Five persons were shot to death and fifty others wounded by the soldiers after the elections in Lisbon had ended. Rioting was wide spread and such was the confusion arising in a violent conflict between the populace and the municipal guard, that the guardsmen mistaking the infantrymen who had been called out, for members of the mob, fired a volley, seriously wounding three soldiers. The night was one of terror for Lisbon which seemed suddenly aflame with seething revolt. Bands of men ran wildly through the streets, brandishing weapons, while the sharp crack of rifles was heard in various sections. Thousands of the most peaceable citizens fled to their homes. The principal rioting was the result of a dispute between Republicans and Monarchists regarding counting of votes.

A note in a bottle found off East Boston on the 3rd leads to the belief that two men, one of a St. John schooner met a terrible fate last November off Boston harbor. Whether the doomed men were rescued before death overtook them or whether the small boat was capsized in the heavy wintry seas, is a mystery. The note was found in a half pint bottle tightly corked. The message read—"Jack Silver and E. Brown, lost off Boston Light, Nov. 3rd 1907, in a thick fog. Schooner Joliet of St. John, N.B." A search of the Marine register does not show a schooner of this name. There is no record of the names here. A big storm broke over the harbor about the first of November, followed by dense fog which is the only clue to the truth of the story.

The Lenten sermon on Matrimony was preached in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on last Sunday evening by Rev. T. Campbell. His theme was marriage in its relation to the home and society. The Rev. preacher in a learned discourse pointed out that the family was the foundation of society and the necessity, therefore, of a well regulated and happy home. This could only be when the husband and wife co-operated in bringing about this happiness and contentment. The Church, throughout her history had, as far as possible, her legislation and discipline regarding this sacrament labored for this end. She had never allowed any worldly considerations to turn her aside from the path of duty in this respect. The Rev. preacher cited numerous instances of the Church's solicitude in this regard.
