LYNCH NEGRO WHO SHOT POLICEMAN

Authorities at Cumberland, Md., Make No Effort to Protect Prisoner.

Mob Batters Down Door of the Jail With a Telegraph Pole.

Burns, a negro, who shot Policeman August Baker last Thursday night, causing here early to-day by an infuriated mob and kicked and shot to death.

As there has never below the lynching here the authorities paid no attention to the threats of lynching in this case, and when a mob of fifty men approached the jail early to-day they As there has never before been this case, and when a mob of fifty men approached the jail early to-day they found only one deputy sheriff, Adam Hendley, to oppose them. When he refused to give up the keys they battered the door in with a telegraph pole.

Burns shot the policeman to prevent being arrested, and the latter's death was followed by threats against the negro, these coming as much from those neighboring cells, were careful to guide the lynchers to that of Burns, and here again the battering ram was used. The lynchers found their victim crouched behind his cot, and seizing him by the feet dragged him up and down stairs and into the street, where within a few yards of the entrance to the jail he was killed. The Rev. W. Cleveland Hicks, an Episcopal clergyman, did his best to save the negro, and afterward protected the body until the arrival on the scene of Judge A. Hunter Boyd and the police. Judge Boyd called upon the crowd to disperse and was promptly obeyed. The body was removed to an undertaking establishment and ten thousand persons are estimated to have viewed it to-day.

APPLES ARE GOING OUT IN NIAGARA DISTRICT.

Land Too Valuable for Their Cultivation --- Present Prospects and Prices.

Beamsville, Oct. 8.—(Special.)— From all available information up to Saturday night the apple crop throughout the peninsula this fall will compare favorably in a great many of the winter varieties, with the crop of other generous years While russets, snows and Spies are smaller, the quality is all that can be expected from the unfavorable early sea-

Apples are no small factor among the men of the Niagara district, and although they do not come in for the five years ago, this is hardly to be expected, when greater profits can be made with small fruits, and less ex-pense incurred in bringing them to bear-ing. Fruit land is so valuable an asset and life too short to the growers of waste half of it in waiting for an apple orchard to bring forth fruit. Apples will, ere many years, be found only at rare intervals in the district between Hamilton and Niagara. The climax has been almost reached already along the Q. and publishing the assessment rolls, City Clerk Kent thinks it is doubtful if it has the right to make public a man's income. When the reporters this morning, following the usual custom, began going over the rolls to get some information about some of the large taxpayers, Mr. Kent protested. While the rolls were left in his office for any ratepayer to inspect Mr. Kent took the ground that left in his office for any ratepayer to inspect, Mr. Kest took the ground that it was a man's private business, and not for publication. When it was pointed out that the city was going to publish the rolls, Mr. Kent argued that it was doubtful if it could publish that part about income. Until he went into the matter with the City Solicitor he refused to permit the information to go out for publication. Mr. Waddell said he knew of nothing on the statute books that could prevent this information being made public. There is a heavy penalty provided for information being made public from the assessment department before the rolls are completed.

While the table below may vary in some degrees two weeks hence as the disparity or volume of the crop always does after packing, it will be found reasonably correct. Comparing it with statistics given by buyers from the eastern district, and the counties of Northumberland and Ontario, where the early rainfall was greater than around the Niagara vicinity, they will have a larger class of fruit than ours. Comparing the orchard acreage in apples, our pack this season will average all around in quality and quantity as good as theirs. he buyer's word is good for this statement at any rate.

The assessment department will likely give out the revised figures for Ward 2 to-morrow. In place of a decrease of 465 in population in that ward, it is said an increase of about 400 will be shown, which will make the total increase in population for the year nearer 3,200. The figures given out when the rolls were closed placed it at 2,313. The department will also go over the figures in Ward 3 again, as they showed a decrease of 39.

The report asked for at the last meeting of the Fire and Water Committee by Ald. City Engineer Barrow said to-day that he knew very little about the matter, and that it was Captain Hemphill, the former commander of the dredge, who made the arrangements. Some of the parties interested, Mr. Barrow says, assert that the work was not done as they stipulated it should be, and there will likely be a dispute over paying the accounts.

City Engineer Burrow has received another batch of complaints from the people living at the corner of Herkimer and Hess streets about the poles used by the Brantford & Hamilton Railway in and Hess streets about the local partial way in the Brantford & Hamilton Railway in that vicinity, and the delay in putting in the new diamond at the crossing. Prisoner Pleaded Not Guilty and Said He Would be Ready for Trial To-morrow.

Judge Intimates That Grocers' Case May be Tried at a Special Session.

His counsel, Mr. J. L. Counsell, whispered to him and then he said, "I am ready now."

Mr. George T. Blackstcok, Toronto, the Grown Prosecutor, said the Crown was ready to proceed, and the Chief Justice decided that Tamillo's trial should go on as soon as the Collins case was concluded, which will be late this afternoon or to-morrow morning.

Sunfield has not changed much in appearance since he was last seen in public at the Police Court. He does not look quite so dissipated, however, not having had an opportunity to gratify his appetite for strong drink, which is blamed for the position he is in. He seemed to be a little nervous. Tamillo was shaved at an up-town barber shop before being brought into court. He was accompanied to the barber's by the sheriff's officer, the judge having given permission to have him shaved, providing it made no material change in the appearance presented by him at the time the murder was committed.

Chief Justice Falconbridge presided. There is not much prospect of settlement in many of the cases, and it is quite likely that His Lordship will be kept here for the full two weeks. Twenty-four foreigners took out maturalization papers. After being sworn, the Grand Jury elected as its foreman Mr. Henry New.

While the case of Collins vs. T., H. & B. Co. was being tried at the High Court about 11.30 this morning, the Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Jake Sunfield, alias Tamillo, on a charge of murdering Andrew Radzyk on July 12th. Tsmillo, who had been placed in the dock sometime previously, was then arraigned, and he pleaded not guilty. Asked if he was ready for his trial, he replied in a clear voice: "I guess, to-morrow."

His counsel, Mr. J. L. Counsell, whispered to him and then he said, "I am ready now."

$15,000 damages for injury to workman, were consolidated.

The actions were brought by the plaintiffs in both cases, for injuries received by reason of a gas explosion, in which Perkins was injured, and died the same day, and Collins was frightfully burned. The accident took place on the morning of November 1st, 1906. Collins was employed at the roundhouse of the T., H. & B. at, Garth street, and on the night of the explosion, when going into the blacksmitt shop, he heard a whistling sound, as if gas were escaping. He told Perkins to go in and turn off the gas. Collins went into the place with Perkins and was in front of the latter, and when he opened the door into the repair shop the explosion took place. Collins was taken to the Hospital and stayed there for 14 weeks. He was unconscious for eight days. He said that he was 42 years of age, had four children, and that he was unable to work. When the court adjourned the case was not finished, and it was resumed this afterneous ship said that there was no direct evidence to show that Sunfield killed Radzyk, but the Grand Jury had a perfect right to bring in a true bill, on the grounds of circumstantial evidence, which, to His Lordship's mind, was quite clear and pointed to Sunfield as the guilty man. There was quite a difference between murder and manslaughter, and His Lordship asked the jury to go carefully over the evidence at their disposal, and report a true finding.

Speaking of the other case, that of the Grocers' Combine, Justice Falconbridge said that the charge against the combine was that of trying to restrain trade, and conspiracy. It is the policy of the country to encourage trade and honest competition. The law was opposed to anything which sought to restrain trade by methods of combination. His Lordship then read the act relating to combines and associations.
