Stock Notes.—Continued.

There has been such a brisk demand for choice stock rams to head flocks, that only few are left for the late trade. I have supplied many of the leading flocks in Canada and the United States with first-class imported and Canadian-bred sires. Among the purchasers were Messrs. W. C. Edwards, M.P., Sheriff Hagar, R. Gibson, G. Hindmarsh, W. Moore, C. Wren, A. McMillan, and J. Barr, of Ontario. The American buyers were Messrs. J. L. Garrett, Kentucky; S. R. Woods, Virginia; H. W. Chaffee, Ohio; L. B. Huntley, New Hampshire; McFadden Bros., Iowa; G. D. Loomis, Ohio; W. R. Weaver & Sons, Illinois; W. D. Rose, Pennsylvania; Smith Rogers, Michigan; H. M. Moore, Pennsylvania. Earlier in the season several sales were made to parties in Manitoba, who exhibited successfully at the Winnipeg Exhibitions, both rams and ewes. The trade in the latter is also remarkably good, and singular to say aged ewes are freely enquired for. I have sold several eight-year-old imported ewes, which have been especially good breeders. In fact, I have not an old ewe now left that is fit to offer. But a few pairs of very good imported sheepings and a number of Canadian-bred ewes are awaiting orders.—JOHN CAMPBELL, Fairview Farm, Woodville, Ont.

The MAPLE HILL HERD OF HOLSTEIN-FRIESIANS, owned by G. W. Clemons, St. George, Ont., was founded in 1891 by the purchase of a bull and two females from the herd of Mr. A. C. Hallman, New Dundas. Three more females from the same herd followed shortly afterwards, and choice animals have been picked up, to occasion offered, from most of the leading Canadian herds, such as those of Messrs. Stoder, McNiven, McElroy & Buttner, Smith Bros., and Pollard. In the spring of 1893 an importation of seven head of the highest breeding and individual merit was made from the great herd of H. Stevens & Sons, Lodiaca, N.Y., and the herd now on hand is composed almost entirely of these animals and their descendants. Mr. Clemons started early to compare notes with other breeders by sending out a show herd to the large fairs, and his success in the show-ring has been very satisfactory. Since 1893 an exhibit has been made every year and the cash winnings during that time have totalled about $1,500, besides numerous medals and diplomas, including the gold medal for the herd at Ottawa in 1897. It is worthy of note that no Canadian herd has been placed above the Maple Hill Herd 2½ seasons. Nearly all the most fashionable strains of blood are represented in the herd, which now numbers about thirty-five head, but Mr. Clemons has a special fondness for that great butter family, the DeKoij. Visitors are always welcome at Maple Hill, and prospective purchasers can usually find something good in all ages of stock.

R. RAYMOND, St. Anne de Bellevue, Que.: The imported cattle selected by the manager, Mr. James Weston, last winter, are doing well. The two-year-old bull, Napoleon of Auchterhouse, is a good, strong, well-matured animal of the old country type of dairy bull. He was bred by Robert Wallace of Auchterhouse, and by Baron Wallerius and son of Old Peasey's line. Of the imported cows, Princess of Holchow, bred by Robert Woodward, Holchow, Galaxie, Auchterhouse, is a three-year-old that will do well. She is a good-bodied, strong-boned, useful-looking cow, with a good loin, great milk veins, and all the appearance of making a grand dairy cow. She is by Traveller's wife to Holchow, and out of Melvilleview. Another of the imported cows that is going to make a good, useful cow is Nancy Wallerius of Auchterhouse.

Robes AND Goats

have had eight years' experience in Canada, with an increased sale every year, which is the highest compliment to their merits. They have been in use by Liverymen, Doctors, Farmers, and hundreds of others from ocean to ocean, and one and all say that they are the robe of the future. The robe is made in one piece, therefore no seams to rip, and is as strong as leather. A superior class of lining is used, and it is interlined with rubber cloth, making it both wind and waterproof. It is also moth-proof, easily dried after being wet, does not get hard like a skin robe, and has no offensive smell.

Received medal and diploma of honorable mention at the World's Fair.

For sale in all leading towns and villages in the Dominion.

Beware of imitations, and see that every robe bears our name.

carried by a similar device to all parts of the stable. The basement of the barn will be used for root cellar, feed rooms and silos. A new 500 ton silo has been built and filled. In the building of this silo the joints were placed in horizontally around the silo at the ends of the upright timbers. It makes a strong, complete silo, and the seal joints make it impossible for the walls to spread at all. On the inside of the ends two inch squared and grooved plank were put on diagonally, so this far paper, then a layer of matched lath lumber.
