Nova Scotia Coal Strike Over

Work to Resume on Monday--Conference of Shipping Magnates Opened Yesterday at Montreal--Canadian Trade With United Kingdom Shows Improvement.

ESCO ACCEPTS RHODES PROPOSALS.

HALIFAX, Aug. 6. The British Empire Steel Corporation advised Premier Rhodes by wire today that they had accepted the Government's proposals for a settlement of the Nova Scotia coal strike. With the acceptance yesterday of the proposition by the miners, this brings an end to the five months old tie-up. A six months contract, pending an investigation of the industry, will be signed at wage rates set to eight per cent. below those of 1924.

LATEST NEWS OF STRIKE SETTLEMENT.

HALIFAX, Aug. 6. The signing of a six months interim contract, withdrawal from the mining areas of the military, commencement of work on Monday, and the appointment of a commission to investigate the entire coal industry, these are the developments which are expected to happen in rapid succession as the result of the agreement of both the British Empire Steel Corporation and their miner employees to accept the Government's proposals for a return to work. The appointing of the Commission will probably take longer than the other developments, but Premier Rhodes said to-day it would be done as speedily as possible. Work on the contract will start to-morrow. When the District Board of the miners meets the corporation officials in St. John's today. It is not anticipated that there will be any appreciable difficulty inasmuch as the Government's terms provided that the contract should have 1922 wages rates and the 1924 working agreement. With the contract out of the way this week, Vice-President J. E. McLaughlin anticipates that work could be commenced in the mines on Monday. Withdrawal of some one thousand troops which were sent from Ontario, Quebec and Halifax the middle of June following the New Waterford riot is looked for very soon, and is understood to have been already discussed by the Government. To-day the tie-up of the Province's coal industry lasted just five months, having started on March 6th. Previous to that negotiations had been going on to agree on a contract both prior to and after the 1924 contract expired on January 15th.

FRANCE AND HER DEBTS.

PARIS, Aug. 6. It is now virtually settled that the French mission which is to go to the United States to arrange a settlement of France's war debt will leave for Washington during the first fortnight of September. The French Government has decided to treat the debt settlement with Great Britain and the United States as two distinct and separate undertakings, and that whatever might be the stage of the negotiations opened ten days ago in London between France and England, early in September the French mission will proceed to the United States.

GERMANY DEPORTING POLES.

BERLIN, Aug. 6. Foreign Minister Stresemann announced to-day that the Polish residents in Germany, who chose to retain their Polish citizenship, following the plebiscites of 1920-21 in East and West Prussia and Upper Silesia, have been ordered to leave Germany within 48 hours under pain of compulsory deportation.

SHIPPING MAGNATES MEET.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6. The North Atlantic Shipping Conference began its first session in Montreal this morning to discuss the problem of shipping rates on the Atlantic from Canadian and American ports to British and European ports. Reports that W. T. R. Preston who levelled charges against Steamship Companies in connection with freight rates, al-legating a combine, would arrive in Montreal on Saturday with further evidence to renew his campaign did not disturb the equanimity of the meeting. Mr. Preston is a dead issue, was the comment of a member of the conference prior to the formal opening of the session. The sessions will be held in camera and will conclude some time to-morrow it was stated.

CANADIAN TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6. Canadian trade with the United Kingdom is showing an improvement in both exports and imports. Exports to the United Kingdom during the 12 months ending April, were $333,704,698 or sixteen millions more than the previous year. Imports from the United Kingdom were $150,456,610, three millions more than the previous year.

LONGSHOREMEN'S CONVENTION.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6. The International officers of the International Longshoremen's Association are meeting here to-day, as an International Audit Committee in preparation for the annual convention of the organization which begins in Montreal on next Monday. There will be in attendance about 125 delegates, representing 60,000 longshoremen distributed over the North and South American continents. The session is expected to last a week or ten days.

Colinet's Need

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—(If ever) a letter is sent to the public press from this little "remote part of the island." But I think its time for somebody to wake up ere it's too late. Lives have been so much endangered and even lost to no telegraph or telephone connection. Now, "who is responsible?" Only a few days ago we had a gentleman here who almost bled to death before we got medical aid. It was late in the evening and by the time we sent a man to Salmonier, the Telegraph Office telephones were not in response. Now, if we had even a telephone and a right system on both lines there would be no cause to worry. Again, if we had a line to Whitehouse to connect with the Anglo Office we could get help day or night.

Now Messrs. Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott it is up to you. You've promised time and again and even went as far as to say that it didn't matter what party was returned, the telephone would certainly come to "Colinet." Surely the matter has gone far enough, and for the sake of humanity get busy and let us have our rights. Don't wait for the motor road to be finished to Placentias and then have it done for the sake of tourists, that would come, but have it done right now for the sake of the poor individuals who have settled here.

Yours sincerely, CITIZEN. Colinet, Aug. 3rd, 1925.

A Strange Duel

Probably the strangest duel that ever took place was one fought in Paris in 1808. It is peculiarly French and could hardly have occurred under any but French society. Two gentlemen of France quarrelled over the lady of their mutual love. Tempers rose, and in the heat of the moment they agreed to fight a duel to settle their respective claims.

In order that the heat of angry passion should not interfere with the polished elegance of the proceedings they agreed to postpone the duel for a month. The fight was to be from balloons, the survivor to claim the hand of the lady in marriage. A day and place of meeting were arranged, and on the appointed day the duellists met. The gentlemen were name Grandpre and Le Pique.

The ascent took place in the garden of the Tuileries amidst a vast concourse of spectators. The gentlemen were to fire, not at each other, but at the balloons. The resultant escape of gas would bring the balloon down, and in all probability would mean the death of the occupant.

The balloons having been cast off and having ascended, at a given signal the duellists opened fire. Le Pique missed, but his opponent was successful in sending a bullet through Le Pique's balloon. The latter crashed to the earth and was smashed to pieces. His conqueror still made his ascent and landed triumphantly seven miles out of Paris.

So ended what must be considered the strangest of all duels.

Bishop Welldon Mobbed

ESCAPE FROM RIVER DUCKING.

Bishop Welldon, Dean of Durham, who is 71, was mobbed by miners at a big Socialist demonstration at Durham on Saturday and narrowly escaped being hustled into the River Wear.

Apparently he was mistaken for the Bishop of Durham, Dr. Henson, to whose recent statements in the Press on the coal dispute speakers had called attention. He approached one of the platforms from which he was to address a temperance gathering when the other speeches were over. The anger of the crowds had been increased by a banner carried through-out streets bearing the words "To Hell with Bishops and Deans. We want a living wage."

"Here's the Bishop!" shouted the crowd. Dr. Welldon was seen elbowing his way good-naturedly through the seething mass.

Booing and hissing preceded a further cry from men and women: "To the river! Chuck him in!"

Mr. James Robson, president of the Durham miners, appealed for order, but his voice was drowned in the uproar. An ugly scene followed, a Daily Mail reporter saw crowds of young men and women jostle the Dean, who was "kicked" and struck. Someone knocked off his silk hat and others tore his umbrellas from him.

Pitmen to the Rescue. The crowd was pushing him across the racecourse to the river, 100 yards away. When he was on the edge of the water a crowd of sturdily-built pitmen, realizing the position, tried to stem the advance.

The police succeeded in obtaining the services of a motor launch, which was drawn near enough to the bank for the Dean to be helped on board. He was landed a mile own stream, covered with dust.

"Nobody can accuse me of any ill-feeling towards the miners, with whose struggles for improved conditions I have always shown the greatest sympathy," said Dr. Welldon, discussing the incident with a Daily Mail reporter.—Daily Mail, July 27.

Mount Cashel drawing will take place on Monday next, 10th inst. All stubs to be in on that date. Tickets will be on sale at J. P. Cash's Store up to 6 p.m. Monday.—aug. 6.

Water-Drop Wonders

Interesting pictures of the myriad forms of life that exist in a single drop of water were shown in a recent film. A pond covered with green slime and apparently still is in reality a teeming mass of life. A drop of water is taken up in the eye of a needle and magnified eleven million times reveals a swarm of wriggling creatures that appear to be ruled by a great potent monster that looks like a sea serpent, but whose actual length is less than three-sixteenths of an inch.

The rotifer, an inhabitant of stagnant ponds, has a "water-wheel" entrance to his internal system and catches his victims by means of suction.

EXTRA! A Scream of a Comedy

Well, sir, Dear Uncle Lucky on hearing the voice shout "Stop" in the last story, put on the brakes and halted the Luckymobile as quick as a wink. The next minute out from behind a big tree jumped Danny Fox, that sly old robber who is always bothering rabbits and chickens. "Ha, I fooled you this time," he snarled as he slowly crept toward the two little bunnies and Daddy Longlegs. "Get out your pop-gun," whispered the old gentleman rabbit, in the bunny boy's ear. "Quick!"

But, Oh dear me, it's no easy matter to slip off a knapsack and open it when a fox is coming towards one. No, indeed. The little rabbit's paw trembled so that he could scarcely undo the buckles, and before he could get out his pop-gun Danny Fox was grinning at them over the wind-shield.

"Here's a lollypop," gasped the bunny boy, pulling one from his pocket. "Does Bushytail like candy?"

"He certainly does," answered Danny Fox. "So does Slyboot."

"Here's one for him, too," and the frightened little rabbit dropped another lollypop into the old Fox's outstretched paw.

"Well, the boys will be happy when I get home," grinned Danny Fox. "As for Mrs. Fox, she'll be happy, too, when I bring two rabbits home for a stew, and he licked his lips with his long red tongue.

"I guess we are goners this time," thought poor Uncle Lucky.

"Now, don't make a fuss," went on Danny Fox, alighting an empty sunny sack off his right shoulder. "Be nice and quiet while I slip you in," and he smiled another horrible grin.

Just then something hit him squarely on the end of his nose, Crackerino! It was one of Daddy Longlegs' shoes. The next minute another shoe hit the old fox on his right ear, and then a third shoe on the left, and before he could dodge, a fourth shoe hit his right eye. "Ha, ha!" chuckled Daddy Longlegs and quicker than I can tell it, that brave old insect threw four more shoes at it, knocking the old fox head over heels.

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Just then something hit him squarely on the end of his nose.

know. It might make me shiver," and the old gentleman bunny smiled at Daddy Longlegs. Nice Uncle Lucky. He always had a smile for everybody even when tears were in his eyes. A sort of a rainbow smile, eh Little Reader?

Just then Bobbie Redvest began to sing:

"Hurry on, or you'll be late, Lady Love is at the gate Waiting for her bunny boy With a pretty little toy."

If Baby were SCALDED—What would YOU do?

You would rush—for the household tin of "Mecca" and immediately apply a thick poultice of this wonderful ointment to the scalded area. The almost instantaneous effect of "Mecca" is to not only relieve the excruciating pain, but to arrest inflammation and destruction of the tissues. For this reason the prompt application of "Mecca" has indeed saved many lives. Read what Mrs. Tresidder of Toronto says about her experience—

Toronto,
Dear Sir,—Some little time ago my daughter was severely scalded about the legs with boiling water. Immediately following the accident we plastered the wounds with "Mecca," keeping this up every day, and the result was that the child suffered but very little the first few days, and from then until the wounds healed she did not suffer at all. In a few months there was not the sign of a scar to be seen.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H. D. Tresidder.

The remarkable healing powers of "Mecca" are almost magical. It is an antiseptic dressing that relieves pain and removes soreness more quickly than any other known preparation. It is absorbed by the tissues, which carry its medicinal properties into the seat of the soreness.
