THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

The candidate goes forth to tell how well he did his duty; he held his office passing well—his record is a beauty. He stands before a panting crowd and winds through woody mazes, and in a raucous voice IN POLITICS and loud he sings forth his own praises. No other man in all the earth would dare to stand before you and prate of his own sterling worth, and with his virtues bore you. If I should stand around and boast about my bughouse verses, you'd hand me what I'd need—a roast, and sprinkle me with curses. You'd say: "The man who wants to charm should be a trifle modest, and this skate is a false alarm—a prophet stuffed with sawdust." The preacher doesn't tell the town how well he fills the pulpit; that sort of stuff wouldn't do—he knows we wouldn't gulp it. The doctor doesn't make the claim that he's the one physician who knows the way to carve your frame when you're in bad condition. The statesman is the only Jay who has the nerve to face us and boast for half a day and sing his charms and graces.

MANY PROBLEMS

BEFORE THE CONFERENCE.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Divorce, Socialism, labor unions, and wealth, were some of the subjects concerning which emphatic opinions were expressed by speakers at the sessions of the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in this city to-day. The general topic in hand was "The Church and Social Success."

In connection with the consideration of its various phases, a novel proposition was made to the nearly 500 delegates in the form of a resolution presented by the business committee, calling for the creation of what would be practically a world's welfare commission.

Action in the matter was deferred, but the expectation is that before the close of the present conference there will be created a permanent international Methodist commission composed of fifty delegates from the Eastern division and an equal number from the Western, to gather information respecting the various Methodist Churches and their problems, to promote a closer union between them.

Supreme Court.

(Before the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Emerson.)

The King vs. John Collier.

Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., for John Collier moves on his own affidavit for postponement of the above case on the ground that there are two necessary and material witnesses, who reside at Port au Port and are unable to be here on the day set for the hearing—one being ill and the other cannot get here on Friday. He also moves that the case be postponed till December.

The Deputy Minister of Justice, Mr. Hutchings, K.C., opposes application. The case is adjourned till Friday, the 27th, at 11 a.m.

(Before Mr. Justice Emerson.)

George Summers vs. Joseph Perford.

Mr. Kent, K.C., states the plaintiff's case to the jury and examines several witnesses, who are cross-examined by Mr. Furlong, K.C. The plaintiff's case was closed.

A Schooner Lost.

We learn by the Scher. Beatrix that in one of the storms which occurred recently that the new schooner Daisy, owned by Joshua Dee was lost at Deer Hr., T.B. where she had come for a frame for a house. The vessel had her sails blown away in the gale, dragged her anchors and went ashore. The crew escaped and secured their clothes and effects. The vessel, we understand, was insured in the Brigus scheme. The hull is still there filled with water. She was of 42 tons burden and Mr. Martin stripped her of her running gear.

AGAINST BEAM TRAWLING

Gloucester's Master Mariners' Association at a crowded meeting recently, began, what some speakers called, a "vigorous war against the invasion of the beam trawl method" of fishing in this country. Speeches denouncing the use of the steam trawl were made by most of the fishing captains now in that port who contended the beam trawl, scooping in big, little and immature fish, was a most destructive agency which would seriously affect the nation's fish supply. Tons of small fry which might develop into marketable fish, they claimed, were destroyed and thrown away. The efforts of the Government to restock the ocean, it was pointed out, would be more than neutralized. The present method of trawl fishing, they said, was amply sufficient to secure a catch and had the advantage of saving the small fry.

It was voted that the association representing the operative fishermen of New England strongly condemn this method of fish destruction and urge upon the Government the necessity of enacting prohibitive legislation. A committee composed of Capt. Henry M. Atwood, Capt. Carl C. Young, Capt. John A. McKinnon, Capt. John W. McFarland and Capt. Chas. H. Hartly was appointed to consider and report the most expedient manner of securing the desired legislation to Congress.—Fishing Gazette.

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

Rear Island, Aug. 26, 1903. Minard's Liniment Co. Limited.

Dear Sirs—Your traveller is here to-day and we are getting a large quantity of your MINARD'S LINIMENT. We find it the best Liniment on the market making no exception. We have been in business 13 years and have handled all kinds, but have dropped them all but yours; that sells itself; the others have to be pushed to get rid of.

Horse Bolted.

At 1 p.m. yesterday Mr. J. J. Henry's horse bolted from the mattress factory at Henry Street, and dashing down Bell Street and McBride's Hill collided with a passing team on Water Street, at Bank Square. J. Tilley, the driver of the express, was thrown out but was not seriously hurt. The express was broken up.

WANTS THE OLD STYLES.

"Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight, and give us a maiden dressed proper and right. We are so weary of switches and rats, Billie Burke clusters and peach-basket hats. Wads of jute hair in a horrible pile, stacked on their heads to the height of a mile. Something is wrong with the maidens, we fear. Give us the girls as they used to appear. Give us the girls we once knew of yore, whose curls didn't come from a hair-dressing store. Maidens who dressed with a sensible view, and just as Dame Nature intended them to. Give us a girl with a figure her own and fashioned divinely by nature alone. Feminine style's getting fiercer each year—oh, give us the girls as they used to appear." — [Sterling (Kan.) Journal.]

Claim Great Victory.

Special Evening Telegram.

PEKIN, To-day.

The Chinese government claims to have won a great victory at Hankow, and announces that the Government troops hold the station, where troop trains are arriving rapidly. This appears to be an exaggeration of facts, as the fight is still continuing. The feeling prevails here that the Government has really won an important victory. The belief has prevailed at Pekin that if the first encounter between the revolutionaries and the loyal troops proved decisive, the supremacy would be settled there and then. Only a few unimportant towns, outside of Hankow, Wu Chang, and Han Yan, have taken part in the rising. Nanking, Chang Sha, Canton and other cities of known revolutionary tendencies have not responded to the call of the insurgents, as far as can be learned, and are seemingly awaiting the result of the first encounter. Had the rebels overwhelmingly won the battle, as was expected, the province below Yang Tse Kiang would be theirs.

To-Day's Match.

The Inter-collegiate match between the Fedilians and Methodist teams takes place at 4.30 p.m. to-day. If the Methodists lose they must beat St. Bona, next match to be even with them. If they win this afternoon they will be even with St. Bona, and when these two teams meet again they play off for the championship.

A SHATTERED HALO.

The muck-raking magazines have rendered one of the most important public services at any rate. They have shot the halo which campaign banks has placed upon the brow of congress so full of holes that it fits like a horse collar on a goat. The day has gone past when a silk-lined frock coat and a spirited attack upon the pension bureau are all that is necessary to carry Podunk township. You can take the average congressman and place him on the farm, and he will rattle around like a bird seed in a quart cup. Just as soon as a lawyer begins to feel his practice slipping like a side-saddle on a restive broncho he breaks into congress and decorates the cloak room with wretched persiflage and misinformation. There are more split infinitives, mixed metaphors and hump-backed grammar scattered about during a debate in the House of Representatives than you can find anywhere else on earth outside of a night school for the feeble-minded. If anybody thinks all the brains of this country center in trust-busters with a juicy, per-dieu and free access to the mails, he ought to read the Congressional Record before the managing editor has gone over it with an Eighth grade grammar and a pocket dictionary.

Two More Trips.

It is likely that the Rosalind will make two more trips to Montreal before the closing of navigation. After that she will lay up for repairs previous to taking her place on the St. John's-Halifax-New York route. There are large quantities of freight now awaiting shipment in Montreal, and the Black Diamond Line did well to charter the s.s. Britannic which will bring down roughly 30,000 barrels.

Brilliant Soon Leaving.

H. M. S. Brilliant which has been on this station for several years has just sailed for Portsmouth about the 6th November. Her crew will pay off there and it is not certain if she will return here next year or be attached to another station. Her officers and men have made many friends here and were deservedly popular as they were always ready to render assistance in case of emergency and ever ready to forward every charitable project. All will wish the ship's company continued success.

Laborers Busy.

So many craft are now in port discharging their fish cargoes that large numbers of laboring men are now at work along the water front, and in some cases vessels have discharged after dark, their skippers being anxious to get away for another freight of fish. The laborers who work the steamboats will also have a busy hour of it now owing to the arrival of the Florizel, Rosalind and Bonavita. Some coal cargoes also due will supplement this volume of labor.

Capt. Williams Hurt.

While the S. S. Rosalind was at Montreal Capt. Williams of that ship met with a painful accident. As he was going on board the ship he slipped on the deck and sprained his ankle. The hurt limb still gives him pain, and all the voyage down the captain could not walk without the aid of a stick.

This Wonderful Age.

A house belonging to Mr. C. Doyle, on the Coulters Road, reported by a temporary to have been destroyed by fire on Tuesday night last, was found to have arisen from its ashes, like the phoenix, yesterday morning, and is now intact. Crowds of people from the road are wondering at the miracle.
