

A Suggestion Worth Considering.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—I understand that to-morrow night a meeting of the sporting fraternity of St. John's will be held at the Casino theatre to consider matters of sport and that a portion of the time will be occupied in holding a smoking concert.
Last night, as no doubt you are aware, a public meeting was called in the Casino for the purpose of discussing a War Memorial. The attendance at this meeting amounted to quite the words of the Police Officer on the door, "enough for two good games of draw." The meeting was postponed to the autumn which means that nothing will ever be done, as apparently the longer this matter, which should have been attended to two years ago, is postponed, less and less interest seems to be taken in the project of a War Memorial.
From what I have heard among the sporting fraternity of the city, I believe to-morrow night's meeting will be packed to the doors. Might I therefore avail of your columns to suggest to Mr. Ayre, who I understand is the convenor of the meeting, that the concert be abandoned and the meeting be divided into two parts (1) to discuss the athletic project, and (2) to discuss the War Memorial. I would further suggest that R. G. Rendell Esq. be invited to take the Chair during the second part of the meeting. After all, when one figures it out, it was the "sports" of the country that went to the war and it is up to the present "sports" to be prominently featured with any project to keep green the memory of those real sports that didn't come back.
Yours very truly,
P. E. OUTERBRIDGE.

Obituary.

JAMES GOODWIN.
A telegram received in the city yesterday announced the death, at New Melbourne, of Mr. James Goodwin, one of the most respected residents of that settlement. Mr. Goodwin in his younger days prosecuted the fishery and with marked success. In later life he was appointed one of the mail couriers for Trinity Bay, travelling in all weathers and giving general satisfaction to the inhabitants of the various places served by him. He also took his part in local affairs, being for a time a Main Line Commissioner and a member of the Education Board. Mr. Goodwin will be remembered as a prominent and influential member of the Orange Society. His family will have the sympathy of his many friends in Trinity Bay and in St. John's, in their bereavement to-day.
