Selections.

"We do not remember a single instance in the past thirty years," says Wade's Fibre and Fabric, "where it was an advantage to labor to strike, and we must look at a strike in labors interest if at all. Labor loses every time when they resort to brute force. It is 'heads I win, tails you lose, every time, and the sooner labor learns not to strike at all, but accumulate money and educate their members, then will they exert a force that will be respected."

Annual Report.

In his annual report just issued, Secretary Sturtevant of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce says the average price paid for wheat in that market for the year was lower than in any former year. The range of prices was greater than in 1885, being 21½ cents against 19½ cents. The highest quotation was on Jan. 2, 1886, 90½ cents, and the lowest, Oct. 12, 69½ cents. In 1885 the lowest price was in January, 76½ cents and the highest in June, 95½ cents. The receipts of grain exceeded those of 1885: Wheat 2,003,700 bu. corn, 51,000 bu; oats, 391,000; flax seed, 154,000. The shipments of flour exceeded those of 1885 by 807,756 barrels, and the export, 766,544 barrels.

In regard to the export flour trade the secretary says: The exports of flour from Minneapolis since the first foreign shipments were made in 1878, has been a feature of the trade, commencing in that year with 109,183 bbls, in nine years it has steadily increased to 2,630,000 bbls in 1886. More than one-fourth of all the flour exported from Minneapolis was sent on through bills to foreign countries. This was more than one-fourth of the entire imports into the United Kingdom.
