The paper will be sent until a written order to discontinue is received.
ADVERTISEMENTS: Small ads of 20 words or less for 50 cents per week. Larger ads on application. Rates of advertisements: Extraordinary, marriages, deaths and funerals, etc., on application. All other advertising on application. Address: The Editor, The Observer, Hartland, N.B.

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR
Everybody knows that nowadays two dollars a year is a very small sum of money. But the price of The Observer will be $2.00 a year to Canadian subscribers and $2.50 to United States subscribers. No apology is offered, and no explanation is purchased that one dollar would make only a very few years ago. Therefore in announcing that after July 20, necessary. "Get two dollars a year or get out of business" is the huge red danger sign The Observer sees before it—and "get two dollars" is just what we are out to do. The Observer has unwavering faith in its own future, and while the present cloud that threatens all newspaperdom is ominous it does not portend so serious a storm as others that The Observer has successfully come through.
The new rate, the readers will note, does not go into effect until July 20, and every subscriber may pay up arrears, or pay up another year in advance, at the rate of $1.50 a year. Every subscriber who owes us, or whose subscription ends this month, will be sent a blank for remittance and renewal. Subscribers who do not receive a circular from us within a day or two will know that their subscription is not yet expired. But they are invited to send us $1.50 before July 20 upon receipt of which we will mail them a plain receipt showing the exact date to which the remittance will pay them.

THE PLEBISCITE

Following is the opinion of Rev. G. A. Kuhring, an Anglican clergyman and a chaplain in the C. E. F.:
Overseas padres have refused to hand it to the men they loved, the bishop of the diocese is in favor of prohibition, the general synod of Canada has endorsed it for Canada. The experienced and saintly Archbishop of Algoma will fight for it, and medical science has condemned moderate drinking. What more can the loyal patriotic churchman want to make him or her cast his vote for prohibition, and against beer and wines?

Base Ball Game Tonight

Tonight the Woodstock team will come to play the local nine if weather permits. The game will start right after six and should attract a good crowd.
On Friday the largest assembly of fans of the season witnessed the Florenceville-Hartland game, here, when the home team won in a score of 11 to 4.
Last Thursday Woodstock High School team won from Hartland in a game played here, the score being 13 to 4.
The same team will play the local juniors here tomorrow night.

Church Struck By Lightning

When the Church of England gathered for vespers last evening they were somewhat surprised to find the interior of the church considerably damaged by lightning. Evidently the terrific storm of Sunday night was responsible. The bolt was evidently grounded by the concrete walls and its force in that way weakened, as it splintered the sash of the east window without damaging the glass, and damaged the altar slightly. Portions of the wood were hurled across to the opposite end of the church.

Notice to Joe Melvin

Dear Editor: In answer to the report that Joe Melvin put in your paper last week against me would beg to reply that first let Joe Melvin, if he is a neighbor, square up his old account and also make wrong right with me and then I am ready to settle for any bother I ever put him to, if there was any.

Mrs. D. H. Nixon left on Monday for Beulah Camp Meetings. She will be absent several weeks visiting friends.

Wanted—Teacher for District No. 3 (Somerville) Parish of Wakefield; second class, female, for next term. C. F. Seeley, Hartland, R.F.D. 1.

East Florenceville
The late Mrs. A. D. Hart, who died on July 10, after a lingering illness, is buried in the cemetery here.
Rev. Mr. McLuckie, a former Baptist pastor, is now in the field, is renewing old acquaintances about the village while here for a few days.
Rev. The Rev. Mr. Miller, who is on a holiday before moving to his new charge.
Wallace, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunter, died on July 6, after a lingering illness.
On Tuesday afternoon a number of ladies of the village gathered at the home of Mrs. W. L. McLean for a "sewing bee." They had with them a dainty lunch of cake and ice cream. After luncheon Mrs. W. L. McLean called the meeting to order and in behalf of those present expressed their kindly feelings towards Mr. and Mrs. Manuel and a token of good will presented them with a handsome rocker.

A mass meeting in the interests of prohibition was held in the Methodist church on Friday evening, July 2, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Rev. W. D. Wilson, chief inspector for the province, spoke on the coming referendum. Rev. F. E. Bishop acted as chairman and was supported by all the clergymen of the parish. Mr. Demmings of Aroostook, also spoke during the evening. Rev. Mr. Boothroyd of Woodstock, held two meetings here and work is progressing satisfactorily.

Vroom-Hendry

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hendry, Waterville, on June 9, when their daughter, Sadie Fay, was united in marriage to Harold Frederick Vroom. The ceremony was at 4 p. m. and was performed by Rev. C. N. Barton, in the presence of 20 relatives and friends. The house was a bower of ferns and cut flowers most attractively arranged. The bride was winsome and sweet in a dress of sheer voile, with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of exquisite roses, and her small sister Evelyn acted as flower girl dressed in white and carrying a basket of flowers. Immediately after congratulations luncheon was served. The bride was the recipient of many presents and from distant relatives and friends cheques were received. Mr. and Mrs. Vroom have the well wishes of many friends.
