Canadian Gallantry.

Of the fierce fighting that has been raging for weeks past on the British front the Canadians seem to be bearing the brunt. The following extract from the Times correspondent, H. H. Robinson, speaks for itself:—

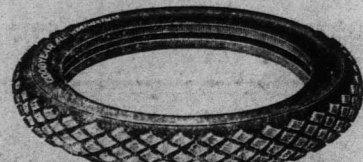

In the earlier fighting at Hooge the troops engaged included units of the Princess Patricia's light infantry, Canadian Mounted Rifles, the Royal Canadian regiment and Canadian infantry. The northern end of the line was attacked and it was held by the Princess Patricia's. Here and in the Sanctuary Wood was the scene of fighting of the most desperate kind. Occupying the middle of the ground covered by the enemy's concentrated fire were battalions of the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

It was terrible fighting over the whole line. Terrible, hour after hour, and not only over the front line itself, but in the region behind, where lay the places known as Maple Copse, Observatory Ridge and Armagh Wood. Each of these names will be written large in history. Other battalions came up through the Barrage later to assist the Mounted Rifles, and few things finer, it is said, were ever seen in war than the way they came up.

To the dazed and broken remnants of the men in our trenches the enemy was not visible until close at hand. Of one battalion, few of the men who remained had any rifles left fit for use, even if the men had been fit to use them. But when they saw the enemy coming toward the trenches to meet them, they charged magnificently, but pitifully, to their deaths, some blind and deaf and staggering, with no weapons but broken rifle butts, bits of entrenching tools and in some cases only their fists.

The battle for this debated ground began on June 2nd when the Germans followed a bombardment of terrific power by the usual infantry attacks, capturing the positions named above. The casualty lists that have since issued show the serious extent of the Canadian losses.

Now there is a sequel to the story. The message of June 15th tells us that by an unexpectedly sudden counter-attack these very positions were recaptured in brilliant fashion. The British line is reformed. Thus the Canadians have retrieved their fortunes; their reputation needed no retrieving. With so many Newfoundlanders among the Dominion forces, and our own boys' holding for the present a quiet part of the line, we find the greatest immediate interest in the doings of the Canadians. Apart from their fine contribution numerically to the cause, they seem so far always to have faced greater odds.

J. R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.Killed in Action.

St. Lawrence mourns the loss of another of her heroic boys who have given their lives for King and Country. Only a few days ago we laid away Private Max Reeves who had died at St. John's and was brought home for interment, and now intelligence comes from Ottawa saying Pte. Alonzo Stanley was killed in action in France, June 8. Only a few days ago Mr. Farrell received a message from Ottawa saying his son, Augustus, was wounded in France. Out of forty of St. Lawrence's boys who are serving in H. M. Forces, two have been killed in action, two have died and two more are wounded.—Com.

St. Lawrence, June 14th, 1916.

Caught in Elevator.

At noon to-day, little Jimmie Holloway, the seven-year-old son of Mr. Edward Holloway, janitor of the Board of Trade building, had a narrow escape from death, when his right foot got caught between the big passenger elevator and the main floor of the building. It appears the little chap jumped on board the elevator as it was going up and standing near the door got his foot caught in the manner described. The little chap kept cool, and bore up bravely while he was being released from such a nasty position. On examination it was found that the child's foot was badly bruised, but as far as was known no bones were broken, which appears nothing short of a miracle.

Annual Meeting

Of George St. Methodist Congregation.

Last night a meeting of George St. Methodist congregation was held in the church basement, and was fairly well attended. The reports for the year were read, the spiritual by the Pastor, Rev. N. M. Guy, financially, by Mr. R. F. Horwood; Deacons, by Miss Lyon and Mrs. Cockerham—all of which went to show that the church had made considerable progress during the year. Mr. W. P. Butler was re-elected Congregational Secretary for the ensuing year.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.—Four young men offered their services for King and Country at recruiting headquarters yesterday. The total number of enrolments to date is 3,876. The new additions are: Cecil Knott, Burgeo; Geo. Bowridge, Burgeo; Thos. Bowridge, Burgeo; Graham Bennett, Grand Bank.

Opening of the Sailors & Soldiers Club

We have received from the Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Committee an invitation to be present at the opening of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Club on Monday afternoon next, the 19th inst. Following is the order of proceedings:

Sir William Horwood, Chief Justice of Newfoundland, will preside and state the purpose of the Club, and describe what has been done and the facilities provided.

Hon. R. Watson, Chairman of the Institute Committee, will mention the pleasure the Committee and Dr. Grenfell have had in setting apart the accommodation for the use of the Club. To recommend as necessary that a provisional committee of three men each from the Royal Naval Reserve and Newfoundland Regiment be nominated by Captain MacDermott of H.M.S. Briton and Major Montgomerie, Adjutant of the Newfoundland Regiment, to take charge of the rooms until the Club is organized.

The Representative of the Ladies' Committee to present to the Club all the furnishings and equipment.

Captain MacDermott, H.M.S. Briton, and Major Montgomerie, Adjutant Newfoundland Regiment, to receive the Club on behalf of the Provisional Committee to be formed.

A vote of thanks to the Ladies' Committee for their successful endeavors will be proposed and accorded.

Thus will be inaugurated another form of the splendid services our ladies have rendered to the cause. That the new Club will prove a boon to the Volunteers goes without saying. We congratulate all associated with the institution, and in particular the young ladies with whom the idea originated.

Rossley's Pantomime Company

"Now they wear the khaki. The King's own good khaki. They wear it with pride and joy. That fake advertiser, Old Billy the Kaiser, Will hear from Newfoundland's boys. Where trouble's brewing, Their bit they are doing. To hammer down Britain's foes. When the bagpipes are humming, Newfoundlanders coming, From the land where the sturdy lads grow."

This chorus is sung by Miss Bonnie Rossley and the company in every town where the Rossley Co. has appeared. It is a greater marching song than the popular 'Long Way to Tipperary', and meets everywhere with rounds of applause. The company are now playing in Kentville, N.S. They were booked for one night only, but so great a hit have they made that the management extended the engagement to three weeks. The Rossleys have a return engagement at the Grand Opera House, New Glasgow, the week of June 26th. In Kentville there are stationed six thousand soldiers, among them many Newfoundland boys, who were delighted to meet the Rossley Company. The Roman Catholic priest, Father Donohue, in Kentville, also made the girls all feel at home. The girls all attended confession and Holy Communion, and the priest, together with some ladies, arranged a splendid picnic for all. He had several motor cars and carriages and himself drove a car full of girls. They drove out to Wolfville to view the apple-blossoms, a wonderful sight, as there are thousands of apple orchards in full bloom. To the Newfoundland girls it was like fairyland. The priest and ladies gave all a splendid lunch. Among the ladies was a former Miss Herder, of Newfoundland, now Mrs. Dr. Maloney, who could not do enough for the girls. They sang for the priest, and after lots of good things to eat had all sorts of games and were driven home again. This company are having a very easy time; as the soldiers have to be in camp which is two miles away the show is over at 9 p.m. The Rossley company is on its way home to St. John's, Nfld., and will play all return dates. Every member of the company is in perfect health, and enjoying a grand time.—Com.
