FRENCH OPINION ON THE PROCLAMA-

The Paris correspondent of the Standard writes:—The proclamation of the National League in Dubliu has given the French Rad cals and Intransigeants an opportunity to indulge in all sorts of pessimist predictions for the Cons r vative Cabinet. The Justice, the sympathy of which with Mr. Parnell and his followers is a secret to no one, des not, however, agree with the Radical London newspaper that called the measure Lord Salisbury's "final plunge." It atyles it a "challenge." Nevertheless, it does not believe that the measure will a the present moment entail the grave con-sequence it might, because the men and the sequence it might, because the men and the associations affected by it will not indulge in reprisals. The reas:n for this, according to the Justice, is that Mr. Gladstone, and with him "the whole Liberal Party," having espoused the cause of Home Rule, a new sentiment has been created in Ireland. This j-urnal remarks:

'The most despairing and the most exasperated, as well as the least Parliamentary and the esst reasoning, know that the victory is near, even imminent, that it is no longer a question of years, but of months or weeks." Examining the practical effect of the proclamation of the League, M. Clemenceau's organ believes it will be almost nil, or at least so long as it is found impossible to implicate in ac's of violence any of the sections proclaimed. As for this being done, the Justice contends it is most unlikely, for, "since the foundation of the National League, the work of Messrs. Parnell and Davitt has had for its object and result to induce a great number of Irish peasants to abandon their traditions of vengeance and summary justice." Far from being efficacious, this Radical journal affirms the result will be that after their discontinuous the American will accommod the conditions and fution the Associations will act openly, and more openly and more freely than the German Socialist Party, whose forces have but been sugmented by the Bismarckian law.

THE INDIANS AND LEO XIII.

A correspondent of the Catholic Review gives a beautiful il ustration of the generosity of the Catholic Indians in Montana, and their devotion to the Holy See. During the sermon, at High Mass, Bishop Brondel stated that the Holy Father would celebrate his golden julces this year, and that it was expected of all his faithful children to offer him presents as to eas of their love. "He made use of but three sentences which were made known to the Indians through the interpreter, the good Father Cata'da, and immediately followed a scene that my pen can never describe. As soon as High Mass was over, and during a great part of the afternoon, the poor ladians, wrapped in their blankets—poor as the poorest of God's creature s—cume one after another into the Bish propersions, placing at his feet offerings, the spring part of the set of the tion to the Holy See. During the sermon, at High Mass, Bishop Brondel stated that the Holy Father would celebrate his golden july lee creating section one after another into the Bish of presence, placing at his feet offerings, so vacous, so numerous, unique, with such that implicity, with such love and hearty childing in the implicity, with such love and hearty affice that to move us to tears. A poor old cann brought a string of wild carris and bitter roots, gathered for her win support, volunteering to fast herself that the Holy Father night enjoya meal. Another pulled off her carrings, still another her breastpin, a young girl of eighteen sacrificed her only ornament—a beautiful belt. Pipes, knives, fancy cases, and a hundred other things too numerous to mention, continued to things too numerous to mention, continued to swell the pile before the Bishop. Besides all this, they brought eighty dollars in cash as a final offering. Considering all the articles, and the value the Indians placed upon them, I doubt it single congregation in America will bring sill sacrifices as these children of the woode."

THE McGBYNN; Case.

Baltimore. Sept. 10 Cardinal Gibbons authorizes the following statement in reference to his connection with the McGlydn case.

Shortly after his arrival in Rome in February last, Cardinal Gibbons, in an audience with the Holy Father, was requested by Hut Holliness to ask Dr. McGlynn to come to Home. The next day the Cardinal complied, with the instruction of the Holy Father, but as he did not know Dr. McGlynn's address, he wrote the letter to Dr. Burtaell, because he regarded him as a saight of Dr. McGlynn. Some weeks later Cardinal Gibbons received a reply from Dr. Burtaell giving reasons and excuses why Dr. McGlynn did not go to Rome. As the answer McGlynn did not go to Rome. As the answer from Dr. Burtsell was addressed, not to Car-dinal Simeoni, but to Cardinal Gibbons himdival Simeoni, but to Cardmal Gibbons himse f. the latter saw no reason for handing the letter to the Propaganda. Far, however, from "suppressing" its contents, he was very careful to communicate them to the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda. It may be added that Cardinal Gibbons was in no way authorteed to act as an intermediary between Dr. Mc Glynn and his Archbishop, and, therefore, cerupit onally avoided interfering in a matter in which had no direct concern, and his visit to Rome had in view a different purpose. Rome had in view a different purpose.

HOW TO TRAIN A CANARY. Set the cage on a table near where you wish to sit; after a little conference with the bird introduce a finger between the wires near the favorite perch, holding it there patiently, yourself occupied with a book or paper the while. Presently, as it shows no disposition to harm him, he cautiously goes up to examine it. Then he picks to ascertain its quality; maybe he fights it. That is well; he no longer fears it. Pay him with a little bird food; put him away. Pay him with a little bird food; put him away. Next day try him again. He may go farther and light on it, or he may be several days getting thus familiar. Be patient. Once this step is attained, vary the programme by introducing the finger in other spots. He will soon light on it at any point or angle. Then try the door, at first thrusting the finger under it; next time fasten it open, b'ockading egress with the rest of the hand as one finger extends within. When he perches on it draw him forth a little; next time tempt him to perch outside a little; and so on. In a short time you have but to open the cage door, uplift a finger, and but to open the cage door, uplift a finger, and he is sure to fly to it; and he may thus be called to any part of the room to rest on the familiar perch. Most birds learn this familiarity in a few days, yet there are those who will be two or four weeks about it.—Dumb Ani-

An Albany watchmaker to whom a watch that had been dropped overboard on a fishing excursion was taken, found that some of the works were so badly rusted that they were useless. "If," said he, "you had dropped your watch in oil as soon as you took it out of the water, or, better yet, have dropped it into alcohol or any kind of strong liquor, it would have cost you nothing but the cleaning." toriare enternational and appear

A HUMAN WEAKNESS.

A HUMAN WEARNESS.

"Have you ever noticed," asked the engineer,
at a railwoad crossing, how people will rush across the track just ahead of the engine, and then stand on the other side and watch the train go by? It's a mighty curious thing; everybody does it, though, men, women and children. Sometimes a whole family will tear medly across the track as though their existence depended upon getting over ahead of the train, and then all turn round and stare at the train as it shoots past. Now, it's the easiest thur in it shoots past. Now, it's the easiest thing in the world to get your foot caught between the ties or the loss boards on a crossing, and the majority of people killed by the cars are run over while attempting to cross the track ahead of a train. I can't begin to understand why people with any sense at all will continue to do this, but they do had with a melancholy shake of his head the engineer climbed into his cab, leaving the stroller to muse over the many follhardy things people do every day.—
