Scribner's for October opens with an interesting account of the Canadian North-west Mounted Police. It is by Mr. J. G. A. west Mounted Police. It is by Mr. J. G. A. Creighton, who knows the police thoroughly; and Mr. Frederick Remington provides his vigorous pictures. Joel Chandler Harris tells of the "Mystery of the Red Fox"; Mr. William Dean Howells discourses of the man of letters as a man of business. There are stories by Dunean Campbell Scott and J. K. It discusses the policy of the United States with regard to other nations and the acquisition of territory, and is a plea for continental union and non-interference with neighboring islands. It will be followed in the November Magazine by an article on "Arbitration" by Frederick R. Coudert.

The hitherto unpublished poem by Sir Walter Scott, which we find in 'Black-wood," is chiefly interesting as a specimen wood," is chiefly interesting as a specimen of the poor work which an eminent author can sometimes produce. It served suitleently well its purpose as a personal and private tribute to the dead Chief of Glengary and Clanronald, and as such was properly cherished by Glengarry's widow and children. AMERICAN WORKINGMAN

Must Compromise With His Em ployer, or Emigrate, Beg or Starve.

The Right to Live Must be Conceded by the Owners of the Land.

Editor CANADA FARMERS' SUN

In view of the facts given in an article in a late number, entitled "The End of the Land," it will be well for us as Canadians to study the history of the United States in relation to its land policy; and to consider whather we cannot street by our sider whether we cannot profit by our neighbors' mistakes, and so avoid having to neighbors' mistakes, and so avoid having to buy experience dearly ourselves.

It is not many years since Unele Sam began in good earnest the distribution of his public land. It was preclaimed throughout the world that land was waiting for everyone who would cultivate it, and thousands yearly poured into the United States and took possession of their allotments. Enormous tracts also were granted to railway and other companies, and by these means millions of acres have been passing annually from the possession of the Government into the hands of individuals and companies. The grand distribution is now companies. The grand distribution is now about to cease, simply because everything has been given away; and from this time on the thousands who will yearly be born in the country, or who will emigrate to it from other places, will have to obtain the right to live there from people whe already own the land.

Hitherto wages have been high in the United States, as compared with those paid in Europe, because the free lands of the country were always available to those who failed to make a satisfactory bargain with employers. Lately, however, the headlong rush into newly opened territories has shown that this great competitor with employers for labor is out of the field; and now the workers of the United States have only these alternatives before them—make terms with the land-owners for the right erms with the land-owners for the right o get at the land, take the wages offered to get at the land, take the wages offered by employers, emigrate, beg or starve.

This is the condition of the working classes in the land to the south of us; and why! Because land is scarce? No. There are only three persons to each cultivated acre in the United States, and there are many millions of acres not yet tilled. The true reason is because vast tracts are keps out of use by railway companies, land companies and individual speculators, and it pays them to do it.

Let Canadians awake; the tide of emigration must soon pour over our gration must soon pour over our country, and there is nothing in our position, laws or constitution to prevent country, and there is nothing in our position, laws or constitution to provent us traveling exactly the same path that our neighbors have tred, and to the same end. Let us take warning by them and devise a policy that, while making our lands easy of access to the workers of the country, will keep them out of the gresp of speculators. In devising ways and means for compassing this end we must remember that the two classes of people referred to want the land for entirely different purposes. The farmer wants to use it for raising crops and cattle; his labors tend not only to his own benefit, but to that of the whole people. It is to the interest of the country that no drag or discouragement should be put on his industry and therefore he should be entirely relieved of all taxation on his houses, barns, fences, crops, stock, etc.

The speculator, on the other hand, holds land not to use, but out of use. He stands there, backed up by the power of the Governmen, waiving off all comers until the crowding people in their competition for a place to live and work on consent to pay his price. We encourage this by taxing unused land more lightly than land that is put to good use, and so make it profitable to keep it idle, often for many years. This policy should be reversed; the speculator's interests are not the best interests of the country, and should not be considered in the matter. Improvements should be entirely Liberal Tariff Platform.

We, the Liberal party of Canada, in cons-vention assembled declare:
That the customs tariff of the Deminion should be based, upon as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the require-ments of the public service.
That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency, wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combina-tions;

itions;
It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property;
It has oppressed the masses to the entrichment of the few;
It has checked immigration;
It has impeded commerce;
It has discriminated gainst Great Britain.

In these, and in many other ways, it has occasioned great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force.

That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a second fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote domestic and foreign trade and hasten the return of prosperity of our people.

That to that end, the tariff should be reduced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government.

duced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government.

That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life and should be so arranged as to promote freer trade with the whole world, more particularly Great Britain and the United States.

We believe that the results of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honestly supported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy. The issue between the two political parties on this great question is now clearly The Government themselves admit the failure of their fiscal policy, and now pro-fees their willingness to make some changes, but they say that such changes must be based only on the principle of must be based only on the principle of protection.

We denounce the principle of protection as radically unsound and unjust to the masses of the people, and we declare our conviction that any tariff changes based on that principle must fail to afford any substantial relief from the burdens under which the country labors.

This issue we unbesitatingly accept, and upon it we await with the fullest confi-dence the verdict of the electors of Canada.
