Radial Railway Must Build One in Nelson Township.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) foronto, Oct. 13.-The application of Herbert J. Dynes, of the township of Nelson, for an order directing the Ham ilton Radial Electric Railway to conitton Radial Electric Railway to con-struct a farm crossing on his property was granted by the Dominion Railway Commissioners to day. "If railway com-panies enter into agreements with par-ties, over whose leads they pass," said Chairman Mabee, "they must expect that when application is made to this Board for the enforcement of the agree-ment, the Board will order it. This work must be started within 30 days of the time that our engineer approves the plan which the railway shall submit."

INDIA'S UNREST.

Why It Should Be Put Down to the Credit Side of Britain's Account. India has been passing through a pe-iod of unwonted tumult and commotion. Tiod of unworted turnit and commotion. She has seen a great and a not unjusti-fiable popular agitation against the divi-sion of Bengal into two provinces. She has seen a vehement and at times a vio-lent demand on the part of the educated classes for more power and influence. She has seen British officials murdered, British goods boycotted, the alienation between rulers ad ruled deepen into overt hostility and hostility develop into sedition. She has seen the expending force of native opinion and ambitions beating upon a devoted, hard-working, but rather rigid and complacent bureau-cracy. She has seen the propaganda. of the bomb and the knife countered by stern strokes of repression. She has felt the bomb and the Knife countered by stern strokes of repression. She has felt vaguely the reflex thrill of the tri-umphs of Japan. She has become dimly aware of a something that may in time prove to be the beginnings of a sense of collective unity among her variegated millions.

When Bedfort went to the house he saw the man about twelve houses away, and discovered he subsequently came to the door opened to him by a dark girl about 24. She was frightened when he forced admittance and ran away. Another girl came downstairs, and at her he emptied the revolver, firing five shats. She fell, and he ran through the house, and escaped through a window at the back. If the stranger accompanied Bedfort to the door of the house, would not Florence Kinrade have seen him?
