Star, No. 365, extend to Brother Kay and his family their deepest sympathy for the irreparable loss of an amiable, unselfish, and loving wife and mother.

In the bonds of L., B. and C.,
H. BORLAND, C.R.

Brute Humanity.

Once in the city of Vienna, there was a dread of hydrophobia, and orders were given to massacre all the dogs which were found unclaimed or uncollared in the city or suburbs. Men were employed for this purpose, and they generally carried a short stick, which they flung at the poor prescribed animal with such certain aim as either to kill or maim it mortally at one blow.

It happened one day that, close to the edge of the river, near the Ferdinand's-Brucke, one of those men flung his stick at a wretched dog, but with such bad aim that it fell into the river. The poor animal following its instinct, or its teaching, immediately plunged in, redeemed the stick, and laid it at the feet of its owner, who, snatching it up, dashed out the creature's brains.

Which was the brute?

We may surmise what the Athenians would have done to such a man from the fact that they banished the Judge of the Areopagus, because he flung away the bird which sought shelter in his bosom.

There are men in whom is no spark of gratitude or generosity. There are others who appreciate benefits received and are happy in making grateful acknowledgment.

Rev. J. W. Asherman, one of the most eloquent divines of Detroit, Mich., writes, March 3rd, 1888: "In 1884 I visited Chatham, Ont., to lecture and preach. I was in agonizing pain (the result of kidney disorders), and unable to dine with mine host. I explained to Judge Woods what was the matter. He asked me if I was too prejudiced by my medical education to try Warner's Safe Cure, adding: 'Although I have never tried it, I can take you to a gentleman whom it has helped wonderfully.'

"I used 25 bottles of Warner's Safe Cure and was in better health than for twenty-five years. I have everything to lose and nothing to gain by making this statement, save the approval of a good conscience."

There are tens of thousands of people in this country who have gained the approval of a good conscience in a like manner, and are not too bigoted to do good.

Condolence.

FARGUHAR, 15th March, 1889.

The following resolution was passed by Court Star, No. 365, I. O. F., with the instruction that a copy of it be handed to Brother Kay, and also sent to THE FORESTER for publication:

Whereas,—God in His overruling providence has been pleased to remove the wife of our respected brother, T. M. Kay, from her home to His eternal home,

Resolved,—That the members of Court
