delighted, and continued taking the pills until I had finished six boxes. I am stronger now and have had no recurrence of the trouble, and as you can see, the flush of health shows itself in my face. To think that I was cured by the use of $3.00 worth of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after trying a number of physicians and undergoing an operation in vain is a puzzle to me, and I am sorry that I didn't know about this grand medicine before. I would have willingly given $200 or $300 to have been guaranteed a cure by anyone."

Next meeting in Temperance Hall Thursday, Sept. 12th, at 3.30 P. M. The meetings are always open to any who wish to become members.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union recently held a national convention in New York city. As this gathering celebrated the twenty-fifth year of its existence, it was accepted by the Catholic church as an occasion for some special demonstration in behalf of temperance reform. The presence of Mr. Bellotti at a service in St. Patrick's Cathedral, together with a sermon by Archbishop Ryan and the attendance of many notable dignitaries, bear witness to the interest felt by the Roman Church in the temperance movement. The attitude of its clergy has for some time past been very pronounced against the evils of the liquor traffic, and this convention cannot fail to result in adding somewhat to the weight of influence so recently exerted in New York city in favor of the enforcement of the Sunday closing law. The Boston Herald says: "The Catholic Total Abstinence Union has to deal with a portion of the community where the liquor selling interest is strongly entrenched, and it can do more to advance the temperance movement in its own circles than all the Protestant societies put together."

At this convention there was a majority and a minority report presented. In both a bitter attack was made on liquor sellers, and a strict Sunday excise law was advocated, but the minority report in addition to its resolutions of similar import condemned the Catholic monks of St. Vincent's Abbey for making beer and selling it. After much discussion the majority report was finally adopted. The following extracts are taken from a letter sent to the convention by Archbishop Ireland: "I have the vivid remembrance of our early conventions, when honors were held out to us by sparing and reluctant hands, and only our courage and our confidence in the virtue of the cause moved us to plan, resolve and do. Our work was deemed visionary, and the many kept sedulously aloof from us. We had no results on which to build our claims to public attention, and our hopes were treated often as dreams. You assemble to-day in the metropolis of America, where you are recognized as victors, to whom no praise comes unmerited, and to whom no manifestation of approval is refused. You have made the sin of intemperance odious as it should ever have been among Catholics. Liquor sellers know that their business as usually conducted in this country is frowned upon by the church. Entertainments and pleasure parties under the patronage of this Catholic organization are not disgraced by the presence of Holy and public language among Catholics are held without the beer and wine bottles. All this has been the work of your union. Individual Catholics may yet to-day fall victims to intemperance, but you minister to its spread, but the Catholic church as such, has in the eyes of the whole American people liberated herself from all alliances with intemperance, and with occasions leading to it, and she is proclaimed, even by men otherwise unfriendly to her, to be the powerful advocate of sobriety and social virtue. The Catholic total abstinence union has merited and won the warm official approval of the church, which PLACES IT ABOVE THE REACH OF CARING CRITICISM, whether as to its aims or its methods. The third plenary council of Baltimore has blessed and sanctioned it, and the great Leo has addressed it a letter, in which he has incorporated in the volume of official documents of the holy see, and he has opened in its favor the spiritual treasury of the church. Can you and your pontiff breathe with honor the banner of temperance which you hold aloft before the country in the 25th general convention of your union. Another quarter of a century opens before the union. Let it give itself well for the work which the golden jubilee will record. What advice shall I give you for your guidance? Words which I write in a former convention happen to be before my eyes. I repeat them. Be more than ever resolute and fearless. Let others who know you less than I do, and who confide less than I do in your intelligence and your sense of religion, talk to you of going slowly. I bid you go forward with steady and sure pace. Let other caution against manichaeism and ghostly errors which fit some your minds. I caution you against the timidity which looks up in a suppliant the talents which God commands to make fruitful, and against the weakness which sometimes overcomes the soldiers when the battle is nearly won and repulse victory by defeat.
